FURTHER BOOST IN PRICES, GOAL OF PRESIDENT

Roosevelt Is Silent on Methods.

Banks Fear U. S. Rule

The methods by which the federal government, acting through the R. F. C., seeks to get control of the nation's national banks are disclosed by Chicago bankers. Details on page 7.

Secretary Wallace, speaking in Chicago, warns agricultural interests that price fixing schemes will fail unless the farmers control production. Details on page 6.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Prices are scheduled for a further rise, all along the line.

This was the information percolating today from the White House, where President Roosevelt was recovering from his cold, seeing a few callers and meditating his next moves in the warfare on the depression.

According to this intelligence, the President is determined to get prices generally back approximately to their 1926 level, even if he is compelled to invoke inflation of the currency as a last resort. He is going to try other expedients first and he does not intend to proclaim any of them in advance. He intends to act first and talk about it afterward.

Careful to Say Nothing.

It was explained that if the President were to say he would inflate the currency the stock market would bound upward; there would be a flight from the dollar to securities and commodities. If he were to say that he would not inflate, the stock market would suffer another sinking spell. So he is being careful to say nothing one way or the other. At his press conference today he parried all questions on the subject.

The President said, however, he would receive the cotton planters' delegation probably tomorrow and listen to their plea for inflation of the currency sufficient to advance the price of the staple to 20 cents a pound and to do away with the cotton processing tax. Whether he will preserve his noncommittal attitude in the presence of this delegation remains to be seen.

Roosevelt Sees Professor.

Mr. Roosevelt had as his guest at luncheon Prof. George Frederick Warren of Cornell university, who originally captured the presidential indorsement of the commodity dollar and who has just returned from an economic reconnoissance of Europe on which he was dispatched by the White House. The professor is supposed to have been inquiring into many matters abroad, among them the attitude of European governments toward restoration of the gold standard with an all-around devaluation of monetary units.

The President, who is aiming at a further 50 per cent increase in the prices of wheat, cotton and other basic commodities, is more than ever convinced that the restoration of purchasing power, particularly to 30 million farmers, would spell the dissipation of the depression. To restore purchasing power the returns to producers must be increased. He is confident that a large measure, if not all, of the price increase aimed at will flow from the full operation of the agricultural adjustment and industrial recovery programs together with credit expansion manipulation and related expedients, short of outright inflation of the currency.

Pressure from Without.

At present the pressure for inflation of the currency is coming from without the administration. Within the administration the President is between two fires. On the one hand is the committee headed by Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, which has recommended stabilization of the dollar through central bank agreements pegging the currencies of the leading commercial nations. On the other hand are some of the members of the professoriat who are contending for further depreciation of the dollar as a means of increasing prices.

A plan being urged upon the President by the latter group proposes that the treasury embark upon the wholesale buying of gold. The price of gold fixed by the gold standard act, is $20.67 an ounce. The market price of newly mined gold, as established by the treasury, is now $32.24 an ounce.

TRADE EFFORTS POINT TO U. S. O. K. ON RUSSIA

[Copyright: 1933: By the Associated Press.]

New York, Sept. 20.—The United States, it was reliably indicated here tonight, will recognize the soviet union before congress convenes in January.

Although such de jure recognition is an administrative act, President Roosevelt was represented by a consultant on foreign affairs as wishing to dispose of this much controverted matter at a time when he was assured freedom of action without any outcry from a possible anti-soviet bloc in congress.

Decided for Some Time.

The President—who has made no public pronouncement of his intentions—was further represented in several usually well informed quarters as having decided on Russian recognition some time ago, but has awaited progress of domestic affairs.

Aside from the exchange of notes and ambassadors, recognition of the U. S. S. R. also undoubtedly would necessitate a decision on claims. The American claims roughly total $658,000,000. This is apportioned: Principal and interest of this government's Kerensky loan, $272,000,000; private czarist debts, $86,000,000; claims of American industries for the confiscation of property, $300,000,000. The Kremlin claims, a total on which has never been set, result from the Archangel and Vladivostok expeditions.

The Moscow government has insisted that settlement of claims must follow the establishment of normal diplomatic relations. Also involved, probably, would be government credit. American industries have sought for some time a government guarantee for soviet sales, similar to ones granted Russia by other major producing countries.

Morgenthau to Negotiate.

[Copyright: 1933: By the Associated Press.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the farm credit administration, has been designated by President Roosevelt to direct Russian trade negotiations whose vast scope is expected to have an important bearing on recognition of the soviet republic. This was taken by observers as a significant instance of President Roosevelt's interest in both trade and diplomatic questions involving Russia.

In official circles it was said Morgenthau had been chosen to supervise Russian trade proposals because a coordinator was needed to keep in touch with offers and suggestions going to the various departments from many sources.

An instance of his authority was seen today when officials who desired to discuss Russian credits with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation obtained the farm credit governor's approval before making the call on the other financial agency.

Such is the extent of the deals contemplated in present discussions that a large part of the farm administration's program to raise farm prices, particularly where cotton is concerned, may depend upon their successful conclusion.

Hope to Sell Cotton.

For several weeks Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and other officials have been dickering with the representatives of Amtorg, the official soviet commercial agency in New York, for a transaction by which Russia would buy 500,000 bales of cotton and other products.

Morgenthau has been informed of the progress made and it was known that the soviet would buy 1,000,000 bales of cotton and a vast quantity of other farm commodities, including butter and meat products, if satisfactory credits can be obtained. If agreeable terms can be arranged, Russia is looked upon as a market for 2,000,000 bales of cotton.

Another 5 Year Plan.

One of the things most needed by the soviet is heavy machinery and other industrial products to carry through the ambitious expansion visioned by the second five year plan. It was said authoritatively today that the machinery was wanted even more than the cotton. Proposals already made and those anticipated from Russian sources for the buying of industrial products will pass through Morgenthau's hands.

The final word on credits in deals contemplated now will rest with the Reconstruction Finance corporation, but Morgenthau henceforth is expected to be a dominant factor on virtually everything affecting Russia, with the exception, perhaps, of state department matters.

INFLATION

THEY PRINTED 200 MILLION YESTERDAY ON A SIX HOUR DAY
"MA, WHY DO THEY CALL IT A GUINEA PIG DOLLAR?"
"HEY, STOP THE PRESSES! THERE'S A MISTAKE, IT SHOULD BE 32 MILLION INSTEAD OF 39!"
"HEY, SEND A WIRE TO THE FOREST AN' TELL 'EM TO SPEED UP THEM SPRUCE TREES! USE FERTILIZER, IF NECESSARY!"
"ROLL UP YER SLEEVES, YOU CAN RUN FASTER."

and the printing presses are set to work turning out cheap money——

we hope it is not out of order to suggest some neat designs for this new money.

G. Studebaker Broke; Debts $2,500,000

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Virtually penniless and with no plans for the future, Col. George Milburn Studebaker of a pioneer Indiana manufacturing family sat in his sixty-four room house here today, a victim of the Insull Utilities collapse.

The sixty-eight year old man, whose fortune four or five years ago was estimated at $3,500,000, filed a bankruptcy plea in federal court today. He put his assets at less than $5,000 and his debts as approximately $2,500,000.

To Live in South Bend.

"I am getting along in years," he said when asked what he planned to do. That was as much as he would say, or as much as relatives who rallied around him had to disclose, other than that he would continue to live in South Bend.

Born to wealth as the son of one of the three Studebaker brothers who made fortunes out of wagon building and later in the manufacture of automobiles, Col. Studebaker personally increased his holdings as the years rolled by.

Col. Studebaker withdrew from the Studebaker corporation more than ten years ago to give all his time to his personal investments. He became interested in a watch company, a mail order house, a radio corporation, and finally public utilities. His fortune, it was said, grew with his investments.

Colonel of Volunteers.

Finally Col. Studebaker became heavily involved in the once powerful group of holdings of which Samuel Insull Sr. was the head. When those holdings collapsed and Insull fled to Greece the colonel's fortune dwindled rapidly until today he let it be known that he has no more money.

Studebaker was a colonel of the Third Indiana volunteers in the Spanish-American war. He had obtained a portion of his education in a military academy in Pennsylvania.

Police Fire on Thieves Dumping 1,000 Pound Safe

Two men surprised in the act of dumping a stolen safe weighing nearly 1,000 pounds from an automobile escaped in a shower of police bullets early today, although it is believed one of the men was wounded. Policemen Frank Corsi and Eugene Stain came upon the men in the alley in the rear of 836 Loomis street and opened fire when they fled. The safe was stolen in a burglary of the Lauterback Coal and Ice company, 4830 West 16th street, Cicero, on Sept. 15. It had contained $35 in cash, $5 in stamps, $150 in tax warrants, and a $125 check.

ROOSEVELT ORDERED TO HIS BED WHEN HE DEVELOPS LIGHT FEVER

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was again confined to his bed this evening by a recurrence of fever which developed after a day of receiving callers at the White House.

Although he still had a remnant of the cold from which he has been suffering for the last several days, the temperature which accompanied it had passed this morning and the President felt well enough to resume active work. He remained all day in the Oval room study at the White House, however, and did not go to his office in the executive wing.

This evening, it was reported, the day's exertion brought on a new excessive degree of temperature and the President was ordered to bed by Dr. Ross McIntyre, naval physician attached to the White House.

During the day the President held his regular biweekly conference with newspaper men, meeting the correspondents in his study instead of his office, as is usual.

Gang Saloon Bombed; Man, 3 Women Hurt

Three women and a man were injured, the latter severely, last night when a black powder bomb was tossed from a speeding automobile into the doorway of a beer tavern at 2145 West 51st street, owned by Jacob Geis, a friend of Joe Saltis.

The front of the two story brick building and the interior of the tavern were wrecked and windows shattered in nearby stores.

Light Globe Falls on Head.

John Stevens, 30 years old, 5345 South Trumbull avenue, a radio repairman, was severely cut by glass and flying debris. A heavy electric light globe was dislodged by the blast and fell on his head as he stood at the bar drinking beer. His wife, Agnes, 28 years old, who had been sitting at a table, was also lacerated, but not seriously.

Two pedestrians walking on the opposite side of 51st street, on their way home from evening church services, were injured. They are Mrs. Mary Rozives, 43 years old, 5028 South Talman avenue, cut on the face, and Mrs. Mary Kurila, 42, of the same address, cut on the left thigh.

New Flareup in Beer Warfare.

Geis, who has been involved in previous beer wars, is believed to have been the target of a new flareup. He was questioned by Capt. Thomas Kilroy of the New City police, but declared he knew of no reason for the attack, which occurred while he was tending bar in his saloon.

ATTERBURY CUTS OWN SALARY TO $60,000 PER YEAR

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The salary of W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, was reduced to $60,000 at his request, effective Sept. 1, in spite of objections of the board of directors at a meeting on Sept. 13.

The cut was in line with action of other railroad presidents at the suggestion of Federal Coördinator Joseph B. Eastman that the maximum salary be $60,000. Mr. Atterbury formerly received $109,000 against his 1929 rate of $150,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Independence hall, the "Cradle of Liberty," was picketed today by strikers. Members of the window cleaners' union marched back and forth before the nation's shrine after the employment of nonunion window cleaners.

Extra Guards for Urschel Kidnap Trial

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Determined government officials heard new gangland threats today. They answered by driving straight ahead with the prosecution of the dozen persons accused of the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping.

New guards were added to courtroom and corridor, more machine guns, sawed off shotguns, rifles, and pistols appeared at strategic points. Families of chief figures in the prosecution moved quietly out of town or were attended more carefully while in public.

"We can expect anything," said District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde. "Gangland is desperate."

Kidnaping Carefully Planned.

The youthful district attorney marshaled witnesses from various parts of the west and south to build higher his evidence that the Harvey Bailey-Albert Bates-George Kelly gang schemed for months before finally swooping at midnight July 22 on the unsuspecting Urschel family.

Urschel completed his testimony today. The expected cross fire from defense attorneys did not materialize. He was asked largely how he was able to identify his captors while blindfolded.

Urschel had taken the witness stand yesterday afternoon just after receiving an air mail letter signed by George Kelly, fugitive defendant, and posted in Chicago. The gangster-machine gunner threatened reprisals on Urschel and his family if he dared to relate the full story of what happened during the nine days and nights he was held a chained captive until payment of $200,000 ransom.

Prosecutor Sends Son Away.

District Attorney Hyde, whose 4 year old boy has been taken out of the city because of reports the child might be kidnaped, also was a recipient of threats from George Kelly or his wife, Kathryn Kelly.

Fingerprints placed as signature on the letter to Urschel were believed to be those of Kelly, but department agents planned to study them further before making a definite identification.

"I believe George Kelly is in town today," District Attorney Hyde declared. "It is my opinion that all these letters from Kelly were conceived right here in our jails, sent to Chicago for mailing to Oklahoma City, if not in our jails, then in our city."

Keenan said: "It may be a month, or it may be a year, but Kelly cannot escape the government forces."

Calls Bailey Coward.

Keenan referred to Kelly as a "brutal, boasting, moral derelict—just another rat who has had a lot of luck."

"Some call Harvey Bailey our 'public enemy No. 1,'" Keenan added, "I don't. In my opinion Bailey is cowardly—a man who has never hesitated to use a machine gun against an unarmed opponent, and never has seen fit to use one when opposed to people who are armed."

In today's court session the first two ransom notes sent by the kidnapers were read to the jury.

Ransom Notes Read.

"You undoubtedly know about my predicament," began the first, a letter from Urschel to John G. Catlett, an oil man friend from Tulsa who had been selected by Urschel to help negotiate the release.

"This is my final letter to any of my friends or family and if this contact is not successful I fear for my life," it read.

Swiftly the prosecution had witnesses trace ownership of a machine gun found beside Bailey when he was captured early in August on a Wise county, Tex., farm.

Telegrams were introduced to show

TROOPS BATTLE RIOTING MOBS IN SEVERAL CITIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 21 (Thursday, 3 a. m.).—Indications now are that the counter revolution to depose President Ramon Grau San Martin will not occur before daylight. The revolutionary forces still are waiting for a revolt to appear in the army. A late tour of the city revealed an armored truck at the front gate of the presidential palace. Police are mobilized in all stations, armed with rifles.

The military forces have been redoubled at approaches to the National hotel, wherein are barricaded army officers who refused to return to their commands. The enlisted men are armed with machine guns and light artillery and the roads are blocked off for half a mile on all sides of the hotel, with troops patrolling the streets. The National hotel itself is dark with the exception of two or three lighted windows.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 20.—Revolts and guerrilla warfare burst out in three new spots on this island today. They apparently are intended as a strategy to scatter the Cuban army preliminary to efforts of counter revolutionists to overthrow President Ramon Grau San Martin's government.

At Gibara and Antilla in Oriente province, at the eastern end of the island, and at Amarillas, in Matanzas province, armed revolts were reported in progress, while in Camaguey province the army was seeking to throw an iron circle around Col. Juan Blas Hernandez, king of Cuban bushwhackers.

Grau Sues for Peace.

Secretary of the Interior Antonio Guiteras announced this evening that the government had decided to send an emissary to meet Hernandez near Tamarindo, Camaguey, and to ask him "for Cuba's sake" to abandon his armed movement against the government. The Grau emissary was instructed to promise Hernandez that, if he surrenders, his life will be guaranteed and he will not be arrested nor tried.

The ABC revolutionary society tonight spread reports in Havana that the army may revolt against the Grau government early tomorrow morning at Cabanas fortress and at Camp Columbia. Col. Batista, head of the army, is at the latter camp directing the campaign against the rebels in the interior by long distance telephone.

Rumors were afloat that an uprising was started in Camp Columbia this evening and quelled. Residents near the camp reported that they had heard shooting in the camps. Col. Batista said reports of an uprising in the camp were "utterly false."

Double Guard at Palace.

The ABC is reported to have been in communication with 450 army officers and navy officers besieged at the National hotel by means of field glasses and blackboards. The ABC did their signaling from the roof of a building a block away. The officers have been besieged in the hotel for two weeks, ever since the army revolt overthrew the short lived government of former President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes.

Meanwhile, economic pressure was increased in Havana as syndicalists began visiting home owners with demands that they pay their domestic help doubled wages and give them an 8 hour day, while communists held their usual hate demonstration with banners inscribed "Down with Yankee sailors."

Students from time to time rushed through the streets shrieking "Viva Grau San Martin" and "Down with the politicians."

Order Troops Against Reds.

The commander of the military district of Oriente province received orders from Col. Batista that troops proceed at once against communists and labor strikers. Word from Santiago is that the orders are to clear communists and sugar laborers from the mills which are now in their hands and to restore the properties to the owners.

When soldiers arrived at the sugar central at Tacajo, near Antilla, which has been in the hands of a mob for a week, a delegation of strikers is reported to have met the soldiers and said that if they were molested the two mill managers, now prisoners, would be killed. One is an American, the other a Briton.

A dispatch received from THE TRIBUNE's correspondent at Santiago said the situation is extremely tense in Oriente province and that the sugar laborers, now syndicalized, are offering strong resistance, with threats to kill managers and their families now prisoners in the mills they have taken.

Continuous rioting was reported from Manzanillo late this evening. THE TRIBUNE correspondent wired that the army seems unable to control the mobs. Strikers are entering homes, sacking and robbing. Several business houses were reported looted today, while water and lights have been cut off in most of the city. The dispatch said sugar laborers and communists are running wild, defying the military.

Rioting and violence were reported at Guantanamo, where unruly groups this morning set fire to the railroad station. Lack of water hampered firemen and the station was destroyed. As it burned the crowds rioted. Shots were fired by both troops and civilians, but no deaths were reported.

In Santiago the army arrested eight disturbers in the face of a mob and jailed them. They were charged with provoking recent communist riots and plotting to overthrow the Grau government.

Three Slain in Fighting.

Later open street fighting occurred between soldiers and communist agitators. Three men were mortally wounded and many others were injured. The rioting attended a parade of 5,000 persons carrying red flags and banners reading, "Down with Grau San Martin" and "Down with Yankee Imperialism."

The paraders marched through the main streets shouting for the release of Rolando Soria, a communist agitator, who was arrested yesterday and sent to Havana.

Cavalry rushed to the scene proved unable to quell the riot and six truckloads of soldiers and five machine guns were ordered out. The soldiers ordered the demonstration dissolved, but were met with volleys of broken glass, stones and bricks. Machine guns were fired over the heads of the crowds while the cavalry attacked the communists with their machetes.

U. S. Warship Angers Mob.

Later communists swarmed through the streets screaming that Sergt. Hernandez Soler, who commanded the soldiers, would be executed.

In Camaguey mobs held a demonstration against the visit of the United States destroyer Sturtevant, which was at Nuevitas for a few hours making a survey of the north coast of Cuba. Leaders of the mob made the usual inflammatory speeches against intervention and "Yankee imperialism."

Against Hernandez there are three cavalry squadrons of 350 men each from Santa Clara, three squadrons from Camaguey, and four companies of infantry and a machine gun company from Havana.

Rebels Seek to Unite.

Col. Balan is operating near Gibara in northern Oriente. He is reported marching with 500 men toward Puerto Padre to meet another aggregation of revolutionists.

This is regarded as one of the most threatening outbreaks at the palace. Col. Balan is an experienced guerrilla chief. In the August, 1931, revolt against Machado he captured Gibara and held it three days. He later surrendered and was imprisoned, but eventually was released.

Hernandez is a squat, heavyset guerrilla fighter who has had a stormy career in recent years. An opponent of former President Machado, Hernandez with 100 followers rebelled against the Machado administration in August, 1931. Former President Mario G. Menocal, Col. Carlos Mendieta and others started that revolt, which was subsequently quelled. The rebels led by Hernandez, however, continued their bushwhacking in the hilly sections near Trinidad.

Two months later Hernandez' men began to set mills afire, destroy cane fields and sack towns and cities. Three colonels headed the forces sent to capture him and posters offering $10,000 for his capture dead or alive were put up by Machado. Five squadrons of cavalry of 350 men each were mobilized, but to no avail.

At length, in March, 1933, Machado ordered Maj. Arsenio Ortiz to take the field against Hernandez. Ortiz also failed to end the guerrilla warfare. Later Ortiz was recalled to Havana and deported to Germany for unnecessary violence in dealing with civilians.

NEW REVOLT SWEEPS CUBA

Cuba was in the grip of another armed revolt yesterday—the third since former President Machado was deposed and sent into exile on Aug. 12. Troops are being rushed into the interior from Havana to quell new uprisings, which are centered in Camaguey and Oriente provinces.

LET U. S. COLLECT ALL TAXES, PLEA OF PROF. LELAND

Cites Cities' Revenue Troubles.

Simeon E. Leland, state tax commissioner, who also is an economics professor at the University of Chicago, proposed yesterday that the collection of all tax revenues—including state, county, and municipal income—be centralized under federal control. His proposal, made at the convention of city managers at International house, University of Chicago campus, was offered as a solution of the financial difficulties of American cities.

"The city," said Prof. Leland, "fulfills very vital functions in the life of a citizen. The functions are even more important than those of the federal government if we disregard temporarily protection against foreign invasion. Yet the city's revenue system which must promulgate and expand these functions is extremely limited in scope.

"Difficult to Collect Taxes."

"In all times a metropolitan area's various taxing bodies find it difficult to collect even the comparatively small amount of taxes which they levy."

To remedy this difficulty, Prof. Leland said, the collection of revenue should be entrusted to the federal government. All tax revenues, from the federal down to sanitary district or school district revenues within counties, could be collected at the same time each year.

With this arrangement, he said, the federal tax collectors would set up a system under which the collections would be prorated and distributed to the smaller subdivisions of governing bodies immediately after their payment.

Tells Assessors' Troubles.

John A. Zangerle, auditor of Cuyahoga county, Ohio, which includes the city of Cleveland, outlined some of the difficulties which county assessors experience in placing values on property for taxation purposes.

"No matter how fast the assessor has reduced values," he said, "apparently he has not reduced commensurately with the fall in prices that would seem to be indicated by a few scattered sales, mostly stress or forced. Manifestly, the assessment of complainants' property cannot be reduced to the market conditions of the hour. If it should be, serious discrimination would be involved against those who had not complained, assuming a uniform system of assessment prevails."

Mr. Zangerle predicted that improving business conditions, rising costs of material and labor, which will be reflected in rising rents, and reduction of the interest rate on capital with an increase in investment money, would all operate to revive real estate values all over the United States.

U. S. REINFORCES RING OF WARSHIPS OFF CUBA TO GUARD AMERICANS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—Spreading trouble in the interior of Cuba tonight caused the navy to strengthen its cordon of ships near the affected points and brought advice from the state department for Americans to move closer to the vessels' protecting guns if endangered.

Upon the advice of United States consuls, some Americans were known to have moved within easier range of warships off the coast.

The ship movements ordered by the navy were interpreted by observers as indicating that conditions were considered more serious than at any previous time. Where eight warships were anchored at the Guantanamo naval base two days ago, only two remained tonight.

Two destroyers, the McFarland and Overton, were ordered to stand by off Antilla. The destroyer Bainbridge was directed to reinforce the Reuben James at Santiago, relieving the destroyer Taylor, which was ordered to Manzanillo. The destroyer Goff was dispatched to Cienfuegos to aid the Fairfax, while the destroyer Berdadou was sent to the Isle of Pines to reinforce the Cole. Two more vessels were at Puerto Padre and an equal number at Cardenas.

IDLE MUSICIANS GIVE CONCERTS IN THREE PARKS

Unemployed musicians of Chicago last evening gave the first of a series of free open air band concerts in Chicago parks. The concerts last evening were given at Lincoln park, Garfield park, and Jackson park. Although the evening was cool, audiences of several thousand turned out at each of the concerts. These concerts are the contribution of the Chicago Federation of Musicians to the city. It was explained by James Petrillo, president of the union and a west park commissioner, that the musicians were being paid union wages by the federation. The funds for the pay are taken out of the union reserves.

Spaniards Agitate Against U. S. in Behalf of Cuba

MADRID, Sept. 20.—(AP)—A Cuban revolutionary committee today issued a manifesto directed to the Spanish public, protesting "Yankee intervention in Cuba." The manifesto traced various alleged instances of American meddling, beginning with the Platt amendment. It said former President Machado was "an agent of Wall street." It further announced plans for a demonstration against the United States in the near future.

REDS ARE LINKED TO STRIKE MARCH OF 1,000 PUPILS

Seize Student Members of Communist Group.

Yesterday's strike of high school pupils, widely heralded by opponents of the school board's economy and reorganization program, simmered down to a walkout of a thousand pupils or fewer. The disturbances, Superintendent William J. Bogan announced, were confined to three west side high schools, Marshall, Manley, and Crane.

That communists had an active part in organizing the strike was disclosed by the arrest of five boys and a girl early yesterday by a police squad, which found a number of bundles of strike handbills in their possession. All six, it was said by Sergt. John Adair of the police radical squad, are members of the National Students' league, a communist organization.

The prisoners, arrested at Roosevelt road and Mozart street, are Mollie Scheimen, 17 years old, 1429 South Trumbull avenue; Sam Girshman, 17 years old, 1843 South Clifton Park avenue; Nathan Brown, 18 years old, 1610 North Irving avenue; Myer Pretula, 19 years old, 1217 North Washtenaw avenue; Morris Teitelbaum, 18 years old, 1219 South Karlov avenue, and Mandel Rottman, 17 years old, 4111 Grenshaw street. Pretula and Girshman were released on $25 bonds last night. They will be arraigned with the others in the Boys' court today on charges of disorderly conduct.

One Arrested Last Spring.

Brown, Pretula and Teitelbaum were formerly students at Crane college, closed as part of the economy program, and Pretula was arrested for causing disturbances at the school last spring, Sergt. Adair said. They will be arraigned in the Boys' court today, along with a number of other pupils arrested by the police as strike agitators.

Jack Light, 20 years old, 2305 Diversey parkway, head of the so-called "student committee on education," which organized the strike, also was arrested. He was arrested in a student parade which started at Marshall High school, Kedzie and Fifth avenues, and marched to Manley and Crane high schools before police dispersed the participants.

Others arrested were Harry Hankin, 20 years old, 2141 Evergreen avenue; Lawrence Singer, 21 years old, 1427 South Harding avenue, and Lewis Spear, 17 years old, 922 West 71st street, who was seized while distributing strike handbills at Englewood High school.

Arthur McGinnis and Frank Schneberger, assistant school attorneys, were instructed to appear in court today and assist in the prosecution of the strike agitators. The statutes provide a fine of $100 for disturbing school sessions and also prescribe penalties for parents who allow their children to evade school attendance.

Start at Marshall School.

Yesterday's disturbances started at Marshall High school, where some 400 or 500 pupils gathered outside the school at opening time. They restrained a number of children who were trying to enter to attend their classes, and later marched to Manley High school.

There they were joined by a larger number of children. T. J. Crofts, principal of the school, explained, however, that these children had been dismissed. They were members of the freshman class, transferred to Manley from other high schools.

The influx of these students was too great for available teachers to register, and accordingly the whole freshmen class, about 1,000, was dismissed early in the day. Principal Crofts denied that any of his students, aside from those who were regularly dismissed, joined the strike parade.

From Manley High school the parade moved to Crane High school at 2245 Jackson boulevard, where it was joined by about 250 Crane students. Supt. Bogan said. There police broke up the demonstration. W. L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, praised the police for the manner in which they handled the demonstration.

"The police used cool judgment," said Mr. Bodine. "There was no violence and no one was hurt."

Supt. Bogan's assistants were instructed to investigate reports that the disturbance at Marshall High school had resulted from apparent laxness of some of the teachers in curbing strike propaganda. According to the report which he received, teachers had made no effort to prevent the writing of strike calls on school blackboards. On Tuesday, he was told, groups of strike agitators went about the school. While one of them asked the teacher to step into the hall the others went into classrooms and urged pupils to strike.

The total enrollment in the schools rose yesterday to 478,439, of whom 343,347 pupils were enrolled in elementary schools, 117,728 in high schools, 15,000 [adults] in night schools, 1,810 in Chicago Normal college, and 554 at Washburne Continuation school for working children.

MEDAL FOR PUNCHING HUEY LONG GIVEN TO NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

New York, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The gold medal commemorating that Long Island night club washroom incident from which self-styled "Kingfish" Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana emerged with a discolored eye, was presented formally to the American Numismatic society today.

The medal will rest in a case adjoining that containing the emblem presented by congress to the three captors of Maj. André in 1780. Owen P. White, author-plainsman, handed it to Edward T. Newell, president of the Numismatic society.

White started the movement which raised $1,000 by subscription to cast the medal, designed by George De Zayas, and bearing on one side the inscription:

"By public acclaim for a deed done in private—Sands Point, Aug. 26, 1933."

CIVIL SERVICE BLOW AT KELLY HELD BASELESS

State's Attorney Courtney yesterday dismissed as without foundation a complaint that a south park board contract covering parking space for the World's Fair constituted a violation of the civil service law.

He made public an exhaustive report prepared by an assistant, William J. Touhy, and prepared by his first assistant, Judge Elect Grover C. Niemeyer, which held that the contract was entirely outside the civil service law and that therefore the law had not been violated.

"The report," said Courtney, "expresses the opinion of the state's attorney's office based on the law and facts in the matter. There is no foundation for the complaint."

One of Newspaper Attacks.

The charge that the contract—one made with W. C. Kominski for two parking areas at the southern end of the Fair grounds—was a violation of law was one of a series of newspaper attacks upon Mayor Edward J. Kelly, this time based on the fact that he is president of the south park board.

The complainant in this case was disclosed by the report as Edward G. Woods, 715 Hearst square, Hearst attorney in Chicago, who filed his charges on Sept. 11.

Assistant State's Attorney Touhy took ten legal size typewritten pages to tell the entire story of the challenged transaction and his analysis of the law. The story started with Kominski's application for the park land covered by the contract, the approval of the application and the letting of the contract with all its terms. A condensed statement of those terms also appeared in the statement of the conclusion reached.

Employment Out of Board's Control.

But before reaching that point the opinion analyzed the legal phases of the relationships between employer and employé, between master and servant.

"In the present instance," it proceeded, "Kominski graded and prepared the ground in his own discretion subject only to the general supervisory powers reserved to the board.

"The operation of the business was entirely in Kominski's hands except that he was forbidden to charge a higher rate than $1. The park board had no control over the manner and method adopted by him. The park board could not eject the servant without due process of law. Kominski had the right to employ such agents and assistants as he chose. The park board had no right to dictate to him or interfere with him in the selection of his employés. They had no supervision over the wages to be paid."

The conclusion was that Kominski was not an employé of the board, that the board was not required to select him from its civil service lists and that the contract was not a violation of the civil service laws.

3 GUNMEN HOLD UP FAMILY IN HOME; GET $605 HIDDEN IN CHEST

William Tanner, 52 years old, 7340 South Wood street, an engineer for the Commonwealth Edison company, was robbed of $605 last night when three gunmen, masked with handkerchiefs, invaded his home and forced him to tell where the money was hid. It was in a cedar chest. The robbers locked Tanner's wife, a visiting friend, Mrs. Ada Orr, 6506 Loomis street, and her two small children in the bathroom while they threatened Tanner.

UNIFIED TRANSIT PLAN PROMISED COURT BY NOV. 1

Judge Wilkerson Hears from Receivers.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson was assured yesterday that a modified plan of transit reorganization will be worked out by Nov. 1 which will be acceptable to every interest involved in the formation of a new corporation that would operate all the city's transportation facilities.

This assurance was given by the receivers of the surface lines and the elevated lines who met Judge Wilkerson at a conference in his chambers. The receivers declared that there are no insurmountable obstacles in the way of a speedy settlement. A new development in the situation, it was said, will expedite an agreement among the various protective bondholders' committees as to the allocation of securities in a new transit company.

That development was the announcement that more than enough of the elevated lines' securities essential to any reorganization plan have been deposited with the bondholders' committee, of which D. F. Kelly, president of The Fair store, is chairman.

As a result of the confident attitude of the receivers, who are the court's officers, Judge Wilkerson said that on Monday he will confer with the committee which he appointed ten weeks ago to hasten a reorganization agreement among the security holders.

This committee and the various protective committees are charged with the responsibility of reaching an accord on any plan devised. The receivers, guided by their attorneys, merely operate the properties while they are in receivership, it was pointed out. Judge Wilkerson's committee consists of Mr. Kelly, Melvin A. Traylor, and A. W. Harris, each of whom is chairman of a bondholders' committee.

Four Receivers at Conference.

Present at the conference with Judge Wilkerson yesterday were Guy A. Richardson and Edward N. Hurley, receivers for the surface lines, with their attorneys, Weymouth Kirkland and Harry P. Weber, and Britton I. Budd and Col. A. A. Sprague, receivers for the elevated lines, with their attorney, Cyrus H. Adams.

The conference was called after the elevated company receivers had met with Judge Wilkerson. After the first conference Col. Sprague said that the matter of establishing a transfer system between the surface and elevated lines was a minor palliative and that the companies were more interested in clearing up the receivership.

The demand for immediate institution of a universal transfer system was a part of the general demand made by Mayor Kelly last Sunday that the transit companies "quit stalling" on the reorganization. It was indicated at yesterday's conferences that the movement started by the mayor and Ald. James B. Bowler, chairman of the city council's local transportation committee, had spurred the transit officials to action.

Elevated Bonds Deposited.

D. F. Kelly made the announcement that more than enough of the elevated lines' securities essential to reorganization negotiations have been deposited with his committee. He said that $24,000,000 worth of the seven bond issues of the lines have been deposited. All the bonds of the seven issues total $47,659,700 in face value.

Mr. Kelly said that the number of deposits of some issues was double the amount necessary under the receivership provisions to give the committee authority to act.

Of the securities involved two are issues of the Chicago Rapid Transit company, two of the Metropolitan company, and one each of the Northwestern Elevated, Union Consolidated, and Union Elevated.

Reports of Disagreement.

The receivers' assurance to Judge Wilkerson that a reorganization plan will be worked out by Nov. 1 caused some speculation among observers, who pointed out that little had been done recently to bring the diverse transit financial interests into harmony.

The committee of three appointed by Judge Wilkerson ten weeks ago to press for progress has not met in several weeks, it was said. The committee did not make a scheduled report to the judge on Monday and it was rumored that the members had been unable to agree.

Yesterday Mr. Kelly declared that he has been prepared to attend any meetings with the other two committee members but that no meetings have been called. The meetings were subject to the call of Mr. Harris, chairman of the board of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, it was declared. The third member, Mr. Traylor, president of the First National bank, has been out of the city for several days.

"There couldn't be any disagreement among us if we didn't even have the opportunity to disagree," said Mr. Kelly. "The committee didn't meet for several weeks because no meetings were called. Why, I don't know. I have been ready at all times."

FRENCH DODGE TAXES; RUSH TO GET IN LOTTERY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 20.—The French government's scheme to get citizens into the taxpayers' office by selling them lottery tickets surpassed the most optimistic expectations when the first issue of tickets was put on sale today.

A large part of the tickets were reserved in advance and in order to get a chance at those remaining, Parisians lined up in great crowds early this morning before tax bureaus, banks, tobacco shops and every place where the paste boards were sold.

In view of the success of the first lottery it was decided to hold drawings for the 5,000,000 franc prize [about $300,000 at current exchange] and numerous consolations within two weeks, and then get a second lottery under way almost immediately. Thus, to some degree, officials see a solution to the budgetary crisis caused by the average citizen's unwillingness to pay taxes.

Disarm Cop, Terrorize 14 in Drug Store Holdup

Policeman John Norton of the Fillmore street station and 14 other customers in a drug store at 5575 West Van Euren street last night were forced by five robbers armed with a sawed off shotgun and revolvers to lie on the floor while the cash register was being robbed of $50. The gunmen also took the policeman's gun and two revolvers they found in a drawer. In another robbery four young bandits carrying shotguns and revolvers invaded the Bermele drug store, 4224 Fullerton avenue, and took $190 from the cash register, a $60 watch from Herman Rummele, a clerk, and old coins valued at $4 from the manager, Lawrence Dry.

Former Rich N. Y. Broker Ends Life at Sister's Home

Edward Jewell, 58 years old, formerly a wealthy New York broker and partner in an investment securities concern, hanged himself yesterday in a garage at the rear of the home of his sister, Mrs. Edith Saunders, at 8349 Luella avenue. Jewell and his wife came here from New York a month ago. At the Saunders home friends said Jewell had formerly been wealthy but had met with stock market losses.

Subway, L and Bus Lines Employes Threaten Strike

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The threat of a strike on subway, elevated, surface, and bus lines in New York City loomed today. The American Federation of Labor, through its affiliate in the street transportation industry, moved to invoke the aid of the NRA to force unionization of more than 30,000 workers.

PAY AS YOU GO RULE PUTS CITIES IN TIGHT SPOT

One Town Forced to Free Eight from Jail.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 20.—(AP)—This state's Supreme court decision that all municipalities must pay their old debts before they can spend for current needs has created a problem which is keeping city and county officials awake nights.

A number of municipalities find themselves in the position of the man who owes money, has money, but cannot spend on himself until he pays the bill collector at the door.

And it's not that he doesn't want to pay the other fellow, but rather that if he does pay he won't have anything left for himself.

Text of Ruling.

The Supreme court decision, handed down yesterday, is just this:

Regardless of constitutional limits on levies, old obligations must be paid and those payments must be made from restricted levies before any money is used for current expenses.

Morgantown was the first municipality to feel the brunt of the decision. The council announced it would have to suspend police and fire protection, street lighting, and other functions such as garbage and sewage disposal, but the police and firemen came to the rescue by agreeing to remain on their jobs until midnight Thursday without any assurance of pay.

Refuse to Turn Off Lights.

The company furnishing the lights also aided by refusing to turn off its power. Eight prisoners were released from the city jail because, officials said, there was no food for them.

Education officials at the state house said they feared school terms would have to be cut from nine to seven months—or less.

Officials said they saw three methods of solving the problems. One is an act permitting municipalities to make direct charges on residents. The others have to do with raising additional revenue, either by a special session of the legislature to lay indirect taxes or by a vote in individual districts authorizing added levies.

ORE SHIP SAVES 2 WOMEN, 3 MEN ON LAKE CRUISER

Two women and three men, passengers on the disabled motor cruiser Carolina, were rescued fifteen miles out in the lake yesterday morning by the ore freighter, William A. Paine. They had been drifting all through Tuesday night.

J. G. Powell, 5050 Sheridan road, owner of the Carolina, a 28 foot boat, said the party had left Belmont harbor Tuesday evening, planning to make a trip to the vicinity of the World's Fair ground. They were about three miles out when motor trouble developed and the craft was driven out by west winds. Flares were sent up and the watch on the ore boat saw one of these.

Those aboard with the owner were his wife, a Miss Christman, L. Schroeder and Charles Bell. The two men gave the address 423 Plymouth court, Coast guards, notified by radio from the William A. Paine, took the party off when they neared the South Chicago station of the guard.

$1,000 Violin Is Stolen from Boy Musician

Robert Jacques, 16 years old, a violinist, reported to the police last night that his violin, on which he set a value of $1,000, had been stolen. Some one picked up the instrument in the lobby of the Mozart hotel, 102 East Chestnut street, which is his home, the young musician said. He described the violin as having been made by Mathias Thie in 1734.

Nudist Cult Leaders to Face Hearing in Michigan Today

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Allegan, Mich., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—A tiny dusty office one flight up, presided over by Justice of the Peace Fidus E. Fish in his ancient swivel chair, will be the setting tomorrow morning for the preliminary examination of Fred Ring, Kalamazoo dancing master, and his wife, nudist cult leaders, on a charge of indecent exposure.

From March until the now celebrated raid of Labor day, Mr. and Mrs. Ring shepherded their flock in the comparative seclusion of a stretch of Michigan forest a few miles west of Allegan. There the believers, about 40 of them each week-end, many of whom came from Chicago, led the outdoor life strictly in the nude.

Since the raid, which was led by Mrs. Mary Angier, 60 year old resident of a neighboring farm and former Chicago and Wheaton resident, no white or sun tanned figures have flitted through the woods thereabout. The nudist camp is deserted.

Plans Finish Fight.

But Mr. Ring, who weighs about 110 pounds in the nude, is a fighter, and he has a principle at stake, he says. He will be defended before Justice of the Peace Fish by Clare E. Hoffman of Allegan, widely known lawyer hereabout. Aiding in his defense will be Kenneth K. Krippene of Chicago, attorney representing the International Nudist conference.

Defending the public's morals will be Prosecutor Welbourne S. Luna, who with Sheriff Fred Miller, Game Warden Harry Plotts, and some deputies disguised as fishermen, climbed a hill with Mrs. Angier and raided the nudists as they frolicked about playing handball.

This is the first time in the history of the Michigan courts that a similar case has been on trial, and the state Supreme court has never handed down a decision involving a similar set of facts in connection with the law, enacted in 1857, which states that:

"Any man or woman, married or not being married, who shall designedly make any open or indecent or obscene exposure of his or her person, or of the person of another, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year or by fine of not more than $500."

May Go to Supreme Court.

If Justice of the Peace Fish finds probable cause for the charge against the Rings he will hold them to the Circuit court. The case will be carried to the Supreme court if necessary to prove the innocence of the Rings, according to their attorneys.

Meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. Ring are appearing three times a day, not in the nude but in formal evening clothes, on the stage of the Fuller theater in Kalamazoo.

When a reporter visited the theater last night a long line was waiting to gain entrance. Backstage Mrs. Ring explained that "Daddy," as she calls Mr. Ring, was on the stage beginning his act, and she was busy waiting for her cue. Daddy began, but not until after a prolonged titter from the audience had subsided.

"Daddy" is a solemn looking little man. As he spoke of nudism, "which is not a religion but a form of physical culture," his eyes behind their horn rimmed glasses shone with apparent zeal and the slightly nasal voice issuing from his thin lips took on an earnest tone. "I'll tell you, folks," he said, "there's only one way to really understand what nudism is, and that's to become one."

Disturbed by Giggling.

More giggling from the audience was heard.

Later, interviewed at a hotel, Mr. Ring ran his hand through his graying fluffy hair. He was hurt, he said, about that disturbance, which had not been expected.

"Nudism has its health side," said Ring, "and it has its moral side. What is one of the biggest hazards of civilized society? It's curiosity, that's what it is. A man could concentrate on his business more, he could advance himself more, if his thoughts weren't always on women. It's clothing that does it. Remove it and you remove that curiosity. When a man sees his wife and a lot of other women running around in the nude he ceases to wonder how they'd look. He can forget about it and put his thoughts on more profitable matters."

Asked if among his flock many had shown incurable shyness, he said:

"Some, at first, but there was only one case where a woman just couldn't go through with it. Her husband was able to, but she just couldn't take off her clothes, she said. But the next week-end she was back, and did.

"Then there was one other woman, but she was quite infirm. Her husband, who had a long white beard, had no difficulty at all, but she couldn't go further than a bathing suit."

State's Star Witness.

One of the state's star witnesses will be Mrs. Angier. She was visited today by reporters. Entering her yellow farm house from the road, they knocked at the back door, dodging a pair of large pink bloomers hanging on the line.

Mrs. Angier, wearing a sweater, a pair of black plaited bloomers, and white cotton stockings, came to the door. Resting on a couch in her parlor with a blanket covering her from the waist down she later said she was resting in preparation for her appearance in court.

"I only went along on the raid to do my duty to the community," she said. "I always have done a great deal of welfare work in my 40 years residence in and around Chicago. When we moved to Wheaton, my late husband, who was an engineer, told me he hoped I wouldn't try to run the town," she laughed, "but I was busy there, too, helping where I could."

She was the first one over the hill in the raid, she said. "O, it was terrible," she said. "what I saw. Men and women with nothing on, absolutely nothing."

"It couldn't be that they had on flesh colored tights?" she was asked.

"I haven't lived 60 years for nothing," she replied indignantly.

"I say they had on nothing at all. I saw them from all sides and I certainly was able to tell. And right next to my property, too, why it makes me shudder to think of it."

CROWDS IMPEDE HOOVER'S TOUR OF FAIR EXHIBITS

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Herbert Hoover visited A Century of Progress Exposition yesterday under all the difficulties [and perhaps pleasure] of being the only living former President of the United States. His every move was trailed by a large and admiring throng and his day was one impromptu reception after another. He seemed to enjoy it and said at the close of his tour of the Hall of Science:

"The exhibitions are highly interesting. It is a great advance in the art of visible presentation of complex phenomena. There has never been anything as good in this line before."

He expects to return today to see the Social Science hall and the building exhibits and has some hope that he will be permitted to do so without a gallery. It has been suggested that he put on false whiskers.

Talk of Possible Comeback.

Some saw a political and social significance in the reception accorded the former President. To these observers he represents the old order, something familiar and solid in a complex and bewildering world of change, and apprehension changes to a sense of security. It might mark the beginning, it was suggested, of a political reaction, without direction or pilot now.

Most of the attention accorded Mr. and Mrs. Hoover was just friendly curiosity. The great American people, come to see the Chicago Fair, were having an extra thrill.

"There he is—that fellow in the gray hat."

"Who is it?"

"Where is Mrs. Hoover?"

Then the girls had to be lifted up so they could see what kind of a hat Mrs. Hoover wore. One girl wanted to know who Hoover was.

5,000 View Salute Ceremony.

The army and Exposition officials saw to it that a brilliant and formal reception was given to those most distinguished visitors who have entered the Fair gates. The sound of the 21 gun salute, given to Presidents and former Presidents, announced their entrance at the 14th street gate at 11 o'clock. A crowd of 5,000 had gathered here and cheered the Hoovers as soon as they walked down in front of the troops. It made a gay and sparkling sight, with the wind whipping the banners and the music setting the gay temper of the moment.

Mr. Hoover was accompanied by Lawrence Richey, his former secretary; his hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Arch W. Shaw of Winnetka, and Mrs. John S. Shaw, their daughter-in-law. They were met at the gates by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, heading the troops from Camp John Whistler; Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Exposition, and Mrs. Dawes; Charles Gates Dawes, former Vice President, and Mrs. Dawes; United States Commissioner Harry S. New and Mrs. New; Maj. Lenox R. Lohr and Mrs. Lohr, and a group of Exposition officials ready to escort them through the grounds.

Visit Three State Exhibits.

After a brief reception in the Administration building, where Mr. and Mrs. Hoover signed the "golden book" of guests, a lagoon trip was begun. The crowd blocked the front entrance to the building and exit was made through a rear door. The first stop was at the Federal building where Mr. Hoover visited the Iowa, Ohio, and Oregon exhibits, and also the Alaska cabin, where he talked with "Slim" Williams, who drove here from Alaska with a dog team.

On the way across to the trustees' lounge in the Hall of Science Mr. Hoover wanted to know if there were any fish in this man made lagoon. He has fished in many waters and plans to go on a trout expedition in the wilds of northern California next month. He has caught sailfish weighing 70 pounds, but finds his greatest pleasure in following the streams with rod and fly.

"There is something there that goes along with the fishing," he said. There he can be alone.

Hectic Tour of Hall of Science.

After luncheon in the lounge, given by Mr. Dawes and attended by sixteen, a tour of the Hall of Science was begun. It was a hectic affair, for every time Mr. Hoover stopped to look at anything the crowd surrounded him and almost crushed him. They applauded him whenever he appeared in a hall. The great hall of the building was nearly filled and when he appeared on the balcony a cheer went up to him.

Maj. Chester L. Fordney was his guide in the mathematics section, Dr. Carey Croneis of the University of Chicago showed him the geology section, and Dr. Irving Muskat showed him the chemistry exhibits. Dr. George Roemmert explained the micro-organisms. The voices of the lecturers were drowned in the murmur of the pressing crowd. Exposition guards formed flying wedges and cordons to protect the Hoover party.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

More than 6,000 employés of the Nash Motors company at Kenosha will visit the Fair on Saturday. Headquarters for the Kenosha contingent will be established at the Nash tower in the travel and transport area.

Hoover day was observed yesterday at the Pantheon de la Guerre, the world war panorama at the Fair, in celebration of the visit of the former President and Mrs. Hoover to the Exposition. A special ceremony was conducted at the Pantheon, centering at that portion of the painting which depicts Mr. Hoover, then in charge of Belgian relief.

Chrysler motors yesterday announced that a check by a national advertising agency, working in conjunction with the Fair, shows that 58 per cent of the Fair visitors enter the Chrysler exhibit and visit the proving grounds.

D. H. Moody, 73 years old, a merchant of Beulah, Mich., yesterday visited the Fair and recalled old times. In 1893 Moody, then an engineer of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, drove the old camel back locomotive to the Fair. Shortly afterward he became color blind and left the railroad service. When he heard that the old engine was on display at the Travel and Transport building he wrote the director, Robert Van Zandt, and plans were completed for his visit to the Fair.

The Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, bringing more than a thousand delegates, will assemble in the trustees' lounge in the Hall of Science for luncheon at 12:30 p. m. A program of speeches, including addresses by Mrs. Roy F. Hadley, vice president of the federation, and Mrs. William Franklin Farrell, president of Illinois' club women, will be followed by a tour of the exhibits.

The largest spoons in the world are on exhibit in the Philippine islands exhibit in the Travel and Transport building. They are called medicine spoons and are carved from the hardwood called narra. Each spoon is three feet tall. The spoons are used in a ceremony exorcising evil spirits.

Evelyn Krueger, 18 years old, chosen as beauty queen of Almira, Wash., arrived at the Fair yesterday as an ambassador of good will. She was received by President Rufus C. Dawes and later toured the grounds. A delegation of state leaders, accompanied by Lieut. Gov. Victor A. Meyers, arrived also to participate in Washington State day at the Fair on Friday.

Blind musicians of Chicago, under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Curtis, will present a program of choral music this afternoon in the Illinois Host house at the Fair. The blind chorus was organized three years ago under the auspices of the Blind Service association of Chicago. Every number presented is learned from Braille.

Whitworth college, a junior college at Brookhaven, Miss., is represented at the Fair this week by a group of sixty-five girls who are making a five day tour of the Exposition. The group, chaperoned by Dr. G. F. Winfield, president of the school, and a group of faculty members, will present a pageant in the Court of States Saturday, Mississippi day. A pageant, detailing the history of the school from the days of bustles and hoop skirts 115 years ago, will be the high light of the program.

An International Baby Doll parade will be staged at the Fair today, starting at 10 a. m. on the board walk of the north lagoon. Girls under 7 years old may enter the competition for prizes ranging from $1,000 for first place, $500 for second place, and $200 for third place down to eighty-five prizes of $5 each.

The Sky Ride shut down for several hours yesterday afternoon because the wind made the so-called rocket cars sway so that visitors were afraid to ride in them. Later when the breeze subsided operation was resumed.

MORE THAN HALF DOWNERS GROVE COMES TO FAIR

Home Town Folk Cheer Champion Band.

Downers Grove, a Du Page county suburb with a population of 8,977, celebrated its own centennial a year ago. Yesterday more than 50 per cent of the population of the town came to Chicago to help this city observe its centennial at A Century of Progress Exposition.

Opening in the afternon with a parade from the Court of Honor and down the Avenue of Flags, most of the program was presented in the court of the Hall of Science. In the afternoon music held sway. The Downers Grove High school band, state champions, garbed in snappy uniforms of purple and white, played marches, anthems and school songs while 5,000 Downers Grove folks, proud of their home town, sang and waved banners of the same rich colors.

Older Folk Give Program.

In the evening the youths moved to the Chrysler building and the General Motors building for concerts while the older residents of the town presented a program in the Science court.

"Downers Grove is proud to cooperate with Chicago in this great Exposition, in which we feel we have a part," said Mayor Walter C. Barber. "As you know, we celebrated our centennial last year. Downers Grove is a community of homes and schools. It has been a home community since Pierce Downer first settled there a hundred years ago. We invite all of Chicago to visit us, see our homes, play in the Morton arboretum and, in general, enjoy our hospitality."

Choral Groups Sing.

Other speakers included Charles Thurman, director of the safety department of the Fair, who represented President Dawes, and Lottie Holman O'Neill, first woman legislator in Illinois. The program, under the direction of Mrs. H. S. Paine, included songs by the a capella choir, the American Legion auxiliary trio, and the Downers Grove Men's Glee club. More than 8,000 persons listened to the program.

Frank B. Kellogg Visits City; Misses Seeing Hoover

Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, former secretary of state who served with ex-President Hoover in the Coolidge cabinet, spent a few hours in Chicago yesterday on business. He attended a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce as a guest of Silas H. Strawn. He said he had been unaware that Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were in town visiting A Century of Progress and added that he did not plan to visit the former President.

3-1 REPEAL VOTE IN NEW MEXICO; IDAHO WET 5-4

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—A count of ballots today placed New Mexico in the repeal column by virtue of a three to one vote to eliminate the dry law. The state also voted to abolish the bone dry state law which has been in force for fifteen years.

Only two of the 27 counties in New Mexico—Curry and Roosevelt—voted to retain the prohibition law. The count showed 37,266 for repeal and 11,201 against in 363 precincts of the 785 in the state. The unreported precincts represented less than 20 per cent of the expected vote.

Closer In Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—With nine-tenths of the expected vote tabulated today Idaho had voted to abolish prohibition by approximately 5 to 4. A count of 608 of the 819 precincts in the state showed 52,800 votes for repeal and 38,779 against repeal.

The 21 delegates elected will meet here Oct. 17 to record Idaho's ratification of the 21st amendment.

EXHIBIT NOTED MINNESOTANS AT FAIR TODAY

Paul Bunyan and Blue Ox Also to Parade.

Tuesday, Sept. 19, 1933, 101,047.
Tuesday, Sept. 19, 1893, 174,905.
Total including Sept. 19, 1933 [116 days], 15,823,130.
Total including Sept. 19, 1893 [142 days], 12,849,513.
The Columbian Exposition opened May 1; A Century of Progress opened May 27.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Other states may display samples of their scenery, of their farm products, of the minerals from their mines, but Minnesota will present a famous daughter and a half a dozen noted sons as the principal exhibit of the state's day at A Century of Progress Exposition today.

Seated in automobiles in the Minnesota day parade led by Gov. Floyd B. Olson, will be Dr. Charles H. Mayo, noted surgeon of Rochester; Tommy Gibbons, former light heavyweight pugilistic champion; Margaret Culkin Banning, writer; Brig. Gen. David L. Stone, commander of Fort Snelling; Henry Peterson, attorney general of the state; O. J. Johnson, president of Gustavus Adolphus college, and the mayors of the three largest cities of Minnesota—W. A. Mahoney of St. Paul, A. G. Bainbridge of Minneapolis, and S. F. Snively of Duluth.

Paul Bunyan to Parade, Too.

But the sons and daughters of Minnesota will not have the parade all to themselves. Paul Bunyan, the folk tale hero of the northwestern lumber camps, and Babe, his blue ox, will be there, too. Paul will be impersonated by a giant, and an ox of suitable size has been obtained to represent Babe. The Minnesota Feld Artillery band and the Black Horse troop also will march.

The parade will be preceded by a salute of 19 guns for Gov. Olson, to be fired at the 14th street entrance at 11:55 o'clock, and a review of troops from Camp John Whistler at the Fair.

With the troops and Gov. Olson in the lead the parade will move down the Avenue of Flags to the Pabst Blue Ribbon casino, where there will be a luncheon for the Minnesota notables.

Forest Park Program in Evening.

Gov. Olson, President Rufus C. Dawes of the Fair, and several of the Minnesota notables will speak at a program in the Court of States at 2:30 o'clock. A reception, a visit to the Minnescta exhibit, and a show presenting the queen of the Arrowhead region of Minnesota will conclude the festivities.

Residents of Forest Park, observing their day at the Fair, will parade from the Court of Honor to the court of the Hall of Science at 7:30 o'clock. The suburb's queen, Miss Florence Bloom, 18 years old, will be presented in a program immediately following in the Science court. There also will be music and speeches.

Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, who nominated Alfred E. Smith for President at the Democratic national convention of 1932, will address the Commercial Travelers' association in the court of the Travel and Transport building at 2:30 o'clock.

Only 41 More Days Remain in Which to See the Fair.

Hotel Men Urge High Liquor Licenses and Sale Over Bar

Representatives of hotel owners, tavern owners, and a whisky distributing company were heard last night by the state liquor control commission as it resumed its Chicago hearings in the county building. The commission is to recommend liquor laws to be adopted by the legislature in view of impending prohibition repeal.

Walter L. Gregory, president of the Palmer house, and Ernest Byfield, president of the Hotel Sherman, spoke for the Chicago Hotel association. They presented a report recommending a high retail license and fairly high taxes along with sale of liquor across the bar.

Mr. Gregory advised against hasty adoption of laws, pointing out that there exists a new attitude toward liquor as a result of the prohibition era. This attitude should be carefully sounded out and considered, he said.

Says Bar Can't Be Abolished.

"You will never succeed in abolishing the bar, regardless of what laws you pass," Mr. Gregory told the members of the commission. "If public consumption is forbidden there will be private drinking with pathological effects comparable to those of dope addiction.

"There will be from 10,000 to 15,000 speakeasies in this area paying no tax, recognizing no supervision, and serving as headquarters for the most highly organized crime of all time if the quantity sale and transportation of liquor is legalized but its lawful sale across the bar prohibited.

"The complete public bar, properly regulated, will invite no more criticism than today's beer dispensaries.

"If there is a fairly high tax, a state license fee of $1,000, and a city license fee of $1,500, there will be less drinking of hard liquor than under the package sale system."

Attorney Thomas J. Howe, appearing before the commission in behalf of the 1,000 members of the Cook County Retail Fermented Liquor Dealers' association, joined in the plea for sale of liquor for consumption on the premises, but warned against too high license fees for tavern owners.

The tavern owners in most cases, he said, have made their investment in fixtures and property in anticipation of being permitted to sell liquor legally. Laws prohibiting the sale of liquor with beer would drive tavern keepers out of business or "back into the dark era of the last 14 years and put them at the mercy of the bootlegger," he declared.

Attorney Howe termed a license fee of $2,500 a "hardship," but voiced no objection to a fee of $1,000 or $1,500 when questioned by a member of the commission.

Advocates a License Board.

The president of the Old Rose Distilling company, Maurice L. Ross, told the commission that he favored the package sale of liquor, the method principally used by his company in a chain of stores before prohibition. Mr. Ross, who said his concern never operated a distillery, asserted that state control should be "simple and strict."

He advocated a nonpartisan board of control, whose members should have no other public functions. The board would have the power of license and there would be no appeal from its decisions to the courts except on strictly constitutional grounds.

Dr. Max Henius, president of the Wahl-Henius institute, gave the commission his previously published views recommending graduated taxes and license fees, scaled according to the alcoholic content of the beverages sold.

State Senator Harold G. Ward, chairman of the commission, emphasized that the hearings are public and that spokesmen for all reputable groups will be heard.

QUESTION YOUNG HUSBAND TODAY IN WIFE'S DEATH

Coroner Walsh announced yesterday that the chemical analysis in his investigation of the death of Mrs. Mary Scully Fagan Wilhelm was half completed and that nothing had been developed to indicate that death was due to other than natural causes. Relatives of Mrs. Wilhelm who they said was 76 years old, demanded the inquiry because she had become estranged from them following her marriage four months ago to August Wilhelm, who is 34 years old. The Wilhelms lived at 221 Linden avenue, Wilmette. He will be questioned after the funeral today.

"Relatives said Mrs. Wilhelm's death appeared mysterious," Chief Deputy Coroner Stephel L. Kolanowski explained. "Coroner's Physician Jacob Goodman was of the opinion that death was due to heart disease, but he ordered the vital organs examined."

REARREST FAIR RESTAURANT MAN ON GIRL'S CHARGE

Leonard Leon, part owner of a restaurant in the Oriental Village at the World's Fair, one of three men arrested on Tuesday charged with threatening a concession operator who refused to buy their liquor, was in police custody again last night. The new complaint was made by Miss "Rusty" Nixon, 21 years old, of the Clarendon Beach hotel, a flower girl at the Oriental Village, who accuses Leon of beating her during a quarrel.

Police said Leon admitted striking the girl, but said that she first slapped at a cigar he was smoking, burning him on the cheek and lips.

Joseph Moriarity, south park board censor, interrupted the battle between Leon and the girl. She was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where it was said she had suffered a ruptured kidney. Miss Nixon said that Leon kicked her.

Charges of carrying a concealed weapon and of disorderly conduct were lodged against Leon following his arrest on Tuesday. Judge L. K. Hayes yesterday continued this case against Leon until Sept. 26.

Jerseyite, 88, Flies to Fair After Iowa Youngster of 80

Capt. Martin L. Hissem of Newark, N. J., read in a newspaper that Loren Morrison of Council Bluffs, Ia., at the age of 80 took his first ride in an airplane coming to the Fair, and smoked his first cigaret. "Morrison is just a young fellow," Capt. Hissem said, when he landed at Chicago airport in a United Air Lines plane yesterday. "I am 88 years old, and this was my first ride in an airplane, all the way from Newark."

POLICE SLAYER'S CONFESSION IS READ TO JURORS

State Demands Death for Tony Rocco.

Tony Rocco's own story of the killing of Policeman Maurice Marcusson, in the form of a confession made to the police, was read last night to a jury in the court of Judge Charles F. Molthrop.

Rocco, 24 years old and a hoodlum from the west side, is charged with the murder of Marcusson. The state has demanded a death penalty for him. In the confession, which defense attorneys sought to bar, the accused admitted that he had gone to a building at 323 West Jackson boulevard to take part in a robbery and that he had fired twice during a battle with the policeman, whom he met in a hallway. He declared, however, that the bullets from his gun went into the floor and that he did not know who shot Marcusson.

Orders Night Session.

Following the reading of the confession, Judge Molthrop adjourned court until this morning, when the state will present additional testimony. The night session was held in the hope that the case might go to the jury today.

The Rocco trial was only one engagement on the broad fronted war on criminals. A murderer was found guilty in another court and eight men were sentenced to the penitentiary. The state's attorney's office regarded the day as the most satisfactory since Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan took over the campaign against crime, started by former Chief Justice John Prystalski, on Sept. 5. Since Aug. 1 a total of 296 criminals have been sentenced to prison.

One of the witnesses in the Rocco case was Mitchell Goldenstein, 3327 West Division street, a dental supply salesman. He was seated in the hallway on the ninth floor of the Jackson boulevard building and saw the shooting of Marcusson.

Actions Arouse His Suspicions.

"I saw two men lurking about a washroom," said Goldenstin. "Their actions were strange and aroused my suspicion. They kept peering out of the washroom and apparently tried to avoid being seen. They came out about the time Marcusson stepped from the offices of the Market Loan company in room 901.

"He walked between the two men. Rocco was on his right. He told the man on his left to take his hand from his pocket. Then the policeman drew his own gun. Rocco drew a pistol, too, pushed it against Marcusson's side and fired three times. I heard more shots as I ran down stairs."

Convict Slayer of Son.

The murderer convicted yesterday was Joseph Giloffo, 65 years old, slayer of his son, Anthony, 28 years old. The jury fixed his punishment at 14 years in the penitentiary. Judge Francis Allegretti said he would rule on a motion for a new trial Sept. 27. He is expected to be sentenced formally at that time.

Giloffo was separated from his wife, Rose, although allowed to live in the same building with his family at 2156 Stave street. On March 17 he set fire to the building and his son was burned to death.

Those sentenced yesterday were:

CHARLES HINES, 24 years old, and CHARLES BUNDO, 22, each sentenced to one year to life by Judge Walter P. Steffen. On June 5 they robbed Stanley Hirsch, 1743 East 71st street of $45.

JAMES GOLDIN and RICHARD ADAMS, ored, both 16 years old, each sentenced to one year to life by Judge James J. Fardy. Adams had a previous burglary record. On April 12 they burglarized the home of Maurice Decker, 5720 Maryland avenue.

GEORGE ZENARIE, 38 years old, sentenced to one to five years by Judge Harry B. Miller for bigamy. He was reputed to have been the sweetheart of Mrs. Vera Carl, recently sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary for conspiracy to murder her husband, George Carl.

ELWIN BARRON, 25 years old, sentenced to one to twenty years by Judge Benjamin Epstein for stealing an automobile from Herman Stacy, 4743 Lake street. He had a previous record. At the conclusion of the bench trial the judge said the defense witnesses were "monumental liars." Among the witnesses was Mrs. Gladys Wesson, wife of a policeman and cousin of Stacy, who said she rode in the car with Barron but did not recognize it.

DANIEL O'MALLEY, 23 years old, sentenced to one year to life by Judge Walter Steffen. He robbed Martin Kelly Jr., bartender in a saloon at 1425 East 75th street of $30 on June 19.

ANTHONY LETTIERE, 22 years old, sentenced to one to twenty years by Judge Harry B. Miller for robbery of the Steinway drug store, 1168 North Clark street, on Oct. 24, 1932.

Third Murder Trial.

A third murder trial was in progress in the court yesterday, that of Charles McKenna, 42 years old, a former labor organizer, who is charged with slaying Nicholas Razes, a cook in an ice cream parlor at 1201 West Garfield boulevard. The state concluded its case yesterday in Judge James J. Fardy's court. The prosecution is unable to show any motive for the crime other than the fact that McKenna was drinking. The case is expected to go to the jury today.

DOLLFUSS SETS UP DICTATORSHIP OVER AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Sept. 21.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Fascism triumphed in Austria today. A "cabinet of personalities" headed by Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and Maj. Emil Fey of the Fascist heimwehr was formed.

The new cabinet definitely excluded the Democratic agrarian exponent, Vice Chancellor Franz Winkler. Karl Vaugoin, who headed the war ministry through sixteen cabinets, and was famed as "the builder of Austria's army," also was excluded.

Fey, who only a few months ago was promoted from secretary of state for public security to minister of public security, was raised to vice-chancellor, replacing the ousted Winkler.

Holds Five Portfolios.

Dollfuss, barely 5 feet tall and just past 40, will hold five portfolios in the new régime—chancellor, foreign affairs minister, minister of agriculture, defense, and public security.

Karl Buresch retains the ministry of finance and Kurt Schussnigg relinquished the ministry of justice for the ministry of education.

The sensation of Vice Chancellor Winkler's defeat was overtopped by the fall of War Minister Vaugoin, who only a few hours before, acting as chairman of Dollfuss' own Christian Social party, issued a communique pledging its solid support to Dollfuss. An ultimatum previously issued by the heimwehr was reported to have insisted on the elimination of Vaugoin.

It was previously explained the new Dollfuss cabinet was to be formed on the basis of eliminating political parties. Mandates were to be laid down by the parliament.

Balks German Union.

Chancellor Dollfuss starts off the new régime holding almost as many portfolios as Mussolini. A diminutive, dynamic dictator, he captured the imagination of the old world with his fight to prevent Austro-German union.

He was little known outside his own nation until a few months ago. Like President Wilhelm Miklas, he is a member of the Christian Social party which represents the rightist view and conservatives. His party was compelled to unite with other groups in order to gain the necessary power.

He has had full control of government since the indefinite adjournment of the Austrian parliament last March. Suddenly elevated to power his background is little known and submerged behind a powerful personality and a flair for expression.

LAWYERS AGAIN HAMPER COURTS; 17 JUDGES IDLE

Slight Improvement Over Previous Day.

Dilatory tactics by lawyers hampered judges in the Circuit and Superior courts again yesterday in their efforts to clear up the 54,000 civil cases pending in those courts.

The situation showed a slight improvement over that of Tuesday. Whereas on Tuesday only six of the 29 judges sitting in the two courts were able to find cases ready for trial and to hold afternoon sessions of court, a dozen judges found work to occupy their courts yesterday afternoon. These were the judges assigned to divorce and other chancery matters. The remaining 17 judges, including virtually all of those hearing law cases, had to quit at noon for lack of business.

10 Chancery Cases on Call.

Judge Denis E. Sullivan, in the Superior court, had ten chancery cases on his call. In nine of the cases the lawyers failed even to show the courtesy of having a clerk appear before him and explain why they were not ready. In the tenth case one of the attorneys asked and was granted a continuance.

Judge Joseph B. David of the same court, who criticized lawyers from the bench Tuesday for their dilatory tactics and ordered the number of cases on his call doubled in an attempt to find some work, was disappointed again. He had 50 law cases on his call, but in not one were the lawyers ready for trial. In three days 85 cases have been called in his court without a single trial starting.

Judge Hugo M. Friend, head of the chancery division of the Circuit court, announced that beginning Monday a new system will be instituted in his division designed to speed up the court procedure. Masters in chancery will sit on the bench, beginning at 9:30 o'clock every morning, to hear motions. The judges will be in chambers to hear those motions on which lawyers demand hearings before a judge, and conducting their preliminary trial call. When the motion call is finished, they will take the bench to try cases.

Can't Be "Hard Boiled."

Judge Sullivan said that he would discuss with Superior court chancellors, institution of this system in their court.

Judge Sullivan and Judge James J. Kelly, head of the law division of the Circuit court, both asserted that it is impossible for judges to take a completely "hard boiled" attitude toward dilatory lawyers.

"We can't be arbitrary and prejudice the rights of clients because of neglect of duty by their attorneys," they said.

3 YOUTHS CAUGHT STRIPPING AUTOS ARE SENTENCED

Three youths, arrested on Monday in the act of stripping two stolen automobiles, were sentenced to the Bridewell yesterday by Municipal Judge Gutknecht. Sergts. Joseph Pomicki and Edward Kennedy of the Racine avenue police broke into a garage at 1016 North Winchester avenue and found the youths at work there. John Nelson, 19 years old, 2355 Armitage avenue, who has a previous police record, was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell on the charge of tampering with an automobile. Eugene Wojcik, 26 years old, 2115 Crystal street, was sentenced to three months for receiving stolen property. Edward Kendzierski, 18 years old, 1819 Girard street, was sentenced to a year for larceny.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

CUT PRODUCTION OR FARM RELIEF FAILS—WALLACE

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, speaking in Chicago yesterday, gave a solemn warning that all price fixing schemes for agricultural products must inevitably fail in the long run unless the age old law of supply and demand is complied with. Farmers, he asserted, must control production, and, if they do not, even inflation will be powerless to save them.

His remarks were addressed to the national convention of the Grain and Feed Dealers' National association in the Congress hotel.

There exists, Secretary Wallace said, a virtual certainty that the production control measures already adopted by the government, such as the plowing under of cotton, the curtailment of wheat acreage, and the slaughter and total destruction of five million little pigs, will bring about a substantial rise in agricultural prices soon after Jan. 1, if not before.

Farmers Seek Price Fixing.

But this "certainty," the secretary added, had brought from the farmers a great cry for immediate price fixing to tide them over the ensuing three or four months. The general tenor of his remarks indicated that he was opposed to taking any such action, but that the government was standing at the crossroads of economic policy and might have to listen to political clamor.

"If the purchasing power of farm products does not improve in the next three months, the price fixers, who are nearly all inflationists, too," the speaker declared, "will have great power in congress next winter and there will be passed legislation which will make the agricultural adjustment act seem extraordinarily conservative.

"A government can stand a certain amount of political battering by organized groups. The unfortunate thing about it all is that when a situation is temporarily solved by political pressure the people begin to think that the government can solve all economic problems indefinitely by a wave of a magic wand."

Asks Grain Men's Coöperation.

Throughout his talk the secretary expressed confidence in the short term results of the policies now being used. Grain dealers understood perfectly, he averred, the short time laws of supply and demand and were always distrustful of any interference with them. He advanced the claim that the administration is only trying to strike a long time balance of supply and demand and that he hoped the grain men would coöperate.

"You will not make so much money now, perhaps," he said, "but your children and grandchildren will get the benefits if this effort succeeds."

The world, Mr. Wallace argued, has been "sick a long time." Overproduction, he held, had brought on the world depression and underconsumption had intensified it. Only in the United States, he said, had there been a direct slash at the oversupply of farm products.

Explains Production Cut.

"Plowing under 10 million acres of cotton and the slaughter of 5 million little pigs," he said, "would have rightfully been called insane in the pre-war world when the United States was a debtor nation. But in view of the fact that the United States is now a creditor nation with a high tariff, and trying to deal with other nations having high tariffs, which have piled up twice the normal supplies of fundamental raw products, it is wise for American farmers to stop adding to world surplus.

"I fear most of the people of the United States are still kidding themselves. They do not like to face the fact that effective foreign purchasing power for our surplus wheat, cotton, lard, and tobacco has largely disappeared. . . . Until the people are willing to hear the truth and plan accordingly there can be no hope. At present we are still dodging the fact that we are a creditor nation, that we have high tariffs, and that we have 40 million surplus acres of crop lands for which there is no effective market."

Wants Tariff Revisions.

The secretary wove in with the case for tariff revisions that will promote international trade that for a controlled inflation and his often repeated demand for a reduction of production.

Recalling the failure of price fixing schemes with Brazilian coffee, East Indian rubber and farm board wheat, he declared the failures were due to the neglect of the control of production.

As for price fixing, he said, it was a quite common phenomenon in the American world of today. He cited the physician charging a fee set by a medical association, railroads under the governance of the interstate commerce commission and untility companies under commissions that fix rates. We are even moving slowly, he said, toward the public utility method of regulating milk prices.

Roosevelt's Farm Program.

Secretary Wallace restated the program of President Roosevelt in regard to farm prices: "The administration has the definite objective of raising commodity prices to such an extent that those who have borrowed will, on the average, be able to repay that money in the same kind of dollar which they borrowed." Then he continued:

"In view of the progress made in that direction it was deemed opportune to explain to farmers what some of the results might be, especially to point out that if the previous price level is restored farmers would still face the necessity of balancing farm production in line with demand conditions.

"Inflation No Cure-All."

"Please remember that inflation is not a cure-all and that when it stops, as sooner or later it must, we will again discover that our problem is one of achieving balance."

The agricultural adjustment act, the secretary admitted, is not the last word in wisdom. It is, he said, helping to bridge over a difficult situation in cotton and wheat, and efforts of this sort probably will have to be continued over several years, either until large foreign markets are reopened by appropriate tariff policies or until a "statesmanlike land policy" has been adopted.

"I sincerely trust," he concluded, "that the day will come when the 50 million poorer acres of plow land in the United States will be retired from use. The men on these poorer acres in the southeast and parts of the arid west have been bucking the impossible. Their plow land might well be turned to grass or trees and these men be given opportunity to work on better land or engage in decentralized industrial enterprises."

Tells of Export Plan.

Preceding Secretary Wallace on the grain dealers' program yesterday, Frank A. Theis, chief of the grain processing and marketing section of the AAA, announced that before the end of the week governmental approval would undoubtedly be given to a plan for exporting up to 30,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat from the Pacific northwest. Theis said the plan as now drafted provided that a corporation would authorize the buying of wheat now glutting elevators and country warehouses there at domestic prices. This wheat would be sold through regular export trade channels to the orient, and the government would stand the difference, an amount he estimated at between seven and eight million dollars.

Secretary Wallace, accompanied by several aids from Washington, went into conference yesterday afternoon with the members of the corn-hog committee which aided in formulating the bonus pig killing program, with the intention of drawing a permanent relief plan for the corn belt.

Acts of U. S. Under the Farm Recovery Program Reviewed

BY PAUL POTTER.

The visit of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to Chicago yesterday and his address before grain men aroused interest in what has been done by the administration in curtailing production and raising farm prices.

The basic farm commodities on which action has already been taken by the agricultural adjustment administration include wheat, cotton, tobacco in some forms, hogs, and dairy products. Consumers already are being assessed a processing tax on wheat flour and cotton goods to obtain funds to pay farmers for reducing their production, while processing taxes are to be imposed in coming weeks on dairy products in some forms, cigars, and probably meats.

Aim of Government Program.

Secretary Wallace explains that the objective of the government is to take 40,000,000 acres of land out of production to offset the loss of important foreign markets for farm products and to bring the agricultural production as nearly as possible to amounts that can be consumed domestically.

Cotton farmers of the south plowed up growing cotton or left cotton land idle to a total of 10,396,000 acres up to Sept. 1. President Roosevelt has approved plans for cutting the remaining 30,036,000 acres of cotton this year to 25 million acres in 1934 by paying farmers an average of $9 an acre for leaving land idle. The idle land may be pastured or may produce home consumed food products, but nothing that can be sold on a cash market.

Wheat growers are given until next Monday to sign applications for a contract with the government whereby they will be paid a bonus for reducing their wheat acerage, planted now and next spring, by 15 per cent. Up to the middle of this week about one-sixth of the wheat farmers had reported willingness to comply, representing an acerage reduction of less than 3,000,000 acres. The government hopes to take 9,000,000 acres out of wheat production in 1934.

4,000,000 Pigs Bought by U. S.

The government AAA thus far has bought from corn belt farmers nearly 4,000,000 pigs weighing between 25 and 100 pounds, and about 85,000 sows about to bear pigs. All these animals were bought for slaughter to take them out of the pork market. It expects to buy approximately a million more pigs. The farmer selling the pigs or sows is not obligated to limit his pork production next year, but plans are being formulated in Chicago this week to reduce both pig and corn production for 1934.

The AAA is creating a corporation which will be given $30,000,000 with which to buy surplus butter and cheese. This will be sold to public relief agencies for immediate consumption this winter. A processing tax on dairy products, or on butter alone, is contemplated.

Tobacco growers, producing certain types of leaf tobacco, are to obtain a bonus for curtailing their acreage in 1934 by about 15 per cent. Up to date about two-thirds of the growers of flue cured tobacco have agreed to the reduction in 1934 and 1935, for which a bonus will be paid.

The payments to farmers, collected from consumers of the products, to make the reduction program possible, are estimated to total nearly $335,000,000 on the products thus far designated, divided as follows: One hundred and forty million dollars for wheat growers; $100,000,000 for cotton growers, $55,000,000 for hog raisers, $30,000,000 for dairymen, and $10,000,000 for flue cured tobacco growers.

In every instance where farmers agree to remove a crop from part of their lands, no other crop entering into commerce may be grown. There is nothing, however, to prevent a farmer who does not sign, or who has not been growing the crops, being reduced from starting to grow them.

Sales of fertilizer to farmers seeking to boost production on the land left in cultivation are mounting. One fertilizer salesman at Rushville, Ind., reported his fertilizer sales last week to have been the heaviest in his experience. Farmers giving him orders expected to pay for it from checks to be obtained from the government for sales of pigs. At Bloomington, Ill., the managers of several hundred farms held by insurance companies and banks plan to purchase fertilizer to boost yields from the proceeds of the wheat bonus from the government.

18 MILLIONS SPENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Between 18 and 20 million dollars has thus far been drained from the federal treasury to finance the government purchase of little pigs and brood sows under the emergency hog marketing program of the agricultural adjustment administration.

The money, the administration announced, has been paid in actual cash to packers to compensate them for paying hog producers the high prices fixed by the government under the emergency plan.

Schedule Closes in Week.

To date in the hog campaign, which is scheduled to close Sept. 29, the government has bought approximately 4 million little pigs, the farm administration announced today. Officials said it was probable the new full quota of 5,922,000 would be purchased before the close of the emergency marketing period.

The little pigs purchased thus far cost an estimated $16,300,000, the administration stated, while $910,000 has been paid for sows. In addition, approximately $950,000 has been paid to packers for slaughtering and processing the hogs. The total thus far expended, it was pointed out, is about 40 per cent of the anticipated gross cost of the hog campaign, estimated originally at 50 million dollars. Money for the pig purchases has been drawn directly from the treasury, athough officias contend that proceeds of the eventual processing tax paid into the treasury will compensate for the current expenditure.

"If a total of 150,000 sows and the new maximum of 5,922,000 head of pigs are purchased before the end of the marketing period, Sept. 29," the administration stated today, "a maximum of 85 million pounds of meat may be produced.

Production Cut 15 Per Cent.

"This would be equivalent to less than 1 per cent of the nation's annual total pork production. The potential reduction in pork production during the next marketing year, however, as a result of this slaughter, would be from 14 to 16 per cent of the annual average pork production."

The administration estimated that the probable yield of products from the hogs slaughtered thus far would amount to 51 million pounds of meat, 13 million pounds of grease, and 13 million pounds of fertilizer tankage.

The edible products resulting from the slaughter will be taken by the federal emergency relief administration for distribution among needy families.

RETAILERS' CODE FACES A BATTLE ON PRICE FIXING

Cost-Plus Regulations Are Opposed.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—As the public clamor against general price fixing by the government rose higher today, the NRA made public the revised code for retailers laid in Administrator Johnson's hands for his approval.

The consumers' advisory board of the NRA was openly battling against the "cost plus" features of the code, and the industrial advisory board has set up a special committee to study the proposals.

Deputy Administrator Arthur D. Whiteside has recommended the code in its present form, with the price control features intact, and Gen. Johnson today took up in earnest his study of the problems involved.

Affects 5 Million Wage Earners.

The decision he and President Roosevelt may make is highly significant, for upon it depends not only the welfare of 5 million wage earners in 1,500,000 retail stores of the country, but the interests of practically all Americans, who purchase in those retail stores.

The code will bring under government control "all selling of merchandise to the consumer and not for purposes of resale, in the continental United States, provided, however, that it shall not include the selling at retail of milk and its products, tobacco and its products, and foods and foodstuffs."

The exceptions will be put under control by a code to be laid down by the agricultural adjustment administration.

The code is specifically applied to department stores, furniture stores, general stores and general merchandise stores, hardware stores, limited price [5 and 10] variety stores, music stores, shoe stores, women's specialty shops and drug stores.

Code Fixes Prices.

Not only does the code set forth a prescribed form of price fixing, but it also regulates the form of advertising which merchants may employ, sets hours of labor and minimum wages and how long a store must remain open.

It requires that no retailer shall participate or sell any goods which does not bear an NRA label, thus setting up a complete boycott against any manufacturer or producer who does not sign a compliance statement showing his adherence to a code. Prison made good are also banned from purchase or sale by retailers.

Under the price regulating clauses of the code, all retailers, except drug stores, are forbidden to sell products at less than 10 per cent above the wholesale cost. Druggists are forbidden to sell nationally advertised goods for which prices are published at a price more than 21 per cent below the quoted price.

These provisions, as stated in the code, are inserted to "check predatory price cutting and minimize retail operating losses resulting therefrom."

Objections Are Voiced.

The consumers advisory board has objected to these provisions on the ground that they are likely to lead to collusions between manufacturers and sellers which will result in enormous profits at the expense of consumers; that the regulations are not practically enforcible and consequently will lead to much "bootlegging" of merchandise at cut prices, and that it would set up a precedent by which price fixing would be included in other codes, all to the detriment of consumers.

An equally strong argument is put up by advisers on the industrial board who assert the principle is economically unsound; that it will lead to kiting prices with an inevitable result that consumers will be able to buy less, reducing sales, and completely destroying the aims of the NRA in increasing employment and purchasing power.

The code sets up a national retail trade council, on which representatives of various trade associations will be placed, and which would be given power to require retailers in any community to present reports proving their compliance with the terms of the code. Regional advisory committees and a national retail economics board are created to aid in the administration of the code.

Bars Misleading Advertising.

On advertising, the code prohibits the use of advertising, whether printed, radio or display or any other nature, "which is inaccurate in any material particular or misrepresents merchandise [including its use, trademark, grade, quality, quantity, size, origin, material, content, preparation or curative or therapeutic effect, or credit terms, values, policies or services], and no retailer shall use advertising or selling methods which tend to deceive or mislead customer."

Minimum wages range from $10 weekly in rural stores, to $15 weekly in the large cities. Hours of work vary according to the number hours stores agree to keep open, the range being from 40 hours a week in stores keeping open less than 56 hours per week, but not less than 52 to 48 hours per week for stores remaining open 63 hours or more per week.

Announcement was made yesterday that the President had signed seven additional codes, making a total of 30 codes thus far approved by him.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Results of a government audit of the books of nine Chicago dairies will be submitted to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace within the next few days as a basis for his final decision on the proposed increases in retail milk prices under the federal marketing agreement for the Chicago area.

Details of the audit were not learned in advance of their submission to the secretary, although the agricultural adjustment administration announced that the investigation had been completed. Economists and legal experts of the administration were said to be studying the figures with a view to formulating recommendations for action by Mr. Wallace.

At the same time it was reported today that Don Geyer, secretary of the Pure Milk association, will arrive in Washington tomorrow with a new proposal for revising the Chicago milk price schedule so that producers in the area will receive the benefit of the increase. Hearings on a plan to increase the retail milk price by 1 cent a quart, from the 10 cents now prescribed to 11 cents, have already been held by the farm administration.

These hearings were adjourned in order to permit an audit of the books of representative Chicago dairies for the purpose of determining the factors involved in the spread between producer and consumer prices. Final approval of any proposed price increases will be based on the results of this audit, it was said.

The federal audit, conducted by C. H. Fryburg, A. A. A. accountant, covered the books and records of six large Chicago milk dealers, who handle about 80 per cent of the total volume of milk sold in Chicago, the administration said, and also three smaller dairies. Names of the dairies investigated were not disclosed.

APPOINTS TAX RECEIVER FOR 37 PROPERTIES

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $799,740, making a total of $70,968,218 collected since the enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act was started on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

Sept. 20....	$ 26,814	$ 51,922
Uncollected...	17,486,308	46,226,887
	1930.	1931.
Sept. 20.....	$ 78,942	$ 642,062

County Judge Jarecki continued his tax collection drive under the Kerner-Skarda act yesterday by appointing County Treasurer McDonough receiver for 37 income bearing properties to enable him to collect the delinquent taxes. The properties owe a total of $125,000 in taxes for 1928, 1929, and 1930. Attorneys for other properties paid more than $100,000 to forestall the appointment of the treasurer as receiver. The treasurer filed 75 tax receivership petitions against properties owing a total of $244,400.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MUKDEN, Sept. 20.—A serious outbreak of a disease which may be bubonic plague, has killed more than 600 in north Manchuria. The government has stopped railway communication in the Taonan-Ssupingkai region. It has declared a blockade against freight and is destroying furs and hides and undertaking rat extermination. The same disease killed more than 200 on southern lines of the Chinese Eastern railway. A widespread scourge is feared because bodies of victims were thrown into rivers, carrying the pestilence to new localities.

$3,364,000 IN CITY TAX WARRANTS TO BE PAID TOMORROW

City Controller Upham announced yesterday that tomorrow he would call for redemption all of the 1931 city tax warrants still outstanding in the hands of the public.

These amount to $3,108,000 in corporate fund warrants, $123,000 in bond and interest fund warrants, and $133,000 in public library warrants—a total of $3,364,000. At one time the city had $32,072,800 worth of 1931 warrants outstanding in the hands of the public.

After redemption of the 1931 warrants, the only city warrants held by the public for prior years will consist of $2,185,000 issued against the 1929 tax levies. These are being retired slowly as collections of delinquent taxes come in. The public also holds a large amount of warrants against the 1932 levy, and a few for 1933. Taxes for those years have not yet gone into collection.

Coast Guard Cutter with Crew of 70 Here on Cruise

The U. S. Seminole, a first class 188 foot cruising cutter attached to the coast guard service, docked last night at Navy pier after a five day cruise from its base at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The boat is under the command of Lieut. Commander N. R. Stiles and carries a crew of 70 officers and men. Commander Stiles said last night that the boat would remain here for a three day inspection by Capt. H. R. Searles, commander of the Chicago division of the coast guard, and then return to its base.

RFC MANEUVERS FOR CONTROL OF NATIONAL BANKS

Disclose New Move by Chairman Jones.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

How the federal government, acting through the Reconstruction Finance corporation, seeks to get complete control of the nation's national banks was disclosed yesterday in a communication received by Chicago bankers from Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC.

The Jones scheme envisages RFC agents directing bank policies, electing directors, hiring and firing officers, directors, and employés, setting their salaries, limiting their real estate investments and in general directing the operations of banks.

Demands Banks Sell Stock.

All this is to come about through ownership by the RFC of preferred stock in national banks. At the recent convention of the American Bankers' association here Mr. Jones made his demands that all banks sell preferred stock to the RFC. Disclosure of the scheme to use that stock interest as a basis for government operation of banks, however, was not made until yesterday when banks received copies of a "suggested form" of articles of association sent out by the RFC.

Bankers concede that under the various powers conferred upon government agencies by the emergency banking legislation the administration at Washington has plenty of means to squeeze banks into a position where they may be forced to take the RFC into "partnership", and that Mr. Jones' "suggestions" have the force of law if enough of this squeeze is applied.

Pressure to Force Sales.

At present national bank examiners are going over big city banks in New York, Chicago, and elsewhere scaling down assets. This is interpreted by many bankers as part of the pressure to force banks to sell preferred stock to the RFC. They look upon themselves as flies in the spider's parlor.

The bankers are particularly apprehensive about the possible ways in which this power in the hands of a political body might be misused in the future when the emergency, which served as the excuse for the legislation, has ceased to exist.

In the communication received yesterday from Mr. Jones the suggested form of articles of incorporation is for newly organized national banks, but the RFC also "suggests" certain amendments for national banks already in operation.

Sets Limits on Salaries.

"A. All directors, officers, and employés of the association (bank) shall receive compensation at rates not exceeding such maximum limitations as may be fixed by the vote of the holders of a majority of the shares of preferred stock at the time outstanding.

"B. In case the Reconstruction Finance corporation, with the approval of the controller of the currency, at any time shall notify the association (bank) that any director, officer, or employé of the association is regarded by the Reconstruction Finance corporation as unsatisfactory, and in case such director, officer, or employé is not removed from office (and, if requested by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, replaced with a director, officer, or employé satisfactory to it) within thirty days after receipt by the association of such notice, then, and until such removal and replacement shall have been effected, the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding shall be entitled, as a class, to vote on all matters twice the number of the votes to which the holders of common stock as a class are at the time entitled, and each holder of preferred stock shall be entitled to a pro rata share of the votes to which his class is entitled."

Gives R. F. C. the Whiphand.

Inasmuch as the plan contemplates the sale of preferred stock to no one except the RFC, the agents of that body would have the whiphand over the officers and directors of the bank at least until more than half the preferred stock had been retired.

According to the RFC plan the amount of preferred stock subscribed for by that agency would be equal to, or possibly in some cases greater than the amount of common stock outstanding at the time the preferred is issued. This would mean that the RFC representatives would control 50 per cent or more of the bank's total stock to start with. The power to count the preferred stock double the common in the event an officer of the bank is persona non grata to the RFC would mean that as long as the government body held 25 per cent of the total stock it would be able to outvote the common stockholders.

The emergency banking act provides that the preferred stock is to be retired at the rate of 5 per cent a year after the second year or faster if the bank's earnings permit and stockholders of the bank so desire. At the rate of 5 per cent a year the RFC would have control of the bank for at least twelve years.

Limit on Real Estate Purchases.

Another "suggested" provision in incorporation papers is this:

"The association [bank] shall not directly or indirectly purchase or otherwise acquire any real estate for its own use, or lease any real estate for its own use for a term longer than one year, without in each case the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the preferred stock at the time outstanding, or a written waiver of voting rights in respect thereto by the holders of such majority."

The "suggested" amendments for national banks already in existence have to do with the method of determining net profits, the application of net profits and the preferred stock retirement fund.

The RFC communication, however, also asks that this paragraph be inserted:

"The board of directors shall consist of such number of shareholders, not less than five nor more than twenty-five, as from time to time shall be determined by a majority of the votes to which all shareholders are at the time entitled."

Even though the drastic provisions for regulation of salaries and the hiring and firing of officers, directors and employés are not to be inserted into the incorporation papers of existing banks those powers would automatically be transferred from the common stockholders to the RFC by the acquisition of the preferred stock.

Show How the RFC Acts.

As an indication of the quick manner in which the RFC grabs control of banks, in which it acquires preferred stock interest, Chicagoans yesterday pointed to the cases of leading Ohio and Indiana banks whose new presidents are former RFC agents, placed in their jobs soon after the preferred stock was sold to the RFC.

Bank stocks yesterday reflected the apprehension felt generally as the RFC began to exert pressure upon the financial institutions. They took another tumble, bringing some of the quotations back to the depression lows of last February and March.

Stock of the First National bank of New York yesterday dropped $45 per share to close at a bid price of $1,175. In Chicago stock of the Continental National Bank and Trust company closed at a bid price of $43, off $5, and First National at $89 was off $3.

25,000 Marchers

More than 25,000 persons marched last night in Cicero's NRA parade, and it was estimated that crowds equal to 50,000 more lined the streets and cheered the marchers as they passed. Many of the latter division came from Oak Park and Berwyn, it was said. Participating in the parade were 2,500 elementary school children, 7,500 students from J. Sterling Morton High school, several bands, and delegations from the American Legion, fraternal orders, and the Rotary, Lions, and Kiwanis clubs. Richard W. Hoffman was grand marshal.

NAME CHICAGO'S NRA COMPLIANCE BODY TOMORROW

Board to Frame Its Own Enforcement Plan.

Members of a compliance board to force cheating employers into line under the NRA standard will be selected tomorrow morning at a meeting of the executive committee of the Chicago Recovery council, according to an announcement yesterday by George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Six members of the board will be chosen and these six will select a seventh member. It will be this board's duty to investigate complaints that employers who have signed the NRA have not put the new code provisions into effect and also to investigate cases where employers have refused to sign the President's agreement.

Chicago has lagged behind some neighboring cities in entering into this phase of the NRA compaign, it was explained, because it was felt that many concerns, both large and small, have encountered complications in adjusting their businesses to the new code. It was also pointed out that many codes, such as the retail code, have not yet been approved by the President.

Board to Decide Methods.

The compliance board will consider methods of operation after it is organized, it was stated. Publication of the names of offenders against the NRA has been considered as one means of punishing employers who have not followed the provisions of the agreement.

The state recovery council, headed by A. A. Sprague, will take no part in the compliance board's work, it was explained at NRA headquarters. This council is still engaged in the process of organization.

Thurlow G. Essington, chairman of the Washington conference which prepared the soft coal code, and representatives of Illinois coal operators, yesterday called a meeting to be held next Tuesday in the Sky room of the Majestic hotel to discuss the steps necessary to comply with the code. The code was approved by President Roosevelt Sept. 18 and will become effective Oct. 2.

Lumbermen Resume Work on Code.

Hardwood lumbermen yesterday prepared to write the cost and price provisions of their code. Meeting in convention at the Congress hotel, they were addressed by Thomas Glasgow, deputy administrator under Gen. Hugh S. Johnson.

"The once so-called fundamental law of supply and demand must yield to the mandatory law of 'controlled supply for the actual demand,'" Glasgow declared, "or our nation and its industries are facing actual bankruptcy."

The total of employers under NRA in Chicago was raised to 49,558 yesterday when 241 additional companies filed acceptances. These firms employ 915,393 persons.

MEET TO DRAFT NEW RESTAURANT CODE, NAME CZAR

Five thousand retaurant operators yesterday attended the opening session of the fifteenth annual convention of the National Restaurant association at the Restaurant mart, 666 Lake Shore drive. The convention is expected to adopt a new code, before adjourning Saturday, governing the operation of the restaurant industry under the NRA.

The association plans to set up machinery for the enforcement of its code, it was revealed. Harry J. Boekenhoff of Los Angeles, past president of the association, was one of the prominent restaurant owners, mentioned as a possible "czar" of the industry to be elected by the members to insure the strict observance of the code provisions.

Marjorie Kavanagh, 21 years old, 6017 St. Lawrence avenue, was selected as America's most beautiful waitress in a contest concluded yesterday. Miss Kavanagh has been employed for three years as a waitress in a Wabash avenue restaurant.

FIRST CAPTURED BY GERMANS, VET SEEKS FORD JOB

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Sergt. Edgar M. Halyburton, first Yankee captured by the Germans during the world war and the inspiration for the "Captured But Not Conquered" posters advertising the third Liberty loan, applied today for one of the 5,000 jobs the Ford Motor company is filling from the ranks of former service men.

"All I want is a chance to work," Halyburton told Rex Humphrey, commander of the Wayne county [Detroit] council of the American Legion, who recognized him while taking applications for the Ford company jobs.

MIDWEST GETS LOANS, BUT LESS THAN FAVORITES

Chicago Gets One Slice of Easy Money.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The five Chicagoland states today got eighteen loans from the federal easy money fund for public works and the total given them was less than that which went to one of the old favorites, California, in seven loans.

Illinois is still the Cinderella without a prince, although she was given six loans today, totaling $2,687,938. Her richly bedecked sisters, New York and California, meanwhile walked off with $4,440,250 and $5,210,372, respectively, maintaining their record for getting the lion's share of the grants.

Chicago was given one loan by its native son, Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes, an advance of $2,040,500, to complete the construction of the nurses' dormitory at the Cook county hospital. Evanston was given $250,000 to improve its water system and build a new reservoir.

Springfield Gets $78,000.

The rest of the easy money given Illinois today went to Springfield, where $78,000 will be used to build an electric substation; to Rosiclaire, where $115,000 will complete the new water system; to New Trier, where $141,000 will be used by the board of education for construction, and to the Rock Island arsenal, where the army will spend $13,438.

Other Chicagoland loans were scattered over Iowa, Michigan, Indiana, and Wisconsin. A total of $61,743,858 in easy money was doled out today by Ickes, and only $5,204,429, or 8 per cent of it, went to the Chicagoland states, although they paid last year 13 per cent of all federal taxes. California alone today walked off with more money than all of the Chicagoland states.

Where the Money Goes.

Only three grants out of the army housing money went to the Chicagoland states. Together they totaled $828,129, exactly 1.4 per cent of the money advanced for the program. The bulk of the 30 nonfederal construction loans, however, went to the middle west.

Only three grants out of the housing money went to the Chicagoland states. Together they totaled $828,129, exactly 1.4 per cent of the money advanced for the program. The bulk of the 30 nonfederal construction loans, however, went to the middle west.

The $2,040,500 advanced to Cook county for the nurses' dormitory was on a "loan and grant" basis. The federal government is granting the county 30 per cent of the estimated materials and labor costs, or about $51,000. The rest of the easy money is a loan, secured by the county, with 4 per cent general obligation bonds. The project should give 500 men work for nine months.

The Evanston water system advance of $250,000 is on the same basis, and the loan is secured by 4 per cent revenue bonds. The New Trier allotment also is a loan and grant, secured in the same way. These two projects are estimated to employ 100 and 160 men, respectively.

Sorority House Burglar Is Graduate of University

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority co-eds called the police today to trap a prowler in their house. Back of a curtain, gun in hand, and a red kerchief across his face, they found J. L. Bennett, a University of Illinois graduate. In his pockets the police found $36.24 alleged to have been stolen.

Misunderstands Robbers' Command; Doctor Is Shot

Dr. Desider Ecker, 28 years old, an interne in the Lakeside hospital, 3410 Rhodes avenue, was shot in the left leg last night by one of two Negroes who attacked him as he approached the rear entrance of the hospital. Dr. Ecker, who came to Chicago only a year ago from Austria and doesn't speak English well, said one of the robbers shot him because he was slow to obey their commands, due to the fact that he didn't understand them.

FEAR OF "CLOSED SHOP" ALLAYED BY NRA ADVISER

Code Favors No 1 Union, Says H. I. Harriman.

American industry is in no danger of having the closed shop forced upon it through the workings of the national recovery act, Henry I. Harriman of Boston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, told 400 members of the Chicago Association of Commerce at a luncheon yesterday in the Palmer house. As one of the advisers of the NRA administration, his statement was believed to reflect the attitude of highest Washington officialdom.

Quoting from the Labor day address of the NRA administrator, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, Mr. Harriman drew the conclusion from the administrator's remarks that Gen. Johnson considers the closed shop prohibited under the NRA. As Mr. Harriman interpreted the act, employers may deal with their workers through federated unions, company unions or individually. They must be careful, however, he warned, not to coerce their workers in making a choice on collective bargaining.

Gives General View of NRA.

"The recovery act clearly indicates that in the future there are to be three partners in industry," Mr. Harriman explained. "They are the employer, employé, and the public. The first proposition of the labor section of the act is that employés have the right to organize. This right is already well settled by decisions of the United States Supreme court. The recovery act, however, does not prescribe any particular form of organization; furthermore, employés may bargain individually if they so prefer.

"The second proposition is that employés have the right to bargain collectively. Collective bargaining has a definite meaning, but it contains no implication, direct or indirect, as to the number of employés who must participate before collective bargaining exists. Collective bargaining is a method. As a method, it may be used by some employés of an employer, by all employés of an employer, by some employés of a group of employers, or by all employés of all employers in a given industry.

Coercion Is Forbidden.

"The third proposition is that employés are to be free from interference or coercion on the part of employers in selecting their own representatives, and they may choose an employé, or nonemployé of their employer, as they may determine. There is no room to question this right, but there is also no doubt that in exercising it the worker should be free from coercion from sources outside his employment, as well.

"A point often raised is whether it is proper to enter a contract to employ members of a particular labor organization exclusively. I quote from Gen. Johnson's Labor day address on this question: 'If an employer should make a contract with a particular organization to employ only members of that organization, especially if that organization did not have 100 per cent membership among his employés, that would in effect interfere with his workers' freedom of choice and be contrary to law.'

"If I read this language correctly, it means that Gen. Johnson considers the closed shop prohibited by the recovery act. There is nothing in the law which prohibits full and free discussion between employer and employés on the desirability of local or federated trade organizations. Fair discussion is desirable, but anything savoring of coercion or intimidation should be strictly banned. It is against the law.

When Workmen Disagree.

"In a case where one group desires to join a federated union, a second group desires to join a local union, and a third group prefers to remain aloof, the provisions of the law would seem to be fully met if the employer meets representatives of all groups in the presence of one another. If an agreement satisfactory to all may be reached, well and good. If not, then the employer must decide with which group it is most desirable for him to deal. If the remaining groups wish to play ball, all right. If not, then obviously the employer must proceed with those employés with whom he has come to an agreement."

Mr. Harriman devoted a portion of his address to emphasizing the need for a higher standard of living. There were three ways, he said, by which the price level might be raised: First, by restricted production; second, increased consumption instead of lessening production, and third, monetary inflation. The chamber of commerce, he declared, was supporting the second course.

One Method Overlooked.

"There has been much discussion," he said, "of the first and third methods, but comparatively little has been said of the effect on our industrial life of a higher standard of living. The computations of our research department indicate that approximately 50 million of our population live on a family income of less than $2,500 and that to raise this 50 million to the $2,500 standard would require a total national income of over 100 billion dollars.

"Such an increased living standard would raise the annual production of fresh vegetables, fresh fruits, poultry, milk and eggs; would require the replacement of worn out and unfit housing, increase production of furniture, clothing, shoes by millions of dollars.

"We have the natural resources, the necessary farm acres, and the necessary man power to produce this vast additional supply of goods provided our man power is properly trained and distributed. As a temporary policy, I am heartily in favor of reducing production of those articles of which there are now large surpluses, but when the present emergency is over, our national life should be guided toward a policy of increased production to the end that we may enjoy a higher standard of living."

Dinner Guest at Fair.

Mr. Harriman was the guest at a dinner given by the Chicago Association of Commerce in the Café de la Paix in the Streets of Paris at the Fair last night. Among the guests were twenty Chicago business leaders and an equal number of business men from eastern cities. After the dinner the party toured the Fair grounds.

SENATOR DAVIS WINS POINT AT HIS TRIAL ON LOTTERY CHARGE

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Witnesses introduced today by the government at the second trial for violation of the lottery law of United States Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania failed to confirm the theory of the prosecution that Davis had known of the sale of tickets to members of the Loyal Order of Moose.

Donald F. Stewart, editor of the Moose magazine, who testified on Tuesday that the senator had wielded editorial authority over the magazine, said today that the business of mentioning cash prizes had been taboo to him. He referred to the prizes given holders of admission tickets to the balls. The holders, according to the government, were selected by lot to receive awards, and more than 20,000,000 tickets were printed in 1931.

James W. Reid, secretary of the Eureka Specialty Printing corporation of Scranton, Pa., traced the sale of the tickets to Bernard G. McGuire, professional promoter, engaged by the fraternity.

He did not say, however, that the tickets had been shipped to Senator Davis or by his order. Bills for the printing order were made out, he said, to the propagation department of the order.

BALCHEN 'FOUND'; GOES UNDER KNIFE IN SOUTH AFRICA

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Bernt Balchen, the famous American flyer, today underwent an appendicitis operation described as completely successful.

The mystery of his whereabouts, which caused Sir Hubert Wilkins, the explorer, and his shipmates on the Wyatt Earp some hours of inquiry, was cleared up by a statement that when he left the ship he met a friend during dinner at a hotel. It was explained that he spent the evening in his friend's company and returned shortly before midnight, going to bed quite ignorant of the excitement created by his "disappearance."

This morning he telephoned Sir Hubert and his associates, who are en route to the Bay of Whales with the Lincoln Ellsworth expedition. At noon he appeared at the Volks hospital, where physicians said his condition made an operation necessary.

LOADED PLANE DISABLED IN AIR; LANDS SAFELY

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—For the second time in his air experience M. B. Freeburg, Northwest Airways aviator, today successfully landed a disabled passenger plane on the Minneapolis-Chicago route. He had five passengers and Co-Pilot Carl Martin in the plane with him.

When over West Salem, 13 miles from La Crosse, he felt a vibration of one side of the plane and found that a metal propeller on the trimotored ship had broken and smashed one wheel of his landing gear.

He flew limpingly to the Salzer municipal airport and landed on one wheel.

Rescued Air Pilot Worse; Broke Arm and a Leg

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The condition of Harold L. Neff, Cleveland air mail pilot, who lay in the open for 63 hours beside his wrecked plane before being discovered Monday night, today was reported by his physician as "not so good." He suffered a relapse yesterday. A leg and an arm were fractured.

Train Kills Boy Playing Tag on Railroad Tracks

Richard Niemotka, 7 years old, 1815 Hervey street, was fatally injured last night when he was struck by a Chicago and North Western railroad train at Lincoln street and Webster avenue. He died shortly afterward in Alexian Brothers' hospital. With two other boys, Richard had been playing tag on the railroad tracks.

PRESIDENT HEARS CHICAGO'S SIDE OF CANAL BATTLE

Would O. K. Revision of St. Lawrence Pact.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Efforts to win over senators from the states of the Mississippi valley to support of the St. Lawrence waterway were taken up today by President Roosevelt.

The President conferred with Robert Isham Randolph of Chicago, president of the Mississippi Valley association, and with Frank Walsh, chairman of the Port of New York Authority.

The Mississippi valley states, it is believed, could defeat ratification of the waterway treaty with Canada, though its proponents declared during the special session of the present congress that they had enough votes. Mr. Walsh, with President Roosevelt's good wishes, has been en tour and has conferred with the Illinois senators, Mr. Randolph, and many other persons.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis who has led the attacks on the treaty, as well as Senator Deitrich showed no signs of relenting. At least until the clause restricting water diversion from Lake Michigan at Chicago is altered or eliminated.

Roosevelt Favors Treaty.

This was the subject of the President's conference today with Mr. Walsh and Mr. Randolph. Earlier, Mr. Roosevelt had told newspapermen he favored the ratification of the treaty, negotiated when Herbert Hoover was President, but the treaty was not necessarily a "major issue" before the coming session of congress.

Mr. Randolph declared he had given Mr. Roosevelt his view, saying opposition must continue until and unless the restricting clause on Chicago's water diversion is remedied. That clause now specifies that by Dec. 31, 1938, the date also set by the U. S. Supreme court, Chicago's diversion shall be reduced to 1,500 cubic second feet. The U. S. Supreme court held that to be sufficient for navigation.

Calls Figure Too Small.

Mr. Randolph told the President that amount was wholly insufficient to operate the waterway on a practical basis; that the waterway was constructed on the assumption that 5,000 c. s. f. would be allowed, and that it cannot be operated efficiently and economically on a lesser amount.

The Chicagoan also informed the President that in the deepening of the channels in the Detroit and St. Clair rivers it would be necessary to construct compensating works to prevent further lowering of the levels of Lakes Huron and Michigan. Mr. Randolph proposed that these works should be so designed as to compensate as well for the entire amount of the diversion at Chicago.

Mr. Randolph, in furtherance of the custom at the White House, refrained from discussing the President's responses to his suggestion, except to say he felt the matter would be worked out satisfactorily, so that the treaty may be supported.

Will Consider Revision.

From some of the President's senatorial advisers it was learned he will consider a revision of the treaty with a hope of removing the objections of the Mississippi valley senators. Canada, it was stated, has been renewing the old propaganda against the Chicago diversion, and may resist amending the treaty, but a change of Canadian view is expected from the fact that the United States will bear most of the cost.

The President has indicated his enthusiastic support for the Mississippi waterway, not only for the lakes-to-gulf project, but also for the deepening of the upper Mississippi by means of 11 locks and dams, and by dredging, so that it will be navigable to a 9 foot depth up as far as the Twin Cities. Contracts on three locks and dams on the upper Mississippi are to be let tomorrow, and the other eight projects will be rushed, it was stated.

Confesses Part in Beating Girl, Fracturing Her Skull

Frank Hoffman Jr., 21 years old, 5400 West 23d street, and his brother-in-law, John Bennett of Syracuse, N. Y., here visiting the World's Fair, confessed to police last night that they assaulted Miss Bernice Daigle, 25 years old, 10752 Langley avenue, early Sunday with their fists. The assault occurred at Cottage Grove avenue and 108th street after the young woman, a saxophonist, alighted from a street car on her way home. She is in a serious condition, suffering from a fracture of the skull, at the St. Francis hospital.

HORNER NAMES ROBT. J. DUNHAM TO RELIEF BOARD

Forecast New Methods of Aiding Idle.

Robert J. Dunham, Chicago industrialist, was named by Gov. Horner yesterday to succeed Edward L. Ryerson Jr. as a member of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. Mr. Ryerson, who was chairman of the commission, presented his resignation several months ago because of the pressure of private business and recently insisted upon retiring.

ROBERT J. DUNHAM.

The appointment of Mr. Dunham was announced at Springfield. The commission elects its own chairman. Gov. Horner, in discussing the chairmanship, did not go beyond expressing his wish that Mr. Dunham would be chosen for that post. It is believed his wish will be followed.

The governor said he was highly pleased that Mr. Dunham had accepted.

"It's a tough job," the governor added.

Mr. Dunham, who returned from Springfield late in the afternoon, said he would give his entire time to his new position.

First Appointment to Board.

This is Gov. Horner's first appointment to the relief board. It is believed the step may be the forerunner of important changes in the methods of administering relief. There is one vacancy that may be filled and some of the present members are said to be willing to be relieved of their duties. They receive no compensation for this work.

With the appointment of Mr. Dunham, it was pointed out by politicians, Gov. Horner assumes control of the commission. Three Democratic state officials are members ex-officio. They are State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, State Treasurer John C. Martin, and Director of Finance Joseph J. Rice. One holdover member, William H. Sexton, corporation counsel of Chicago, also is close to the state administration. The other holdovers are Omer H. Wright of Belvidere, Victor A. Olander of Chicago, representing labor, George A. Barr of Joliet, and Paul Abt of East St. Louis.

The report that extensive changes in relief methods may be expected is based partly on an editorial in the Public Service Leader, a weekly newspaper, under the date of Sept. 18. This paper is labeled "the official publication of the regular Democratic organization in Illinois" and on its editorial page lists as members of its editorial advisory board Gov. Horner and other party leaders.

Fails to Meet Problem.

"The present relief commission," reads the editorial in part, "has failed utterly to deal properly with the problem which it was appointed to solve. It has wasted millions. It has encouraged pauperism by providing food and clothing to men and women who will not work."

Mr. Dunham, who is slated to become chairman, has not been identified closely with the regular organization but he has been an active Democrat recently. He was prominent in the movement that put forward Melvin A. Traylor as a presidential candidate in the Roosevelt campaign. He has been mentioned as a possible appointee to a diplomatic post.

CRA TO SEE HORNER

Newton C. Farr, chairman of the executive committee of the Chicago recovery administration, and H. H. Haylett, Douglas Sutherland, and William Stelzer, all members of the committee, left yesterday for Springfield, where they had an appointment with Gov. Horner.

They carried with them the petition of the CRA that he include in the matter to be legislated upon by the coming special session of the general assembly a comprehensive tax reform program designed to relieve the financial troubles of local governments in Cook county.

ARREST EX-FIREMAN AS HE TRIES TO CASH STOLEN CITY CHECK

Bernard A. Sweeney, 40 years old, 4022 Kenmore avenue, who was dismissed from the fire department on Aug. 16 for insubordination, was arrested yesterday when he tried to cash a stolen city pay check at The Fair store. The check was one of eleven taken from the city controller's office on Tuesday.

Sweeney, who had a charge account at the store, cashed a stolen check for $150 on the same day that the theft was discovered. The signatures of an assistant paymaster and the employé whose name appeared on the check had been forged.

Yesterday Sweeney appeared again at the store with another forged check, for $417, and was arrested by Sergt. William Bergen of the detective bureau. Sweeney asserted that he had been given the checks by one Hank Miller, who paid him $15 for cashing the check Tuesday. Store officials said, however, that he had applied $50 of the first check on his own bill at the store.

USE OF GAS TAX FOR RELIEF HIT IN COURT ACTION

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Diversion of gasoline tax revenue to help meet the mounting cost of relief today was attacked in an injunction suit against the 20 million dollar bond issue approved last year. The action directly threatened the 30 million dollar issue proposed for the Oct. 3 special session of the legislature.

If the injunction is granted during the November term of Sangamon county Circuit court and upheld on appeals, property taxes must be increased to pay interest and retire the bonds provided by the third special session last year and approved by a referendum in November.

Although state officials withheld comment, it was indicated they would oppose the suit.

A virtually identical bill for a bond issue of 30 million dollars is to be placed before the legislature next month so that relief financing can be continued.

The administration plans to retire its proposed bonds by the same method of using gasoline tax money which would otherwise go to counties for road work.

SEVEN KIDNAP SUSPECTS SEEN BY O'CONNELL

Voices of 2, Handcuffs Are Familiar.

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The kidnaping of John J. O'Connell Jr. of Albany, four bank robberies, and at least five murders, were declared solved or near solution by police today. That announcement followed the arrest of five men and two women and the seizure of a small arsenal in Mt. Kisco, N. Y.

O'Connell, a National Guard lieutenant and nephew of Albany's two Democratic leaders, made a flying trip to New York with District Attorney Delaney of that county. After looking over the five men, O'Connell said Leonard Scarnici, 27, of Mt. Kisco, and Anthony Reino, 23, of Manhattan, "resembled" the men who had kidnaped him, held him captive and collected $40,000 ransom for his release.

Say Scarnici Seeks Deal.

Detectives who questioned Scarnici quoted him as saying of the O'Connell case:

"I'll not talk about that until I get some consideration."

Police said they could prove Scarnici had visited Albany twice while O'Connell was held captive, and talked with John Oley, one of the go-betweens, and visited Albany again just after Labor day and talked with Mannie Strewl, under indictment there in connection with the kidnaping.

O'Connell was not positive about Scarnici and Reino, but was about the handcuffs found in an apartment in Webster avenue. He said he knew that because of patches of rust and because one of them had certain notches. He added the men's voices all sounded familiar. He said he only had fleeting glimpses of his captors during the 23 days he was held.

Two Held for Murder.

After having been questioned all day, Scarnici and Reino were held on charges of homicide and robbery. Philip Zeigler, 32, of Brooklyn; Charles Shore, alias Herzog, 35, of the Bronx; and Fred Plantl, 27, of Manhattan, all were booked on charges of robbery.

The two women, Eleanore Scarnici, wife of Scarnici, and Emma Russo, described as the wife of Reino, whose alias was Russo, were booked on charges of "acting in concert." The charges may be changed to violation of the Sullivan law, detectives said, because of guns and ammunition found in the Mt. Kisco address of Scarnici, where the women were arrested. A machine gun and other weapons were there.

Assistant Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan declared the roundup had accounted for at least $250,000 and perhaps more stolen in the last year or so.

Charges Two With Murder.

Capt. Richard Oliver, who engineered the arrests, listed the Rensselaer bank robbery of more than a year ago in which Detective James A. Stevens was killed, as among the works of Scarnici and Reino. It was in that case the two were held on charges of homicide. He also listed as feats of the gang the robberies of the Manhattan Trust company's branch in Nicholas avenue, on Dec. 15, 1932, in which $11,000 was stolen; the Public National Bank and Trust company, on Oct. 15, 1932, in which $12,000 was stolen, and the Savings Bank of Richmond Hill, on Aug. 5, 1932, in which $10,000 was stolen.

Another crime attributed to them was the robbery of the fur firm of Blum and Taylor, on Feb. 20 of this year, in which $19,000 in furs was stolen.

The police said they expected the arrests also would clear up the murders of Marcel Poffo and Max Parkin, who were members of the gang when the Rensselaer robbery took place.

EXTORTION NOTE AFTER RELEASE IS SHOWN LUER JURY

Demands $16,000 of Alton Banker.

Edwardsville, Ill., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The text of a note demanding $16,000 received by August Luer, Alton, Ill., banker, following his release by kidnapers, was introduced here late today at the trial of six alleged abductors.

Previous to reading of the note alleged confessions made by all the defendants, admitting participation in the kidnap plot, were read to the jury.

State's Attorney L. M. Geers seeks to send the five men and one woman on trial to the electric chair. Luer was released without payment of ransom after being held five days.

New Demand Made.

"We are glad you got home all right," the note demanding the $16,000 began. "Hoping you appreciate the fact we let you go home on account of your age and your wife, but as you know we could have held you indefinitely so we expect you to be a man of your word and comply with our demand of today which saves you about $75,000 and probably your life and your wife from a nervous breakdown.

"And in the future if our demand is not met there is eight of us so there will be some of us left regardless of what you may try to do if you do not comply according to our demand in every respect your family is too large to be protected at all times, and we have sent some away for that purpose so be awful careful and don't show this to no law or any one whom may cause us any trouble.

"We are only going to ask for $16,000 and expect you to do everything in your power to see that we get it without any interference from any law. Z. X. X."

Given Instructions.

Directions were included in the note ordering Luer to have a sign reading "For Sale Cash" posted in front of an Alton residence if the plan was "O. K."

"If not 'O. K.' sign to read 'For Sale,'" the note instructed.

The last purported confession given to the jury was that of Christ Nicola Gitcho, his alleged oral statement that Randol Norvell, another defendant, came to him a few days prior to the kidnaping and arranged to hide the victim in the basement of Gitcho's store.

A few hours after the kidnaping Gitcho saw "an old man whose eyes were taped" brought upstairs from the basement.

It was at that time, other defendants are alleged to have told investigators, that Luer was removed to the farm of Mike Musiala, a third defendant.

Other witnesses had told of alleged confessions from Percy M. Fitzgerald, St. Louis ex-convict, Mrs. Lillian Chessen, that she pointed out Luer as a desirable kidnap victim, and her husband, Charles Chessen.

Lawyers argued at length as to how much of these statements should go to the jury.

BANDIT STEALS TAXICAB.

THREATS CAUSE EXTRA GUARDS AT KIDNAP TRIAL

Machine Gunner Warns of Murder Fund,

that as far back as last January the first movement of the underworld began toward the Urschel home. From Denver, Omaha, Kansas City, Arkansas, and Texas points they were sent to the T. M. Coleman farm near Stratford, Okla., which the prosecution contends was an information clearing house.

Plot Fully Developed.

The Colemans themselves were not implicated, but they are the parents of Mrs. Ora L. Shannon of Paradise, Tex., one of the defendants, and grandparents of Mrs. Shannon's daughter, Kelly's wife. The kidnaping was on July 22. Hotels in Hot Springs, Ark.; Oklahoma City, and Wichita Falls, Tex., were named as meeting places for the gang during the interim.

J. Klar, Fort Worth firearms dealer, was detained briefly after he had testified that he sold a machine gun to Kelly's wife for $250 after purchasing it from a Birmingham, Ala., salesman for $125. He was released on his promise to return here after a trip to Fort Worth.

Arthur Seelligson, brother-in-law of Urschel, testified that Lyall Barnhart, Oklahoma city banker, assisted the family in obtaining the money—$200,000, all in $20 bills—from local, Kansas City and St. Louis banks.

E. E. Kirkpatrick, Tulsa district manager of the Urschel oil interests, positivitly identified Kelly by photographs as the "nervous" young man to whom he delivered the satchel of bills near the La Salle hotel in Kansas City.

Return of Urschel was promised in 12 hours, but 27 hours later Urschel was dropped out of a car near Norman, 20 miles south of Oklahoma City. His captors apologized to him for the delay.

Follows Ad in Paper.

Instructions for delivery of the ransom came in a letter from Joplin, Mo., after he had made contact with the kidnapers through a want ad in an Oklahoma city newspaper, Kirkpatrick explained.

Following the directions Kirkpatrick boarded a train for Kansas City and stood on the rear platform throughout the night watching for two signal fires along the right-of-way. He was to toss off the money satchel at the second fire. If there were no fires he was to take the ransom to Kansas City and register at a hotel under an assumed name.

Seeing no fires, he proceeded to the hotel, where he received a telephone call to take a taxi to the La Salle hotel, "then get out and walk west and I will meet you."

Half a block from the hotel Kirkpatrick sat down with the satchel between his feet and lit a cigaret. A moment later the man he identified as Kelly walked nervously to him and the money was handed over.

Kelly Well Protected.

Across the street Kirkpatrick saw two large cars, each containing three men, the machines headed in opposite directions. Just up the street was another machine, a smaller one.

"Were you unarmed as they instructed?" Kirkpatrick was asked.

"I had an automatic shoved inside my belt, but I didn't figure it would do me much good if they meant trouble. I thought if they started shooting I might get one of them," he answered.

Kirkpatrick, a good shot, is a former newspaperman from Brownwood, Tex., and once was a member of the Texas Rangers.

Met Kelly in Chicago.

C. B. Winstead, department of justice agent who guarded Bailey in the Dallas, Tex., jail said the outlaw never had told him his mission to the R. G. Shannon farm, on which he was arrested at 6 a. m. Aug. 12.

"He talked to me about George Kelly," the witness testified. "He said he got acquainted with him in Chicago, dealing in alcohol. He said he came down to the Shannon farm to look it over, to see how it would be to install a whisky still there. He said they tested the water and found it contained too much mineral."

Garibaldi Legion Pays Tribute to "Liberator"

More than 300 members of the Legione Garibaldi assembled yesterday in Lincoln park to pay tribute to the memory of Giuseppe Garibaldi, Italian patriot and liberator. A wreath was placed on the statue of Garibaldi, honored by history as the man who united Italy into a powerful nation, by the Italian-American members of the legione.

TALK OF OUSTING CURRY TO SAVE GOTHAM TICKET

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Tammany Hall found itself in the middle of a whirlwind within its own house tonight as the aftermath of yesterday's primary.

Action of the voters in nominating Frank J. Prial, independent, for controller over the Tammany choice and in defeating three of Boss John F. Curry's ace district leaders brought to a head the demand of the rank and file for a "new deal" in Democratic party control.

There were immediate rumors that the influence of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and of Postmaster General James A. Farley would be sought in an effort to oust Boss Curry, without waiting for the outcome of the November election. The fear was openly expressed that F. H. La Guardia and his fellow Republican fusionists will sweep into office unless heroic measures are adopted.

It was admitted that Roosevelt and Farley will keep hands off the local election, so long as Curry remains in power, and anti-Curry forces are talking of trying to oust Curry at the forthcoming meeting of the newly elected district captains.

May Even Lose Mayoralty.

Curry's control of Tammany has been by a slender margin, now greatly reduced by his losses at the polls. If he makes a fight to hold on and wins, and keeps Mayor John P. O'Brien in the race for mayor, many observers believe that Tammany will lose the election for the first time since John Purroy Mitchel led the fusionists to victory in 1914.

With Curry out of the picture it is reported from Washington that Roosevelt and Farley may get behind the local Democratic ticket in the November election in the hope of saving the party's face in the nation's greatest city.

Despite the crushing blow of the primary, Curry continued to express confidence in the reëlection of Mayor O'Brien. Instead of taking the defeat of John N. Harman for the controllership as an omen of what may be expected in November, he professed to see added strength for Tammany in having Prial on the ticket.

Prial and Curry Friends?

Since Prial ran strictly as anti-Tammany in the primary and defeated the Tammany choice by 88,135 majority, it was hard to fathom Curry's attitude. However, Curry and O'Brien got busy at once to appease Prial. The mayor phoned his congratulations and issued a statement saying he and Prial had worked together for years as friends, and that he expected to continue to pull with Prial.

The latter appeared mollified to some extent tonight, and said that he had won the nomination on the Democratic ticket and that it was up to him to support the whole ticket. Foes of Tammany had hoped that Prial might ignore the rest of the ticket, including O'Brien.

La Guardia, the fusionist nominee for mayor, was asked if he thought Prial might be elected.

"It's all over," La Guardia replied. "Curryism is dead. The fusionists will sweep in. The people know that he will need a united board of estimate to clean up the mess created by Tammany."

A striking feature of Prial's primary victory is the fact that city hall civil service workers, on the pay roll by tens of thousands, bolted solidly for Prial. Policemen, firemen, school teachers—all joined in the blow at Tammany. The explanation may partly lie in the fact that Prial, as deputy controller, opposed city pay cuts and stood up for the employés.

Others Are Uneasy.

The Tammany worry extends to other borough bosses as well as Curry. In Brooklyn John H. McCooey is tottering on his throne. He failed to carry even his own borough for Harman. The leadership of John Theofel of Queens also is threatened. Mr. Prial carried Queens by 33,802. David S. Rendt, Richmond Democratic leader, suffered a crushing defeat by the nomination of Charles F. Pallister, real estate man, for borough president.

The only county leader to escape a slap in the face was Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn of the Bronx, a protégé of Roosevelt and Farley.

British Government Accepts French Armament Thesis

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Spirited activity was evident in Whitehall today as the British cabinet assembled in an emergency session to consider the disarmament news brought back from Paris by Capt. Anthony Eden, foreign undersecretary. Capt. Eden's conversations in Paris Monday resulted in a complete reversal of the British disarmament conference program.

Prime Minister MacDonald presided at today's cabinet meeting, where Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon and Capt. Eden, who had previously been in conference, presented in detail the French proposals. Not until today did the British government have a comprehensive idea of what it is France wants.

Sir John Going to Paris.

Until a late hour this afternoon semi-official assurances were being given that Sir John would not go to Paris. After the cabinet session, however, it was announced that both he and Capt. Eden would leave for Geneva tomorrow. This will allow them plenty of time to talk with French officials in Paris en route.

A new tenor was evident after the cabinet session, in which the "reasonableness" of the French attitude came in for considerable emphasis. It was learned that the British had agreed to scrap one of their chief differences with the French on supervision of armaments. The French want automatic arms inspection, whereas the British have been pressing for an international investigation only after a specific complaint had been lodged against a particular country. This, however, will not be allowed now to stand in the way of an agreement.

There is good reason for believing that MacDonald now believes the time has come when an agreement must be reached or the whole Geneva conference break up with dangerous political results. How much his attitude is influenced by developments in Germany was not revealed, but the French and British are nearer an understanding than they have been throughout the summer.

The agreement now swings chiefly, it is said, on French opposition to any disarmament whatever until the trial period of inspection is completed and to the Anglo-American insistence on some disarmament "on account." There are other questions of almost equal prominence, however, among which are those of continental land effectives and Franco-Italian adherence to the London naval treaty.

Eye U. S. Navy Program.

In this latter connection the British are beginning to mention the American 10,000 ton cruiser program. There is no question of an official protest, however, since Secretary of the Navy Swanson's program lies strictly within the treaty commitments.

The projected American building program has renewed the old differences between the American navy department and the British admiralty. British cruisers built and building are chiefly of 7,500 tons, because these are peculiarly suited to British needs, whereas American admirals have always advocated heavier craft, with longer cruising radius, for the United States as better fitted for American purposes.

The matter has been brought up purely with regard to its effect on the disarmament atmosphere, it is explained here. The British contend that a "bad impression" might be created in other countries by the American naval building program.

German State Dissolves Christian Scientists Union

WEIMAR, Germany, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Thuringian government today prohibited and dissolved the Free Christian Scientists union. The property and funds of the union were confiscated. The action was taken under the terms of a decree, signed by President von Hindenburg March 28, which was designed, the government announced, to effect "the protection of the state and the people."

BANDITS TAKE CASH AND TOPCOAT.

MISSING TRUCK DRIVERS TELL OF $20,000 HIJACKING

Four Chicago truck drivers and a private detective, missing since Monday night, appeared yesterday in Monroe, Mich., and reported that a gang of masked hi-jackers, armed with machine guns, had seized two truckloads of merchandise near Columbus, Ind. The victims are Michael Sorowski, 1117 Kimball avenue; Walter Lorek, 12033 South Halsted street; Edward Premel, 5723 Normandy avenue; Richard Beaschdill, 6406 Ellis avenue, and Detective A. L. Parks, 6929 Damon street.

A. L. PARKS.

The truck drivers, employed by the Mutual Trucking company, 532 South Canal street, were en route from Louisville, Ky., to Chicago. They said that the gunmen, at least a dozen of them, surrounded the trucks near Columbus Monday night.

More than 28,000 pounds of tobacco and merchandise, valued at $20,000, were removed from the trucks.

Hospital Call Answered by Patrolman Pickering

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 20. — (AP) — "Calling car number 16; calling car number 16."

Patrolman Claude Pickering pricked up his ears. No. 16 was his car. He jotted down notes as the police announcer continued: "Special message for Officer Pickering. Your wife just gave birth to a six pound boy. Both are doing nicely."

BANDITS ROB MEAT MARKET.

Two bandits entered the Manor meat market, 2003 West 63d street yesterday, and took $530 after locking the two butchers working there, Elmer Kasper and George Mitchell, in the ice box.

Suburban Police Plan Crime Clearing House

Plans for the establishment of a central bureau of records to be used as a crime clearing house for law enforcement agencies throughout the county were drawn yesterday at a meeting of suburban police chiefs at the detective bureau. The meeting was the last of a series held during the summer to discuss plans for closer coöperation between police bodies of the metropolitan area. Chief Richard A. Bailey of Maywood was appointed head of a committee to carry out the work of the clearing house in conjunction with Capt. William Killeen, who is in charge of the Chicago bureau of records.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

WILL THE REPUBLICAN PARTY COME BACK?

Political opposition this year is Fabian. It is in the hills and not on the plains. It avoids an issue and a conflict. The reason for this is found in the unwillingness of the opposition, which ultimately should be the Republican party, to take the position of obstruction. The government, a Democratic administration, is experimenting with great emergency measures which congress, in alarm, authorized. The political opponents of the administration do not want it said that these measures failed, if they do, because of political maneuvers against them. The administration makes a show of nonpartisanship and the opposition for the time declares a truce of politics.

This truce, in which criticism suspends judgment, has its unfortunate features, but they can hardly be avoided. The absence of criticism from the other side throws the administration back on self-criticism, which is not always reliable when great experiments are being undertaken in fields of great doubt, but it is unreasonable to expect that political criticism will put itself in a dangerous spot at such a moment. Therefore the Republicans are in the hills, awaiting the natural turn of events.

There is a congressional election next fall and then it may be expected the consequences of administrative policies will appear in such form that opposition will be either quickened to the attack or silenced by the success of what now is in doubt. Eventually the Republican party should be out in the open with a set of issues against the party in power. The Republican party has many wounds to heal and most of them self-inflicted. Its successes at the polls following the popular reaction against Mr. Wilson were so complete and convincing that they went to the party's head and it began to think of itself as invincible. This thinking resulted in the folly of a conclusion that whatever it did would receive the approval of the voters and that it and not the people determined how the country thought and what its wishes and purposes were. That was the high road to political failure when a Republican administration was caught in the storm of hard times. It had become high-hatted and high-handed and suffered the consequences.

The Republican party had forgotten—that is, its spokesmen and administrators had forgotten—what had made it the party accepted by the majority of American people. Its successes had ruined its judgment because it had ceased to perceive and be guided by the ideas which gained it the confidence of the people. For no reason at all it sold itself to the prohibition zealots, apparently with no perception of the revulsion against that intolerance now expressed in the vote for repeal. Again, for no reason at all, it adopted the tenets of Wilsonian internationalism from the party it had defeated upon that very question. Then again, having been the party of people wholly out of sympathy with the ideas of Lenin, Stalin, Zack Foster, Norman Thomas, or any exponents of any of the schools of socialistic or communistic philosophy from right to left, it began to dabble in parlor socialism. Even before the hard times had brought about the state of mind which wanted political change at any cost, the Republican party management had succeeded in becoming about everything the Republican voters didn't want. This political folly had the consequences anybody could have predicted for it.

When the Republican party was founded it prepared itself to present its candidate, Lincoln, with a statement of principles for which the free people of the north had been vainly seeking expression in the years before. The new party swept the loyal part of the country because it said just what these people thought. The other parties had opposed them or had failed them. The parties had gone far astray from the ideals and wishes of the people who were to determine the future of the United States and consequently were either moribund or were actively hostile to the American ideal. The Republican party succeeded because it was a genuine and honest expression of the great hopes of American people in the states which were to preserve the American government and nation under the constitution.

When the extraordinary disturbances which prevail in the United States today have somewhat subsided and when questions appear in greater clearness this old issue of American principles will certainly rise again. The American people have not agreed to change their order of society completely and irretrievably. The Democratic party may go so far as to find the retreat more difficult than the advance. There will be in opposition an opportunity to present the case of the well tried American system as against new and strange methods of government. If the Republican party, learning from experience, purges itself of the error and folly with which its management went astray, it will again be the party of constitutional Americanism. If its management has lost recuperative power the probabilities may include the development of another party. This is an extreme possibility. Adversity generally chastens and teaches, and behind the temporary cover of caution and consideration the regenerative forces of the old party may be gathering strength and wisdom. The present acts of government, accepted generally now as emergency necessities, create political issues which in due time must have more thoughtful decisions and which must stand the full attack of political criticism and opposition before they can become fixed by popular consent as principles of American government.

FEDERAL MONEY FOR THE OUTER BRIDGE.

Application will be made this week to the state advisory board on federal public works by the south park and Lincoln park boards for a federal loan for $6,800,000 to complete the outer drive bridge at the mouth of the Chicago river. The two parks offer bonds as collateral, the south park for $4,500,000 and Lincoln park for the balance. The hearing before the divisional advisory board is preliminary to a recommendation for approval at Washington.

Chicago, along with the entire region of which it is the economic center, has suffered from peculiar political disadvantages which deprive it of an influential voice before Washington authorities. If there is a lack of persuasiveness here, there surely has been a lack of clear seeing in the federal administration. The political disabilities of the Chicago region have resulted in an inequity in distribution of money for public works projects here, although not only equity but profitable public policy would combine to concentrate federal recovery funds in the region in which private enterprise is already showing its ability to make good progress against general conditions.

Among the projects considered, the outer drive bridge presents an unchallengeable claim for consideration. The security offered for the loan is as good as the federal government will find anywhere in the country and better than most it accepts. The enterprise will add to the comfort and convenience of many thousand people. When this bridge has been built the north and south traffic of Chicago will be greatly relieved. The count on the Michigan avenue bridge shows that nearly 70,000 cars cross it every twenty-four hours by the upper level. That is a count for a normal day. On special occasions the traffic cannot be handled with any dispatch. It is no exaggeration to say that something like a hundred thousand people would daily appreciate the advantages of a bridge joining the outer drive north and south. More people would be benefited in a short time than such a project as the Tennessee valley will benefit in many years.

The need is great, the employment relief would be considerable, the work is in shape to go ahead at once, and the investment is sound. If Chicago disabilities in Washington are not absurdly unreasonable, this loan, having received the indorsement of the local board, will have speedy attention. It is an unwise as well as an unfortunate policy which keeps noteworthy enterprises of the Chicago region on the chill side of federal vision and sympathy.

TRUCK LINES AND SUBURBS.

The opposition of north shore residents to applications for truck routes through the suburbs is a reasonable expression of the right of local control. Only the complete absence of alternatives and the necessity for traffic access through this district could justify the commerce commission in overruling it. There are, in fact, alternative, and we think much more justifiable, routes and they should be improved and utilized. The north shore district is a region of homes and has a right to protection. The convenience and profit of the truck lines should not outweigh it. A local district could not be permitted to block all passage or subject through traffic to unreasonable restraints and exactions. But on the other hand the mere convenience and profit of the truck lines, or even the general efficiency of their service, should not outbalance the rights of a community.

There should be established an adequate system of through traffic thoroughfares for Chicago, but in the meantime the rights and interests of residence neighborhoods should not be sacrificed to the advantage of truck lines.

A NATION.

The uninterrupted progress which has been made toward the ratification of the 21st amendment must be distressing to those who have said the American people is only a conglomeration of individuals, without any real claim to nationhood. If we are so completely devoid of common national aspirations and ideals it is strange, indeed, that Minnesota and Texas, New York and Iowa, came to the same conclusion on this politico-moral question. It can now be said with considerable assurance that the great majority of Americans everywhere in the country are firm believers in the right of a citizen to mind his own business; and, further, that the great majority of American citizens everywhere are unwilling to let the government regulate their private lives. There are few nations in the world which have by plebiscite shown themselves to be so unified on a fundamental concept of government.

Editorial of the Day

KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK.

[Rockford Register-Republic.]

Four police killers in a row have been convicted by Chicago juries, three of the hoodlums being sentenced to the electric chair and the fourth to 199 years in prison.

Belatedly, but nevertheless earnestly, the state's metropolis has been attacking its crime problem with an intensity which has produced excellent results.

Notice has been served on "cop haters" that no longer may they shoot down uniformed officers with impunity. Moving with a speed that seldom if ever before has been shown, Cook county courts have contrived to expedite the trials of these wanton killers and to obtain prompt convictions.

One result of the drive on crime has been to strengthen the backbones of state witnesses, rendering the prosecution's task easier and more certain of accomplishment. In former years gangsters and others on trial for major crimes used intimidation as a formidable weapon to defeat justice. Witnesses often disappeared, or, if compelled to testify, resorted to conveniently short memories to soften the effect of their charges against criminals.

Law enforcement agencies recognize the fact that there is nothing the hoodlum killer fears so much as speedy and certain trial, once he is captured. It is not difficult to sense the effect which the present crime drive in Chicago is having on the criminal element of the state's largest city.

Downstate, which so often in the past has heard promises of some such action, only to see the "drives" fizzle out into mere conversation, is both surprised and elated over results now being obtained. All we can say to Chicago is, "Keep up the good work; you've got the gangsters on the run!"

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE NUDISTS get a lot of very severe criticism, but you must admit they are striking a blow at one of our great basic industries which now holds us in its despotic sway—the bandit industry. Almost every day we read of bandits who have taken all of a gentleman's money at the point of a gun and made him take off his pants and hand them over—the idea being that most gentlemen are too proud to run down the street crying "Stop thief!" with their pants off. Now the Nudists come into the picture. The bandits can't make a Nudist gentleman take off his pants because he hasn't got any on. This is bound to cause embarrassment in the bandit industry and a slackening in its activities which will result in fewer gentlemen being compelled to hide in alleyways until they can find a barrel.

A BIRTHDAY POESY.

What happiness is rich enough to wish
And fair and sweet enough to compensate
For all that one possesses in his world?

Yet never leaves love's dear, enchanted land;
Each day we walk together, sing, plan brightly,
Meet merry suns and sad rains, hand in hand.

Dwelling upon a sacred, trust-made island,
By children's heavened laughter set apart
From storms of doubt and worldliness and falsehood—
Live we forever thus, heart of my heart!

THE SOLICITOR.

AND HERE the season's almost opening and there's been no scandal about college football players being hired by the alumni. If somebody doesn't start something pretty soon we're liable to stay home and play checkers.

WHEN I HEARD about the government slaughtering all the little pigs and mamma pigs to raise the price on pigs' knuckles and pork chops and sausage I jumped to the conclusion that bacon and ham and things like that must be too low. Naturally, or else why would the government want to raise the price on me, a nice boy trying to get on in the world? So I hurried right over to Rush street expecting to buy a couple of pounds of ham for a nickel. And when the butcher said that two pounds of ham would set me back eighty cents, honestly, you could have knocked me down by just waving a fan dancer's fan at me. Forty cents a pound! And yet the government wants it to cost more. And all anybody can do is to sit down and mop his forehead and gasp feebly: "Hey, government! What's the big idea?"

AND WE ALL GROAN when we buy underwear and other things made out of cotton, and yet the government is making the cotton planters plow their crops under so that there'll be less cotton, and consequently the things manufactured from it will cost a great deal more. But who the heck wants to pay more? I don't. No, whatever trouble this may get me into, even Atlanta or Leavenworth, again I raise my all too feeble voice and say distinctly, I don't!

THE DOCTORS THINK they've found a cure for sleeping sickness, and they're trying it out in St. Louis and other points where the malady has raged. But there will be no real test until December and they have a chance to try out the new remedy on congress.

AND WHILE the government is killing the little pigs and having the cotton plowed under and de-wheating the wheat fields, why isn't something done about the hot dogs? If the little piggies have to be slaughtered, then turn out the marines and have 'em shoot the hot dogs at sunrise. Or why wait for sunrise? Bang! and another hot dog bites the dust!

THE QUESTION IS ASKED these days, since beer has been made accessible to one and all, do people drink beer instead of gin? It's hard to answer; many people drink more beer, but they pour their gin in it.

IN OLD JAPAN.

In far away Japan a boy once tasted
He wanted her to marry him, the tale goes,
But she was drunk with power, and would be sure.

She told him he could have her only after
He killed his Mother, and cut out her heart,
That she might hold it safely in her keeping
As token of the love that he'd impart.

The boy was sunk in sorrow, and he pleaded
His love to spare him from a crime so vile,
But always she withheld herself, demanding
That he must first his Mother-love defile.

So finally, in a rage of desperation,
His Mother's dying body he explored,
And put her bleeding heart upon a platter
To take it to the girl whom he adored.

But as he crossed the street, in haste, he stumbled,
The heart fell in a pool of dripping blood,
And spoke to him, as he lay in the gutter,
"My poor boy, are you hurt?" the dead heart said.

INSOMNIPHOBIA AND SOMETHING ELSE.

A YOUNG lady writes an eight page letter in which she relates details of her troubles. For some purposes what she writes could be condensed into two sentences—one a statement of fact, the other a question: "I have insomnia. What can I do about it?"

She sleeps well enough apparently. She says some nights she sleeps like a log. Plainly, her trouble with insomnia is relatively unimportant. At worst, she could be called a poor sleeper.

Her trouble is worry lest she will not sleep. Her worry starts in the morning. By noon it has her pretty well tired out. On the days when worrying is extra good she can manage to worry about what may happen two or more nights away.

There are a great many persons who say they have insomnia who really have insomniphobia. But that is a somewhat narrow view of the girl's case. She has a psychoneurosis of a mixed psychasthenia and hysteria type. Her brain does not work right. This does not mean she is insane nor that she will ever be. She has brains enough and her thinking organs should be able to work all right, but they do not. A form of fear called anxiety is the principal reason her thinking wabbles.

The people with phobias are psychasthenics—and there are a multitude of them. In this case the young lady complicates her thinking somewhat by a habit of exaggeration which gets her pretty close to the hysteria class, if not in it. It is true that most of her exaggeration consists in the use of terms of exaggeration rather than in acts or symptoms, it being impossible to judge with certainty from a letter how much physical, mental, and behavior basis there is for the extravagant phrases used.

All of this may sound rather cloudy and vaporous, but where we call attention to the young lady's statement that she is all tired out in the morning, a night's sleep has not eased her mind of a sense of fatigue, we bring the subject within the range of experience of many people. Those who complain that they are all tired out in the morning, that a good night's sleep does not rest them, brand themselves as psychoneurotics, and most of them of the psychasthenia group.

And now for the young woman's question. What can she do about it? Such cases have no organic diseases or, if they happen to have any, they are not connected with the anxiety responsible for the trouble. Nothing is gained, so far as the phobia is concerned, by probing around looking for organic trouble. They are untrained or wrongly trained. The treatment for them consists in mental training. The psychoneurotics are constitutional leaners and, in the main, every one must train himself. It is not easy to get a psychoneurotic to undertake self-training and it is not likely he will carry it through. But that is the line on which efforts and cure must run.

SYMPTOMS OF CANCER.

P. R. G. writes: What are the symptoms of cancer of the breast?

REPLY.

A tumor in the breast is the first sign. There is but one at first and for a long time. A cancerous tumor grows faster than one that is not cancerous. It has more of a feel of being anchored than is the case with benign tumors. As time goes on this becomes more marked. Pain and tenderness are rather late symptoms. Retraction of the nipple is apt to be present, but not early. Enlargement of the glands in the armpit is a late sign. Anemia and loss of weight are very late symptoms—later than pain.

FRIEND OF THE FARMER

If you own or operate a farm and are puzzled about the new governmental regulations restricting crop production, the new credit arrangements for farm land, or how to combat insect or disease pests, write to the "Friend of the Farmer," CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

V. B. K. asks: How long a period of repayment is allowed on government farm loans and what is the rate of interest? Are there extra charges on the loan?

Answer: Payments on loans may be made annually or semi-annually over a period not longer than 40 years, the first three years of which the borrower is not required to pay upon principal if all other provisions of the mortgage, including interest payments, are fulfilled. The borrower pays the cost of appraisal, determination of title and recording fees, and each loan application must be accompanied by an initial fee of $10, the unused portion of which is refunded if the application is rejected.

J. K. T. asks: What is to prevent a man from taking the wheat payments from the government this fall and then planting his full wheat acreage?

Answer: His contract with the government is canceled upon recommendation of the county wheat production control association, and the government will collect the advance payment from him. He also forfeits payments that would have been made on the contract in 1934 and 1935.

NRA Question Box

Requests for information concerning the NRA will be printed in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly. Following are some typical questions occasioned by the national recovery act and their answers:

Question—Has the government appointed men to solicit funds for the NRA campaign?

Answer—No one has received such appointment.

Question—I work for a storage battery manufacturer. Has a code been submitted for such firms?

Answer—Yes, a code for this industry has been submitted, but not approved to date. Hours are 40 a week. Executives, administrative, technical and sales employés are not covered by maximum hours. Wages are 40 cents an hour, or hourly rate prevailing on July 15, 1929, if less than 40 cents, but in no event less than 30 cents an hour.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFE TIME

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

LAW DEFINED.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What procedure should one follow in purchasing a piece of real estate or farm property? 2. What is an easement? 3. If a testator is domiciled in one state and dies, leaving property in another, will it be necessary to have administration in the latter state? 4. What is meant by a principal note and so many interest coupons? 5. What is an extension agreement? 6. What is meant by a second mortgage and junior mortgage? 7. What is meant by a trust deed? 8. What is meant by a tax sale? 9. Who buys the property in event of such sale? E. E. H.

1. It is nearly always advisable for a purchaser of real estate to employ an attorney throughout, and we advise you to employ one now.

2. It is the right of one person to use real estate belonging to another.

3. It seems probable that filing a transcript of the proceedings will be enough.

4. The term seems self-explanatory to us. If you will indicate more precisely what it is that is obscure to you, we will endeavor to advise.

5. The commonest application of the term is to an agreement extending the maturity date of a mortgage.

6. A second mortgage is a junior mortgage. It is subject to a first mortgage.

7. In Illinois, instead of a borrower conveying title to his creditor by mortgage, he commonly conveys it to a third party by a trust deed to secure the loan.

8. When taxes are not paid the county clerk offers the property at tax sale to the person who will pay the taxes for the smallest penalty.

9. Ordinarily, a professional tax buyer.

RENT PAYMENTS.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am at present renting a furnished barber shop in one of the loop buildings. My lease runs to May 1. I wish to break the lease, as I already owe two months' rent and cannot possibly pay it. Can they make me sign notes for the two months rent that I owe and for breaking the lease? I own no property. S. M.

You are already liable for the rent that you agreed to pay, hence we see no importance to the signing of a note. Literally, they cannot force you to sign.

REPUBLICANISM.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 17.—In today's front page editorial of THE TRIBUNE appears another gleam of hope for those who love their country. Once more it seems THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE will "furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

Let the Republican party or any party assemble in convention in 1936 and adopt the constitution of the United States, with the addition of an emergency clause as their platform, vigorously inform the voters of their action, and the present day penetration of our government by socialism will be stopped at the first opportunity we have of expressing ourselves. JOSEPH E. HANEY.

TOO DEEP FOR HIM.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The writer is 70 years old. Have had a fairly good education. Speaks several languages. Traveled much. A reader of THE TRIBUNE ever since I was able to read newspapers. Most of the time voted Republican ticket. Voted Democratic last two national tickets.

Now to get down to brass tacks. What in the name of common sense do you mean by editorial on front page? Reminds me of small town newspapers. I am willing to wager that 90 per cent of your readers could not make head nor tail out of it and, like myself, wish you would use language that the masses or ordinary people could understand.

Your editorials are seldom read and I am sure from a number of people I have spoken to yesterday and this morning your front page article has been passed over as too deep for any one with less than a college education.

Am fully aware you are capable of running your paper without outside assistance. This is my first attempt to aid any publication, but a hint may be of some value even to a paper like yours. FRANK W. LITTLE.

RIGHTEOUS INDIGNATION.

Wichita, Kas., Sept. 12.—Gratitude of the American people is due to THE TRIBUNE for its splendid fight upon governmental extravagance. Your recent editorial pointing out that it would have been well had congress adjourned after passing the first two or three important bills was very much in order. It is not pleasant to contemplate the immense distribution of public money now taking place all over the country, and particularly in the agricultural districts, for the avowed purpose of restoring prosperity by artificial means while maintaining with increasing force the monstrous system of taxation which is responsible for the business depression.

A Muskogee newspaper tells the story of an Oklahoma cotton raiser who, while plowing under the allotted acres of his growing cotton crop, after a while revolted at this act of destroying good property and, leaving his plow in the furrow, came away from his field with tears streaming down his face. He hid to get some one else to finish the job. This was, of course, the natural reaction against the unholy program which has been put in force by the agricultural department. And when we contemplate the fact that all of this is being paid for by taxpayers who will have to pay an artificially high price for cotton, wheat, and other products which are similarly favored by the NRA, then righteous indignation against the whole program is complete. HENRY WARE ALLEN.

HOODLUMS ON TRIAL.

Berwyn, Ill., Sept. 18.—Crime can never be effectively abated while judges, bailiffs, lawyers and citizens treat criminals as personal friends and shower attention upon them.

In the recent vagrancy trials it was surprising to see the number of people from all walks of life make every possible effort to comfort these hoodlums. One would think from observation that the people as a whole are wholeheartedly in favor of a continuation of their activities.

I believe if citizens would look and act with utter disfavor toward these men it would assist materially in reducing the braggadocio attitude the hoodlums now take toward the administration of justice. WESLEY W. HOWE.

HITLER TO LEND 125 MILLION FOR REPAIRING HOMES

Announces Program for Stimulating Business.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—"The bolshevist ideal of a gradual decline of the level of civilization must inevitably lead to the destruction of trade and industry. The communist cult of primitiveness—systematic restriction of requirement—must be fought before everything."

Chancellor Hitler made this declaration today before a meeting of the German council of trade and industry, at which Dr. Kurt Schmitt, minister of economics, announced the government's new program for stimulating business in Germany and combating unemployment.

Wider Powers for Reichsbank.

"The backward development to primitiveness," Hitler added, "has led to a cowardly anxiety and surrender which constitutes an enormous danger for mankind. The decisive point is not that all should restrict but that all should endeavor to advance and improve. German business can exist only if requirements are kept at a certain height and under certain cultural demands of the German people."

The government's plans embrace wider powers for the Reichsbank, which will enable it to help the capital market, Dr. Schmitt said in explaining the new program. The flow of hoarded monies to the capital market will also be encouraged, he said. The government and the Reichsbank are both determined that the Reichsbank's greater powers will be exercised only with most conscientious regard to currency stability, Dr. Schmitt asserted. He also declared his determination to maintain present levels of wages and prices.

Aid for Property Owners.

Agriculture and building are the two key industries, Schmitt said. On condition that property owners expend $500,000,000 for house repairs and extensions, $125,000,000 will be advanced to property owners by the government for that purpose, he announced. Burdens of loans which houseowners must thus raise will be eased by a reduction of the tax on rent collections.

Farmers will receive their share of contributions by the government, the minister said. The turnover tax on agricultural produce will be reduced to 1 per cent, while payments by farmers of the landed property tax will be cut by $25,000,000 yearly under the new program, he announced.

Schmitt also announced that the council had authorized the consolidation of municipal short term credits, estimated to total about $500,000,000, into long term debentures bearing 4 per cent interest for five years and 3 per cent thereafter.

Foreign Debts Not Affected.

Dissatisfied creditors, who decline to accept the conversion bonds, will receive neither interest nor principal payments for the next five years.

"The disastrous shrinkage of trade and industry in all industrial lands, especially Germany and the United States, is fundamentally caused by a decline in orders for industrial renewals and new investments," Schmitt said. "If these are countered, then a most important advance will be made toward economic recovery."

MOSCOW ANGERED BY NAZI RAID ON CLUB OF BERLIN SOVIET COLONY

MOSCOW, Sept. 20.—A Nazi raid on the Soviet club in Berlin last Saturday night, only a short while after Ambassador Khinchuk of the soviet union had left a reception given to there, is featured indignantly on the front pages of soviet newspapers today. The newspaper Izvestia says sarcastically:

"On the very evening when the German foreign minister [Von Neurath] told the foreign press about his hopes for the fruitful development of friendly relations with the U. S. S. R., Nazi storm troops and police committed an unprecedentedly insolent raid on the club of the soviet colony. The soviet press did not comment on Von Neurath's speech, but the Nazi raiders have done it for him with an act that speaks louder than words. How can foreign countries put confidence in the statements of German political leaders when such Nazi action thus immediately contradicts them."

The Pravda writes in a similar vein referring also to the exclusion of soviet press correspondents from the Leipzig trial and to the charges against the soviet embassy and the soviet trade delegation, allegedly based on "official information." The Pravda concludes: "Despite Foreign Minister Von Neurath, it is clear that the policy of pinpricks toward the soviet union is in no wise to be discontinued."

NAZIS PLACE 5 ON TRIAL TODAY FOR REICHSTAG FIRE

Accused Face Death for High Treason.

LEIPZIG, Germany, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Preparations were complete tonight for the beginning of the trial here tomorrow of five men charged with setting fire to the reichstag building on Feb. 27 shortly before the election which strengthened the position of Chancellor Adolf Hitler and his Nazi party. The defendants, who are accused of high treason, face death by hanging if found guilty.

The hearings will be held under the presidency of Wilhelm Bunger, former premier of Saxony, in the historic audience hall where most of the high treason cases have been tried in recent years. These included the Kapp putsch of 1922 and the reichswehr officers' trial of 1930 in which Hitler made his famous pronouncement that heads "will roll" upon the accession of the Nazis.

On the eve of the trial Alfons Sack, attorney for Ernst Torgler, one of the defendants who was the former communist party whip in the reichstag, declared he learned nothing of material value by attendance at the sessions of an "international jurists' commission" investigating the blaze in a mock trial at London.

More than 100 witnesses have been called to testify here, where the hearings will continue until Oct. 9. The trial then will be transferred to Berlin for the hearing of additional testimony.

Karl August Werner, chief state's attorney, will head the prosecution staff. The defense of Marinus Van der Luebbe, Dutch communist, who was seized at the reichstag at the time of the fire, has been placed in the hands of a Leipzig lawyer, Philip Seuffert, were probably will be assisted by a Dutch attorney.

Take Great Precautions.

Extraordinary precautions will be taken in and around the Palace of Justice. All persons entering the building will be searched for arms, and airplane flights will be prohibited over a wide radius. Amateur photographers will not be allowed to take pictures either within or without the court.

There will be a host of legal luminaries at the trial from many countries, including Arthur Garfield Hays of the United States, one of the participants in the mock trial.

The defendants will be taken to the courtroom daily in automobiles. Besides Van der Luebbe and Torgler the accused are Wasil Taneff, Georgi Dimitroff and Blagoi Popoff, all Bulgarian communists.

"Finds" Nazis Guilty.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The German Nazi party was itself "found guilty" of setting fire to the reichstag building on Feb. 27 in the "decision" handed down tonight by the self-appointed commission of lawyers assembled in London for an unofficial trial of the case—a mock trial.

The findings, which required more than an hour to read, were delivered by D. N. Pritt, British barrister who presided. They dealt at length with the politics and moral characters of the five accused who will face trial before a German court at Leipzig tomorrow. Of these four communists were "acquitted" while the fifth, the Dutch agitator, Marinus Van der Luebbe, was practically branded a tool of the Nazis.

The commission confessed it had not been able to hear the other side of the story. Nor had counsel representing the other side been able to cross-examine the admittedly biased witnesses. But, the conclusion stated, any fair court of justice would examine the evidence produced by the unofficial London hearings.

The commission easily "absolved" Ernst Torgler, former communist party whip in the reichstag, of a part in the fire through an alibi. The same method was used for Georgi Dimitroff, one of the three Bulgarian Reds accused. Blagoi Popoff and Wasil Taneff, the other Bulgarians, were excused from guilt through statements heard during the "trial" that they were political proteges of Dimitroff, acting on his orders. It was concluded that if Dimitroff were innocent, then the younger men were also guiltless.

The declaration tonight was delivered on the eve of the Leipzig hearing in the hope of arousing world opinion against what participants in the mock affair believe will be an unfair trial.

The report of the findings declared that "grave grounds exist for suspecting that the reichstag was set on fire by or on behalf of leading personalities in the National Socialist (Nazi) party." The report surmised that the Nazis, concluding that a spectacular means of suppressing the communists was necessary in order to attain complete power decided to set fire to the reichstag and blame it on the Reds.

ASSERTS HITLER POLICIES SADDEN JEWS' NEW YEAR

Not since the days of the Spanish inquisition have Jews greeted the new year with such heavy hearts and sinister forebodings as is prevalent this year because of Hitlerism, declared Dr. Louis L. Mann last night at the Rosh ha-Shanah services in Mount Sinai temple. President Roosevelt, he said, should assume the moral leadership of the world and publicly express sorrow that a member of the family of nations should fall so far below the standards of human decency.

Dr. Mann also advocated modifying immigration restrictions, in the name of humanity, so that Jews, Catholics, and other dissenters against Nazi barbarism may find a haven of refuge in the United States, England, France, Italy, Australia, Canada, and Palestine.

The Jewish New Year was marked by crowded temples in all parts of the city. Services will continue today in reform temples and throughout tomorrow in orthodox temples. Last night's rituals gave impetus to the drive for the Jewish Peoples' institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard, for which Jews of the city have been asked to contribute $100,000 to continue its function.

2 Die, 100 Hurt as Hail Storm Hits Spanish Area

ZARAGOZA, Spain, Sept. 20.—(AP)—At least two persons were killed tonight and 100 were injured in a hail storm which swept a 15 mile area, leveling orchards and crops and crushing in roofs. Property damage was enormous. Sixty-eight persons were injured when the roof of a charity asylum crashed during the dinner hour.

It's time to SMILE!

*Stop living in terror of pyorrhea, bleeding gums and other threats. Your teeth should bring you happiness —not fear! Today, put Squibb's Dental Cream on guard at The Danger Line.

THE DANGER of infection and decay is real enough when teeth and gums are neglected. But worrying won't help protect them. See your dentist, and let him make sure your mouth is now in sound condition. At home, guard The Danger Line with the balanced, 5-way dentifrice—Squibb's Dental Cream.

It cleans the teeth thoroughly and polishes them safely, with complete freedom from grit. It helps to prevent bleeding of the gums by safe cleansing, not by the use of astringents or other irritants. It combats the germ acids that cause tooth-decay. And its use is true economy.

For 75 years the name Squibb has stood for scientific dependability. You can trust Squibb's Dental Cream. And using it is a pleasure, not a task Children, as well as grown-ups, are delighted with its clean, refreshing taste.

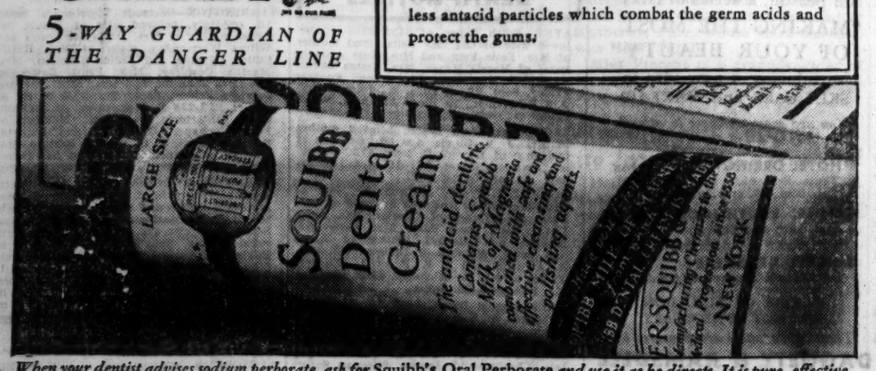
5-WAY GUARDIAN OF THE DANGER LINE

* The Danger Line is the area where the thin edge of the gum encircles each tooth. Here food particles collect and bacteria multiply, generating acids. These acids, which attack the tooth-structure, also constantly irritate the gum tissues. Nearly all gum diseases are due to the effects of germs and irritation caused by ineffectual cleaning. Not one, but all your teeth are endangered when gums and teeth are unclean. And when you use Squibb's Dental Cream, you force into the sheltered areas countless antacid particles which combat the germ acids and protect the gums.



When your dentist advises sodium perborate, ask for Squibb's Oral Perborate and use it as he directs. It is pure, effective, and more pleasant than [illegible]. A unique double-purpose cap on the handy bottle is a real convenience.

100 YEARS OF CHICAGO LAND VALUES

Each of these squares represents one square mile in Chicago's 211 square mile area; and its height shows relative density of population according to the 1930 census. This view is toward the city from the northwest and shows in white the two 960 acre tracts on which values are tabulated below. Reproduced by permission from the comparative study by R. G. Callahan, on display at "A Century of Progress" Exposition.
Average values in this 960 acre district on Chicago's North Side increased from $1,000 an acre or $4 a front foot in 1910, to $35,000 an acre or $146 a front foot in 1928.

IRVING PARK Boulevard to DEVON—along KEDZIE

Chicago developed first along its waterways, roads, railways and car lines. Inaccessible tracts were tardy in developing. But population finally overflowed into these areas, and in a few years new sections populated by tens of thousands of people had grown up within the city. Such an area is the inland North Side, including those sections from Irving Park Boulevard to Devon, along Kedzie Avenue.

•

Values in the two tracts platted here showed but little activity in early times. A "dismal swamp" extended from Graceland Cemetery east and north. The first road across this swamp was built at Rosehill by Samuel Reed, "the almost immemorial pathfinder" of this region, whose log cabin northeast of these tracts "was surrounded by water a good part of the time."

After the C & N W Railway was built, real estate in the areas platted rose to an average of $100 an acre. After the panic of 1857, values receded to $40 in 1861.

After the Great Fire of 1871 came a pronounced trend toward the suburbs and values in this section showed the largest advance they had enjoyed. In the long depression of 1873-1879, they receded more than half, and it was 1892 before they regained the 1873 level. Between 1900 and 1910 they more than doubled, but in 1908 much of this area was still almost a prairie within the city—with unpaved roads, farmhouses and a sparse population.

Then came a gigantic development. The "Northwestern Elevated" built its Ravenswood branch in 1908, and with transportation came a population that quickly covered several square miles with a solidly built section of the city. Real estate values registered large advances. One owner sold five acres in 1912 for $12,500, repurchased 125 feet in the same tract for the same sum, and still later sold 35 feet of this frontage for the original sum of $12,500. The Irving Park-Kedzie area went from $4,000 an acre average in 1910 to nearly $11,000 in 1920 and $52,500 in 1928. The Devon-Western area rose from $1,000 an acre in 1910 to nearly $7,000 in 1920 and $35,000 in 1928. Even in 1933 both areas held at 50% of this peak value and far above the values in any previous cycle.

Real estate values in most sections of Chicago have moved up and down with the five great land cycles through which the city has passed. Every major financial crisis—1837, 1857, 1873, 1893 and 1929—caused land values to depreciate. But panic, war and fire have never destroyed these values nor permanently depressed them. Within four to six years, land values always have turned upward again. Then has followed a constructive period of twelve to thirty years, during which aggregate values have advanced to a new peak far above any previous one, and thereafter have never again gone so low as in any previous depression. Chicago real estate, conservatively valued and well purchased, has proved itself one of the soundest forms of investment.

STANDARD OIL CO. REPLIES TO SUIT OF STOCKHOLDER

Attorney Explains Sale of Securities.

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana, through its general counsel, Louis L. Stephens, yesterday issued a statement in reply to charges made against 17 present and former officials of the company in a suit filed last Saturday by Frederick W. Whilhelmi of Minnesota, owner of 22 shares of common stock in the company. The suit sought the accounting of certain stock transactions between 1925 and 1931 and the recovery of what may be shown to be due the stockholders.

"The gist of the complaint," said Attorney Stephens in his statement "is that certain of the directors sold to the Indiana company at a profit their personal interest in Pan American Petroleum and Transport company.

"The transaction referred to is one which took place six years ago, and of the seventeen defendants named seven were not directors at the time and had no interest in it. They are Charles J. Barkdull, Melvin A. Traylor, Bruce Johnstone, Robert E. Wilson, A. W. Peake, Louis L. Stephens, and Max G. Paulus. Amos Ball, although a director at the time of the exchange, had no interest in the transaction.

Seek an Active Interest.

The facts are as follows:

"In 1925 an eastern syndicate acquired control of Pan American Petroleum and Transport company. Its holding company was Pan American Eastern. The Indiana company desired to obtain an active interest because through Pan Eastern it would become part owner of a great field of crude oil in Venezuela.

"The syndicate refused to sell voting shares to the Indiana company but was willing to sell a block of stock to individuals friendly to the Indiana company. Thereupon, Robert W. Stewart, then chief executive of the Indiana company, together with nine other directors, purchased 150,000 shares of Pan American Eastern, each director paying for his stock out of his own funds.

"To facilitate holding this Pan Eastern stock intact, the Panamex company was formed and its stock exchanged, share for share, for the 150,000 shares of Pan Eastern owned by Col. Stewart and his associates.

"Col. Stewart and his associates in Panamex held their Pan Eastern stock for about two years. In this period they were offered, but did not accept, a larger sum per share for the Pan Eastern stock than they subsequently received from the Indiana company. In this period also the Indiana company paid to outsiders a much larger sum per share for Pan Eastern stock than it subsequently paid to the Panamex company. The entire profit to the Panamex holders of the 150,000 shares was only a fraction of the amount alleged in the complaint.

Hold Special Meeting.

"A special meeting of stockholders of Indiana was held Sept. 9, 1927, for the purpose of considering whether Indiana would acquire all or part of the outstanding shares of Pan Eastern stock at a price and on terms they might decide. Neither Col. Stewart nor any of the interested directors was present. The entire transaction was explained to the meeting in detail by the then general counsel, who was not a director and had no interest. The stockholders decided to acquire the stock on the basis of one share of Indiana for four of Pan Eastern. On that basis the holdings of Panamex were exchanged for Indiana.

"As to the annuity paid to Col. Stewart, this was granted in strict accord with an employé's annuity plan adopted by the Indiana stockholders many years ago. The amount paid to Col. Stewart is much less than the amount alleged in the complaint."

MOTORCYCLIST IS KILLED IN CRASH WITH AN AUTO

Gildo Maroncilli, 28 years old, 3311 Flournoy street, was killed last night when his motorcycle crashed into a light pole after colliding with an automobile at Garfield boulevard and Laflin street. Victor Seper, 18 years old, 6101 Drexel avenue, driver of the automobile, was questioned by police but not held.

Maroncilli's death and two others raised the Cook county motor toll to 742 for the year. The other victims:

Mrs. Gertrude Snyder, 50 years old, of Auburn, N. Y. Died yesterday in the Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey, of injuries suffered Tuesday when her automobile crashed into a bus. Two others were seriously injured and more than 20 bus passengers were shaken up. Police said that Mrs. Snyder, driving east in 159th street, passed a stop sign and crashed into the middle of the bus.

Paul Lukesuis, 44 years old, 128 East 112th place. Died in the Roseland Community hospital of injuries suffered Sept. 10 when his automobile was struck by an Illinois Central train at 121st street and Emerald avenue.

Isabelle Dvorin, 7 years old, 1003 East 53d street, was seriously injured last night when she was struck by an automobile as she attempted to cross 53d street at Berkeley avenue. She was taken to the Illinois Central hospital. The driver of the car, Edgar Watkins, 24 years old, 5419 South Park avenue, a Negro porter, was arrested by Hyde Park police and charged with assault with an automobile and reckless driving.

BODY OF IBANEZ, NOVELIST, TO BE MOVED TO SPAIN

MADRID, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The body of Vicente Blasco Ibanez, famous Spanish novelist whose will forbade his burial in his native country, will be brought from Menton, France, where he died in 1928, to Valencia on Oct. 29, a commission charged with removing the body announced today.

Three cruisers and a number of airplanes will escort it from Menton, and troops will accompany it to the Valencia city hall, where high government officers will speak. Ambassadors of the United States, France and other nations will be invited to attend the ceremonies.

Ibanez was an impassioned agitator for the republic and was frequently imprisoned. He provided in his will that his body should not be buried in Spain as long as the monarchy existed. A group of deputies recently asked the Spanish government to effect the transfer of the body, requesting an appropriation for the erection of a mausoleum at Valencia.

MADRAS, India, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Annie Besant, world leader of the Theosophists, died peacefully here today of the infirmities of age. She would have been 86 on Oct. 1.

The religious leader, who claimed she had been reincarnated many times and had lived many lives beginning 12,000 years ago, had been semi-conscious several days. She had never fully recovered from a fall in 1931.

Disappointment with the attitude of a Hindu, Jeddu Krishnamurti, whom Dr. Besant once described as the potential "reincarnation of Christ," was believed by many of her followers to have saddened her last days. Krishnamurti renounced these claims of "mastership" and expressed disbelief with the tenets of the religion.

Leadership of the world Theosophists was attained following upon a stormy life which began after she was divorced from an English clergyman. Deprived of her children, she became the champion of London's poor, a leader in political and social reforms and a strike organizer. Her attention then was directed to the religious movement.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at Adyar, the location of the Theosophist foundation. Cremation will follow.

MADGE C. COOK, NOTED ACTRESS 30 YEARS AGO, DIES

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Madge Carr Cook, an actress who played many leading rôles on the English and American stage of 30 years ago, died today in Syosset, L. I., at the age of 77 in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Robson Belmont, widow of August Belmont, the banker.

The professional career of Madge Carr Cook covered half a century. She made her stage début at 3 in 1859 at Sunderland, England, as Fleance in "Macbeth."

Of all the parts acted by her the one that gave her a truly international reputation was that of Alice Caldwell Hegan's famous character, Mrs. Wiggs in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." First produced at Louisville, Ky., on Oct. 5, 1903, the play came to New York and in the spring of 1907 was presented in London, where it ran for seven months.

Orville Moyer, Executive of Loop Store, Is Drowned

Orville Moyer, 55 years old, 1144 Lake avenue, Wilmette, head of the rug department of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., was drowned yesterday at Bluffton, O. A group of college students on a botany tour found his body floating in a pool which had been closed for the season. Moyer was a widower and with his only child, Virginia, 19, had been spending his vacation with relatives at Bluffton, his old home town. A cut on the head indicated he had struck a rock while diving.

BUTLER 51 YEARS IN BLACKSTONE FAMILY IS DEAD

George Garner, venerable Negro butler, who welcomed Presidents of the United States, royalty, and hosts of social celebrities during his 51 years' service in the family of the late Mrs. Timothy B. Blackstone, died last night at his home at 437 East 42d street. He was 78 years old.

George was engaged by the Blackstones when their mansion stood on the site of the present Blackstone hotel. At the time he was one of the few servants of color employed in the homes of Chicago society. George's bearing was that of an old world serving man, for he had been reared amid aristocracy since birth. He was born in Virginia, where his parents before the civil war served the famous Langhorne family, ancestors of Lady Nancy Astor, English parliamentarian, and of Col. George Langhorne of Chicago.

Those he served in the Blackstone household included Presidents Harding, Wilson, Taft, and Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Philip D. Armour, Mrs. George Pullman, Marshall Field Sr., Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, the Chauncey Blairs, John Crerars, Arthur Meekers, John G. Shedds, and many others.

PETER SCHMIDT'S WIDOW IS DEAD; HERE SINCE 1862

Mrs. Theresa Schmidt, 79 years old, who had been a resident of Chicago since 1862, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis A. Tanner, 9640 Longwood drive. She was the widow of Peter Schmidt, who founded a packing and provision business at 34th and State streets sixty years ago. The business is still conducted by their sons. In the fire of 1871 the home of Mrs. Schmidt's parents at State and Harrison streets was burned. Mrs. Schmidt is survived by two sons and two daughters. Funeral services will be held at Salem Evangelical church, 6820 Emerald avenue, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow.

TRAINED NURSE MAKES BIG HIT ON RADIO

Just a short while ago, Vivian Lytton, R. N., was practicing her profession as a registered trained nurse—like hundreds of other earnest young women. Today, she is a vivid radio personality, with an ever-growing audience of women who listen to her three mornings each week over Station KYW.

Miss Lytton has a fascinating subject—because she tells women how to reduce surplus weight and how to groom their figures for the slim fashions of 1933. She also has a soft, charming voice because she is a Southern girl, a graduate of one of the famous nursing schools of Dixieland.

Without any previous broadcasting experience whatever, Miss Lytton started her series of talks three weeks ago. Since then hundreds of Chicago women have written her letters and met her personally at Liggett's, State and Madison Sts., where she lectures each day on Vannay, the new scientific method of weight reduction.

Tune in on Station KYW every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock and see if you are not delighted with this young woman who is surely winning a place for herself among the radio stars.

'Faust' Added to Success of Opera Season

Rothier's Performance Gets High Praise.

FAUST

Marguerite ..... Thalia Sabanieeva
Faust ..... Dimitri Onofrei
Mephistopheles ..... Leon Rothier
Valentine ..... Mario Florella
Siebel ..... Bernice Schalker
Wagner ..... Fausto Bozza
Martha ..... Marion Selee

Conductor, Carlo Peroni.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Between the general high competence of the San Carlos company and the extra-special merits of Mr. Rothier's Mephistopheles, Gounod's best known and best liked opera scored another point in the unbroken line of successes of the season thus far. Such things are pleasant recording.

For Miss Sabanieeva is a graceful youthful, and altogether likable singer, entirely fit to transmit the glamours of the Jewel song, persuasive, gentle, not to say subtle in other scenes of the opera. Mr. Onofrei, who would seem to have not the slightest fear of singing two nights in succession and thereby contravening one of the first principles of the tenors' guild, went on in the name part of the work, having sung Pinkerton in "Mme. Butterfly" the night before, and did it with the same fine voice and manner as had been the case twenty-four hours before.

Mr. Fiorella stepped into the part of Valentine at short notice because Claudio Frigerio, whose name was on the program, did not get here from New York. Mr. Fiorella made a distinct success of his own, even though the short notice caused him to sing in Italian to the French of the others. As a matter of fact there were three languages in the performance, French, Italian, and chorus, which last is a language all its own. Not that this had anything to do with the musical merits of the rendition, which were high.

But when Mr. Rothier was on the stage, what had been a good performance became a better performance. He is not only one of the splendid singers of the present generation and a notable personality of the stage, but he has all the traditions of the French operatic stage. This means demeanor, it means acting, it means details of impersonation, a great many things that may be difficult to put into words but are unmistakable when you confront them.

As a result he set the pace of the performance, and when he was among those present the others took their pace from him. By this I do not mean musical tempo, for Mr. Peroni was impeccable in that regard. But his manner was transmitted into an effect as though the lights were a bit brighter, the notes a bit clearer, even that fine orchestra that is playing these nights were a little more determined to emphasize the score.

"Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," two short works bound together in operatic wedlock for many years past, will be heard tonight. Bianca Saroya, Bernice Schalker, Marion Selee, Charles Morton, and Stephan Kozakevich will sing the first; Ethel Fox, Aroldo Lindi, Claudio Frigerio—if he gets here from New York—,Mr. Kozakevich, and Francesco Curci the second.

Shorter Bobs Chief Trend in Hair Fashion

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A hundred models wearing the latest fashions in coiffures paraded before the annual convention of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists' association last night in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The general trend as described by Otto De Donato, St. Louis stylist, after he had viewed the parade, is toward a shorter bob and the removal of curls from the nape of the neck.

"The long bob is passé," Mr. De Donato said. "The back hair is shorter with the curls higher on the head for the sake of the new fall hats. There is still a trend toward the swirl, with the upper layers terminating their shortened ends in ringlets. Combs and brilliant ornaments will be fashionable for formal wear, but will be taboo with the hat."

The variations of the new styles revealed particular fashions for brown and blonde hair and a distinctive fashion for the darker Spanish type. This last type may have the bob a trifle longer or shorter with no curls, simply following the contour, terminating at the hairline at the neck. The swirl may be used if it is in keeping with the type.

The style revue and election of officers closed the convention. Emil Rhode of Chicago was elected president. Pittsburgh was voted as the convention city for next year. The convention voted in 4,000 new members comprising the whole of the state of Pennsylvania's hairdressers and cosmetologists. This gives the national organization a membership of 45,000.

Good Morning!

"Bureau of Missing Persons!"

How the electric lighted sign must fairly LEAP at some who walk our Chicago streets! At those who have mysteriously lost track of loved ones. At the "missing" themselves!

I wondered yesterday how many in the audience at McVicker's were watching the screen with yearning, hopeful, or despairing eyes. How many "missing persons" the big theater held. I could FEEL stories all around, and wished that those who were living them could know how others would like to help—if they could only cross the gulf of incomprehensibility that separates the REAL us from each other.

An engrossing detective drama, "Bureau of Missing Persons"! You'll like its fiction and be interested in its fact, for, spun in with the tale, is a lot of fascinating lowdown on the workings of that branch of the police department known as the missing persons bureau.

The film is based on a book—"Missing Men"—by Capt. John H. Ayers. Its dominant characters are Butch Saunders—detective—formerly of the robbery detail, and Norma Williams, a girl who visits headquarters to inquire regarding her "husband," who has disappeared.

Mr. Saunders, assigned, through his own fevered request, to work on the case, falls in love with Miss Williams. She has a "husband." He has a "wife". That these attachments prove snares and delusions before the picture's over, adds much to the story's savor.

The picture has many bright moments. You'll get a great kick from the episode in which Lewis Stone, as head of the bureau, puts Mr. O'Brien, who has just been transferred from the robbery branch, through a course of sprouts. Mr. O'Brien is very, O, VERY, bow wow wow, at start of the scene, but he is a nice doggie, all ready to lie down, when Mr. Stone has finished with him. Elegant piece of work by Mr. Stone as Capt. Webb. He makes of the police executive the sort of shewd, human individual we like to think of as occupying such a position.

Pat O'Brien and Bette Davis both give slick portrayals and kindly accord a hand to Allen Jenkins as another bureau detective. Glenda Farrell was aptly cast as a hard-boiled honey with the "gimmes." Comedy relief is all excellently handled. The detective who wears his heart away endeavoring to locate one Gwendolyn, to discover her—never mind where—calls forth delighted laughter, and there was a shout over the lady whose husband had disappeared with her cook.

"O, don't bother about HIM," impatiently. "What I want's my cook!"

Alan Dinehart provides a brief but excellent characterization of a smooth and personable crook. Minor rôles are effectively presented.

If you want to pick flaws in the yarn, you may wonder why, the minute the heroine mentioned a certain name—that of a man supposed to have been murdered—she wasn't apprehended. For certainly the story would have been on all wires and her picture in the hands of all police authorities. But you shouldn't let little things bother you TOO much, and "Bureau of Missing Persons" is an unusually worth while program photoplay.

See you soon!

London Surprised as Peer and American Girl End Engagement

LONDON, Sept. 20.—(AP)—English society received a surprise today when it was formally announced that the engagement was broken of young Lord Burgh, who comes from the ancient nobility, and Miss Elizabeth Rose Vincent, daughter of Arthur Vincent of San Francisco.

The wedding had been set for Oct. 18. Lord Burgh, who is 27, said "the engagement was broken off by mutual consent," but declined to discuss the matter further.

Lord Burgh is the holder of a baronetcy created in 1529. Sir Edward Burgh, the oldest son of the first Lord Burgh, was the first husband of Katherine Parr, whose third husband was Henry VIII.

Studio Grants Vacation to Jean Harlow's Husband

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 20.—(AP)—A wedding present to Jean Harlow, screen actress, will enable her and Harold G. Rosson, film cameraman, to depart for Honolulu on their honeymoon within the next 10 days. Louis B. Mayer, employer of Miss Harlow and Rosson, informed them Rosson would not have to go to Mexico City for a picture that is to be on location there in a few days.

Jurist Gives Quick Justice to Glamorous

In next Sunday's Tribune Miss Donnelly will inaugurate presentation of a number of Chicago's most glamorous women. Her article will be accompanied by a portrait in full color.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

We put the question before the court.

"What makes the glamorous woman glamorous?" we pleaded before Judge Marcus Kavanagh, veteran of the bench.

With quick precision, the distinguished jurist replied.

"First thing, she must have physical attractiveness—fine eyes, fine hair and skin. And a smile!

"A smile," the judge repeated, clinging tenderly, we thought, to this hypnotic influence in women.

Not enough, however, to complete the picture.

"She must have a bright mind," he went on.

"She must be cheerful.

"She must be ready to help.

"A glamorous woman is always a good-hearted woman," pronounced Judge Kavanagh, ignoring with fine disdain our flippancy in challenging this last statement with the name of one, at least, who treads the boards in a glamorous publicity, garnering great gobs of jewels and other things as she wends her way.

"That is no glamorous woman," he dismissed the case.

"Who, then, in your judgment is a glamorous woman?" we persisted.

Unlike his brothers confronted with the ticklish problem of naming names, Judge Kavanagh volunteered two names. Nor could any one quarrel with his decision since the living interpretation of a glamorous woman as the judge sees it is none other than Ethel Barrymore, a glamorous woman, a great actress and member of a glamorous theatrical family, as the judge explains.

The other woman—Mary, Queen of Scots. With Herbert Gorman, author of the biography of the Scottish queen, the judge obviously believes Marie Stuart one of the most fascinating women who ever lived. Asked why he chose her for his biography, Gorman replied:

"Because Marie Stuart is the most fascinating woman who ever lived. Because she is the most maligned woman who ever lived. Because she is the most overpraised woman who ever lived. Because, being a queen, she was yet the essence of femininity. Finally, because she represents herself a Lost Cause and lost causes are always the most beautiful things in life."

Elizabeth Lofting Bride of Mac Leish, Poet's Cousin

VIENNA, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Miss Elizabeth Lofting, daughter of Hugh Lofting of New York, and Archibald Mac Leish of Vienna, cousin of the Pulitzer prize winning poet of the same name, were married yesterday.

Quiet Wedding

Miss Katharine Cowin became the bride of Robert Adams Carr yesterday afternoon in the chapel of St. Chrysostom's church. The service was read at 4 o'clock by the rector, the Rev. Dudley Stark, in the presence of the immediate families, after which there was an informal reception in the apartment of the bride's mother, Mrs. Benton Cowin, at the Ambassador hotel. The bride's family is in mourning, which accounts for the quiet wedding.

The bride, who wore a traveling suit of brown light weight wool with a cape effect edged in fur and a brown velvet hat, was attended by her sister, Miss Jean Cowin, and Mr. Carr's best man was William Tilden. Miss Jean Cowin also was in brown and she wore brown orchids. The bride's flowers were white orchids.

Mr. Carr, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Carr of Lake Shore drive, and his bride will be at home after Oct. 1 at 37 East Division street. The former Miss Cowin is associated with her husband's sister, Miss Margaret Carr, in editing Field's Fashions of the Hour.

Mrs. Cowin and Miss Cowin are leaving today for their home in Boston so the latter may enter Miss Windsor's school.

Cardinal Will Open Jubilee Celebration of Catholics Today

Chicago Catholics will begin today the celebration in honor of the 25th anniversary of Cardinal Mundelein's elevation to the episcopacy. The cardinal will celebrate solemn pontifical high mass at Holy Name cathedral assisted by members of the first class of priests he ordained. These are the Very Rev. Msgr. James Horsbaugh, the Rev. Lawrence Frawley and the Rev. William Owens.

The jubilee will continue throughout the year when the 413 parishes will hold missions and otherwise honor the Chicago prelate through spiritual offerings of loyalty and devotion to the church from their 1,000,000 communicants.

'Woolies' Lead Style Parade for Fall Days

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The smartest shoppers are industriously buying "woolies" . . . not the historic itching variety that granny struggled with as a protesting protection against wintry blasts, but the incredibly smooth silky stuff that fashions the newest street costumes.

Bottle green, old mustard greens, flattering almond green, grayed greens and some fascinating glittering stuff that has small gold flecks distributed throughout every foot of it are colors of the hour. But the grays are a close second with browns and plaids and checks coming in third.

Justifying their erratic reputation, fashion-wise females then blithely jump from these fascinating woolens for street frocks to frivolous feathers. You can now buy feathers, see feathers, and pick feathers wherever you go . . . you can buy colored and black cog feather boas, made in the best lavender decade tradition, matched to muffs, that are the most distracting things you can dangle or hang on your arm . . . you can buy ostrich feather yards-long boas to wrap around your neckline, also in colors, and some muffs to match.

Or you can spend your allowance on glamorous looking deep cavalier capes of ostrich feather fronds to top the oldest of your evening gowns and mark it as something very new and distractingly decorative.

The shops have even unpacked some feathered trimmed evening hankies that are ticklish propositions to wear unless you know just what you do with feathers, especially festooned around the hitherto unadorned edges of a square of filmy chiffon.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE social season has started. When those energetic and capable women who annually stage a fashion show to benefit St. Luke's hospital get together for their early fall meeting and luncheon and discuss plans for the show, always one of the highlights of each winter, we society editors feel that another season is well under way.

The women really start working in the spring, and all summer those who are in or near the city are doing the things that must be done so far ahead to make the showing the huge success that it always is; but it isn't until they all are back from their summer vacations that this meeting and luncheon is held and that work starts in earnest.

Mrs. John W. Gary, president of the woman's board for so many years, was hostess at the luncheon yesterday at the Fortnightly, and in between talking about the all-important subject of the show, to be given on Oct. 19 at the Stevens hotel, she and her guests chatted of the vacations they had had, for many of them were seeing each other for the first time this fall.

One of the chief subjects of interest was the wedding of Miss Virginia Chapman, whose mother, Mrs. John Adams Chapman, is a new member of the board and who was present at the luncheon in spite of the fact that she had returned just the night before from her summer residence at Bar Harbor.

Miss Chapman's marriage to J. Brooks Fenno Jr. of Boston and Bar Harbor is to take place on Saturday, Oct. 28, in the Fourth Presbyterian church, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. A reception at the Casino will follow the ceremony. The wedding will be a large one for the bride-to-be is to have a maid of honor, her sister, Miss Margaret Chapman, and six bridesmaids and there will be eight ushers and a best man.

Plan Many Parties for Miss Chapman.

James Robbins of Philadelphia, a cousin of Mr. Fenno's, will be the best man, and he and some of the ushers not named yet, will accompany Mr. Fenno to Chicago a week before the wedding so as to be here for the last of the many parties that will be given for the popular Miss Chapman.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Elinor Chapman, another sister, Miss Mary Senior, Miss Jean Schweppe, Miss Patty McCormick, Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr. (Rosamond Baker), and Miss Geraldine Thompson of St. Paul.

Another interesting topic of conversation was the imminent departure of a popular member of the board, the recording secretary, Mrs. I. Newton Perry, for a trip to the orient. Mrs. Perry and her daughter, Sally, are leaving on the 30th of this month to sail on Oct. 6 on the S. S. Hoover for Japan. From there they will go to Peiping where they will be met by the former Polly Perry and her husband, Harold M. Kneedler, whose marriage took place here a year ago, and together the foursome will travel to Manila, where the Kneedlers live and where Mrs. Perry and Sally will spend the winter with them.

Every one was envying Mrs. Perry and wishing she, too, was starting off on such a pleasant trip, but if they all were, who would run the fashion show and so provide St. Luke's woman's board with much needed funds?

Mrs. Perry has done her share of the preliminary work for this year's show by working with Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor all summer as co-chairman of exhibitors. She also had planned to work with Mrs. John C. Pitcher this fall on publicity but Mrs. John A. Stevenson is taking her place on this committee. Mr. Perry is not going with his wife and daughter for he does not want to have both parents so far away from their boys, Newton Jr. and Brewster, both of whom are at eastern schools.

Wear Smart Fall Outfits.

To return to the luncheon: there were several very smart new fall outfits seen, particularly those of Mrs. Charles F. Glore, who was all in gray with trimmings of sable; Mrs. Selim W. McArthur, who wore a knitted dress with a butter yellow sweater blouse and a brown and yellow skirt, and a cinnamon brown swagger coat and hat to match; Mrs. Paul S. Russell in a gray cloth suit with hat to match and a yellow and gray sweater blouse; and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. in a slate blue suit with hat to match (you must have a hat of the same material as your suit or swagger coat if you will be fashionable, apparently) and a sable scarf.

Mrs. Glore had just come from the junior Henry Faurots' new house at 1358 North State street, where she had been helping Mrs. Faurot unpack some of the trunks and barrels and boxes brought in from Riverside the day before. The Faurots have given up the rambling old house in Riverside in which they have lived for some time, and it was most amusing to hear Mrs. Glore tell about the sale Mrs. Faurot had held to dispose of some of the things for which room couldn't be found in the smaller town house which the Faurots will call home henceforth. Mrs. Faurot couldn't get to the luncheon and was greatly missed, for she is so bright and entertaining every one adores her. She has been the efficient press chairman for the fashion show for the last few years.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The German ambassador, Dr. Hans Luther and his two daughters, the Misses Gertraud and Marie, have returned to the embassy after several weeks spent at Virginia Beach, Va., and on visits to White Sulphur and Hot Springs. Dr. Luther will give a luncheon tomorrow for Dr. Hugo Eckener, famous captain of the Graf Zeppelin.

The newly appointed American ambassador to Chile and Mrs. Hal Sevier of Corpus Christi, Tex., are at the Mayflower for the next ten days, previous to sailing for the former's new post.

The newly appointed American minister to Paraguay, Meredith Nicholson of Indianapolis, who has been here for a week, was married this afternoon to Mrs. Dorothy Lannon of Indianapolis, formerly of Marion, Indiana, who arrived a few days ago and has been the guest of Senator and Mrs. Van Nuys of Indiana, at Wardman Park hotel.

The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock, in the apartment of the senator, by the Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, pastor of All Souls Unitarian church. A small and intimate company witnessed the ceremony and there were no attendants. Mr. Nicholson and his bride will remain here until Sunday, when they will go to New York, en route to Paraguay, sailing Sept. 30 on the Southern Cross.

Among the guests at the wedding were the Paraguayan minister and Mme. De Bordenave, former Senator and Mrs. James E. Watson, former Postmaster General Will H. Hayes, and Gen. and Mrs. Hugh A. Drum.

IF any of you think New York society women are all independent sophisticates who dash about the country or sail for Europe leaving their husbands behind, we take pleasure in pointing out to you Mrs. I. Townsend Burden. Mrs. Burden (you probably are familiar with the name; a Burden entertained the prince of Wales; the Burdens were the first ironmasters in America) stopped off in Chicago to dine at the Fair the other evening on her way from Newport to New Mexico, and it was the first time she has traveled without her husband during some twenty years of marriage. In fact, Mr. Burden was so solicitous about her he telegraphed his friend since school days, Walter R. Kirk, to look after her until her midnight train departed for the southwest. Mr. Kirk promptly got up a small and gay dinner party at the Century club in her honor. Mrs. Burden, blonde, chic and youthful appearing in her gray and black checked tweed costume, went to New Mexico in connection with the plan of one of her sons to enter school there.

MR. KIRK, accompanied by his son Radcliffe, recently returned from the west by plane and tells a dramatic story of a forced landing amid rain and lightning, near Booneville, Ia., about midnight, and a 6 hour wait until, in the morning, hayricks took them and their bags across corn fields to the road, where a taxi picked them up and took them to Des Moines. It was at Des Moines the plane had last stopped for gas and picked up one passenger. And some ten hours later that passenger found himself right back in Des Moines, without having got anywhere.

READING about the high powered concerts with great singers the Girl Scouts are sponsoring at the Auditorium in October, a reader is reminded of her favorite Girl Scout story. A bus bearing Chicago Girl Scouts to camp drove by a field where cows were grazing and somebody pointed them out. One little Scout from a back of the yards district sighed blissfully and exclaimed:

BIG city sights: A portly matron bound for the Fair wearing a house dress and a Texaco fireman's hat. . . . A little bulldog wearing a diamond collar. . . . A girl on State street with an NRA sticker on her forehead. . . . Two members of a Catholic sisterhood on an Illinois Central train, obviously bound on an errand of mercy, carrying a carton filled with canned goods, labeled in large black type with the name and trade-mark of a whisky distiller. . . . A young woman in a Chicago employment agency reading the "Help Wanted" column of the London Times as she waited. . . . Bob Benchley seeing the Fair.

DURING a concert at the Fair a country cousin of Martin K. Ash explained that the number being played was called "Rabble's Bolero" because it was a favorite of the masses.

BLOOD MONEY

SYNOPSIS.

Uncas Cresap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cresap's boathouse on Kettle pond, near the eastern end of Long Island. Gilbert Jonathan Redd, Cresap's stepbrother, keeps a written private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp edged implement killed Cresap. The cause of Wong Gee's death is not apparent. Capt. Bray, a special investigator, is an old friend of Redd's. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Dane, Cresap's niece and an orphan, lived with him. Redd was fond of Florence's mother. He bought a home near Cresap's in order to protect Florence. Cresap made his fortune in the far east. Redd freely admits to Bray his hatred of Cresap, who was a drunkard and a débauché. There seemed to be some secret bond between Cresap and two of his servants, the Chinaman and a dwarf, Sabino. Bray finds a new will disinheriting Florence. As it was unsigned, the old will stands. Cresap disapproved of Florence's moneyless sweetheart, Gregory Thorpe. Thorpe disappears. He is found in a hospital, victim of a hitch-hiker, before Cresap's death, which exonerates him. Florence takes a room in the hospital. Hilda, Florence's maid, tries to leave the Cresap estate and is arrested. Florence leaves the hospital and can't be found. Sabino also disappears. Bray is of the belief they are both seeking a common rendezvous.

FUGUTIVE HEIRESS CAUGHT.

6:25 p. m.—Clabby, the motor cop, chugged in with word relayed on to me by his chief. Taper has been working again on Durkee apparently has pumped him dry. This is what he learned, as just repeated to me by Clabby: Originally Sabino told Bray that he lay intoxicated in his room at the far end of the servant's wing, from early last Monday evening until well on toward 11:30; that he roused then and saw what time it was—a circumstance afterwards recalled—and in his night garments groggily made his way downstairs to a small liquor closet for which he carried a key, intending to get whiskey for his further refreshment; was too drunk though to unlock the closet door; while trying to regain his room, fell sprawling and helpless in the servants' hallway, whereupon Olsen came out into the passage—undoubtedly from Greta's room where, as already is of record, he had been courting Greta—and heaving the dwarf up bodily in his arms, deposited him on his bed and left him there. Presumably Sabino had some fuddled memory of this and so informed Bray, and, in advance of last Tuesday's seance in the Cresap library, Bray privily questioned Olsen and obtained from him confirmation of the fact of it, but for reasons of his own entirely suppressed it during the examination of the servants that afternoon. And presumably it also was while the barefooted Sabino was staggering and floundering through the lower part of the house that he heard Florence on the telephone trying to raise Gregory at the Hotel Algonquin and, far overtaken in alcohol though he was, somehow managed to store that in his brain and pass it along to Bray, who in turn and a little later, made it an integral prop of his hypothesis touching on Gregory's imagined complicity in the wiping-out of Uncas Cresap. Balancing these hitherto hidden revelations, I am beginning to understand certain matters which until this moment were——

"In my futile rage I had to do something."

6:32 p. m.—Florence has been caught! Bob Skipp of the American just called up from town to tell me. His office got the flash. She was caught less than an hour ago at a hotel in Tonawanda near Buffalo. She registered there late last night under an assumed name, Skipp says, telling the night clerk she expected a caller today. From then on she remained in her room. But a waiter, who served her at lunch, thought he recognized her from the description he had read in a morning paper. He took note of the initials "F. D." on her kit-bag. He notified the manager and the manager notified the police and, on being questioned by the police, she broke and admitted her identity. She is being held at the local lock-up, awaiting the arrival of officers from New York City. That's all Skipp knows.

It was inevitable, of course, but even so the realization of it stabs me like a bayonet thrust. Florence—that dear, deluded, misguided child of a Florence behind bars of a dirty cell! And I here!

Wednesday, Oct. 26.

This I am scribbling on a scratch-pad, my pencil jumping to the jog and jar of thumping car wheels. We have passed East Islip, which means we are better than half done with the first dragging lap of my dolorous journey—the lap between Bridgeton, which I left at 8:40 this morning, and New York, where we are due to arrive just before noon.

I am writing this installment not because I am in any humor for writing but because of the tonic need to occupy myself after some fashion while I go cityward to intercept, at some comparatively nearby point on the New York Central, the train that is bringing Florence and her two guardians from upstate.

I have just looked on a searing thing which set up a murderous griping in every nerve plexus I own, so that each radiating ganglion seems to have a separate twitch of its own.

I had finished with the morning papers, finding in them nothing except what already I knew. At least I thought I had finished with them.

But down at the bottom of the heap I came upon the Daily Pictograph. Flaring across the top-breadth of the front page marched this most deftly alliterative, most diabolically deceptive screamer:

Fugitive HEIRESS OF SLAIN CRESAP, NABBED ON WILD FLIGHT, MAY BE BROUGHT BACK in Fetter!

Immediately below that devilish caption and filling the sheet were coupled illustrations displayed side by side. Down a deeply-indented margin space, flanking the one on the left, thumbled a drooping sub-head which read: "DID BEAUTIFUL FLORENCE DANE HOPE IT WOULD BE LIKE THIS?" And the accompanying picture showed, elbow high, a pair of smooth round arms, and on either arm ornately-jeweled bands were clasped, and the slender fingers were idly interlaced in what the model—or the photographer—must have fancied was a pose betokening complacent ease. And the companion picture had for its text: "BUT DID TRAPPED FLORENCE DANE DREAM IT MIGHT BE LIKE THIS?" And here repeated were those same two young arms but now, instead of gemmed bracelets, handcuffs were locked on the slim wrists with the two clinched fists straining against that shameful bracketing, and between them, the short connecting links drawn rigidly taut.

It was a puerile exhibition, altogether a childish thing to do, but in my futile rage I had to do something. So I tore the filthy rag across and flung the pieces on the floor and stamped on them and rended them underfoot and wished it might be the face of the man who had devised this layout rather than his cruel handiwork which was becoming pulp beneath my grinding heels.

There, that's out of my system. I'll go back to last night:

For nearly three hours after Skipp telephoned me, I cursed the perversity of inanimate things or the stupidity of human intermediaries, while I wasted precious time and fought a losing battle with complacent long-distance operators and professionally agreeable switchboard girls, trying to raise Bray at Riverhead or at Calverton or wherever else he might be. Either deliberately to elude me he stayed away from telephones, or he was moving too fast to be overtaken. Between spells of contending with blandly-polite "Centrals," I fairly sprayed his stamping-grounds with duplicated telegrams in which I begged him immediately to wire me sanction to join Florence at that town of Tonawanda and to accompany her on the return trip.

It was almost 10 o'clock and by then I was ready for a strait-jacket, when this response came:

"Too late for you to reach Tonawanda. Stop. Police matron loaned from headquarters and Lieut. McVeigh old buddy of mine already gone with orders bring F. D. back first fast train in morning. Stop. Your only chance is catch them Albany or some station this side Albany. Stop. Suggest Poughkeepsie or Harmon. Stop. Solely account old times am requesting Commissioner Mulrooney instruct McVeigh as special privilege let you travel with them from where you get aboard on through to Riverhead. Stop. In case of mixup show this telegram to McVeigh. Stop. [Signed] Bray."

It was sent collect. It was curt. It carried no friendly finale, no "kind regards." But it would serve my purpose and that was all I asked.

In the midst of a pouring rain I caught the first train this morning—a slow train, stopping everywhere and between stops dawdling.

Not being, as the phrase goes, air-minded, I never thought of hiring a plane until after we started. I've never flown, never meant to. I wish I were flying now instead of inching along on this crawling worm of a train.

Sex of Child Should Affect Disciplining

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Girls are so different to handle from boys," said a mother to me the other day.

Well, it's true enough.

Mothers who have had several sons, and then after a lapse of years have a daughter find they have almost a new trade to learn. The opposite is equally true. Women who have had only girls find they have to change many of their ideas of management when a baby boy appears in the family.

Teachers who have taught girls' classes and then switch to classes of boys notice a great difference in handling is required.

And when it comes to the matter of the boy and girl who are out of kilter—who present behavior difficulties—the difference is even more noticeable. In a recent report the statement was made that "child guidance clinics handle about four times as many boys as girls." In the children's courts more boys than girls appear.

This does not mean that boys are—to use a folksy expression—"worse" than girls, or that they are apt to be less normal. It means chiefly that life and the world at large have always expected different things from boys than from girls. Boys are less amenable to conventions and restraint than girls are. Their need for physical freedom is greater. And it is this difference that gets them into trouble. For instance, some of the boys brought into the children's court are brought there for breaking windows while playing ball—because the owner of the windows has lodged a charge against them. Girls don't lead a life as physically free as a boy—therefore they are not apt to smash windows or get into fights.

As children leave little childhood behind them, mothers must expect the difference between boys and girls to become noticeable. Boys rebel against conventions and restraint more than girls do.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 11 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

While this hurrying, scurrying age has weaned many breakfast snatchers away from their morning cereal and bade them to be content with toast and coffee instead, these versatile cereals refuse to be squelched. They still find uses for themselves and are turning up more and more deliciously in our more leisurely meals. Take oatmeal, for instance. Have you discovered how the nutty flavor of oats will enhance breads and meat loaf? Plus that, they're rich in vitamins, iron, and phosphorus, if that will make you love them better.

OATMEAL MEAT LOAF.

2 pounds ground beef
1½ cups uncooked oatmeal
2 eggs
1 small onion, chopped fine
¼ cup chopped, stuffed olives
½ cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 slices bacon

Mix the ground beef with the oatmeal, and add the well beaten eggs, the onion, olives, milk, and seasoning. Form into a loaf and lay the strips of bacon across the top. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 1 hour.

Or oats may salute us from our luncheon muffins, all hot and golden with butter!

1 cup cooked oatmeal
1¼ cups flour
4 teaspoons sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten
3 tablespoons melted butter

Combine the oatmeal with the milk. Sift together the flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt, and add the oatmeal mixture. Quickly stir in the egg and melted butter, and pour into greased muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven [400 degrees F.] for 25 minutes.

Rolled oats, the unground relative of oatmeal, give these butterscotch flavored cookies an interesting, rough surface. It's lots of fun rolling them, and they're most popular with the men folk.

ROLLED COOKIES.

1 egg, well beaten
1 cup brown sugar
1½ cups rolled oats, uncooked
Pinch of salt
1-3 cup melted shortening
½ teaspoon vanilla

Add the sugar to the well beaten egg and mix thoroughly. Then stir in the oats, salt, melted shortening, and vanilla. Drop teaspoonsful on a buttered baking sheet far apart, as they spread a great deal. Bake in a slow oven [300 degrees F.] until a golden brown. Remove from the oven and shape the cookies into small cornucopias while still warm.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Linn M. A. Evans have returned to their house at East Hampton from Newport, where they were with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ogden Bacon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer sailed for Berumda today.

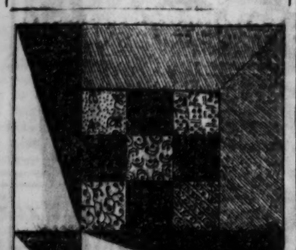
Quilts Go Modern with Futuristic Pattern Motif



Pieced Bouquet.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The "Pieced Bouquet," a pattern with a definitely modernistic air, is presented as one of the latest additions to quiltdom. The border is made of strips of green and yellow materials, and the tiny blocks which make up the diminutive nine-patch in the center may be varied by the use of different colors and kinds of prints.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' HATS AND GLOVES.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woodworth Whitehead of 453 Adams avenue, Glencoe, announce the engagement of their daughter, Caroline Miller, to Theodore James Barr of 1226 Sherwin avenue, Chicago, son of Mrs. Francis X. Barr and the late Mr. Barr.

Mrs. Alexander Friend of 1137 East 50th street announces the engagements of her two daughters, Alice, to Leon Newton of Brookline, Mass., and May Happy, to Rabbi Abram Vossen Goodman of Cumberland, Md., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Goodman of Brookline, Mass.

Miss Alice Friend attended Connecticut college and the University of Chicago. Her sister is a graduate of the University of Chicago. Mr. Newton is a graduate of Boston university and Rabbi Goodman is a graduate of Harvard and the Jewish Institute of Religion. The sisters will be married at a double wedding the middle of next month.

Hold Tryouts Today for Benefit Show.

Because Mrs. Herbert H. Kennedy has been quite ill and is only now out of the hospital and back in her Lake Shore drive apartment, Miss Ethel Dixon, star of last season's Service club show, has taken over Mrs. Kennedy's job as publicity chairman. The vivacious Miss Dixon has been urging all of last year's debutantes to come and try out again for the show this year at the tryouts this morning at 10 o'clock in the Lake Shore Athletic club. Among those who have promised to join the new debutantes are Miss Marian Gordon, Miss Edna Doering, Miss Peggy Wiley and Mrs. Richard M. Lamport, the former Julia Kramer.

Miss Betty Dixon and Parker Bryant, who are to be married next Tuesday, are well started on a round of pre-nuptial parties which are rather small and informal, just as their wedding is to be, for neither one is having any attendants, and the ceremony is to be read in the presence of the immediate family.

Last night Miss Cornelia Fairbanks, who returned recently from California, had a dinner for them in the Lake Shore drive apartments of her parents, the Warren C. Fairbanks. Tonight the Wesley M. Dixons are having a dinner at their home in Lake Forest, and tomorrow night Miss Virginia Dixon, the bride's sister, has asked a few of their old friends to dine and dance in the Empire room of the Palmer house.

Among those who will be at the various dinners are Miss Narcissa Swift, Miss Betty Pool, Fred Pool, and Thomas Menefee. The Sydney H. Heaps would also have been included in the invitations, but instead they are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, whom they have named Randolph Heyworth Heap, at the Evanston hospital Monday morning, and the former Virginia Skinkle will have to miss the festivities.

Mr. Bryant's aunt, Mrs. A. Watson Armour, is giving a luncheon Sunday for Miss Dixon and Mr. Bryant at her lovely home in Lake Forest, and the bride's cousin, Mrs. Stanley Zarling, will conclude the entertaining with a cocktail party in the Zarings' Lake Shore drive residence Monday afternoon.

Gardners Will Give Dinner Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Gardner of Winnetka have planned a dinner dance for their daughter, Marie Louise, at the Casino on the night after Christmas. This insures a gay evening for the debutante crowd, for after the dinner dance they all will be going on to Miss Jean Wilhelm's debut ball at the Blackstone. Miss Gardner was presented to society at a tea dance at the Indian Hill club last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Howard are leaving next Tuesday for a late summer or perhaps they call it an early fall vacation. They will go first to Washington, D. C., and then to Southampton, L. I., for a visit with the "Andy" Valentines, who will prolong their stay there until even later in the fall.

Mr. Valentine's mother, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, will land in New York today from a trip abroad and will spend a few days in Southampton seeing her son and his wife and grandchildren before coming on to Chicago, so she probably will not be here much before the first of October.

Helen Lord Is Engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lord of Ashland avenue, Evanston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Robert Warren Bentley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias M. Bentley of River Edge, N. J. Miss Lord is a member of the Evanston Junior league and the Chicago Musicians' Club of Women. She attended the Sarah Lawrence college, where she majored in music, and has spent the last winter in Munich, where she continued with this study. Mr. Bentley attended Lawrenceville and the University of Virginia. At present he is studying music in New York.

Members of the Sunbeam league and their guests at the league's annual ball on Saturday, Nov. 5, at the Stevens hotel are going to take a Mediterranean cruise, for the whole ballroom is to be turned into the S. S. Sunbeam for the occasion.

The orchestra and dance space will be on deck; deck chairs will be grouped around the ship's railing, and gangplanks will go down to the various ports of call (booths representing Mediterranean countries).

The waiters will be dressed as ship's officers and crew and a carnival spirit will prevail. The ball is one of two yearly parties given by the league to raise money to support kindergartens.

THE STAGE

Plans for the staging at the Punch and Judy theater of a show to be called "Les Folles Cantomimes," announced last week, have been abandoned. The venture, apparently designed as a kind of "Chauve Souris" entertainment, has vanished into thin air, like the "Dixie to Harlem" revue, which was promised for the Illinois theater.

The showboat Dixiana is now operating at Port Washington, Wis., and may arrive in Chicago about Oct. 1. Its management holds a license to dock in the river at Dearborn street. Revivals of old melodramas such as "No Mother to Guide Her" are promised by its management.

The Dixiana has been a phantom ship for a full year. Last October its license to operate on the Chicago water front was the subject of a controversy in which the late Mayor Cermak figured. The craft will seat an audience of 1,200. In addition to its stage equipment it contains a 40 foot refreshment bar and a small restaurant. Edwin Wappler, formerly of the Blackstone theater, is its business manager.

This week's premieres along Broadway include: "Kultur," the first of numerous plays that have been written about the Hitler régime in Germany; "Hold Your Horses," an elaborate musical comedy with Joe Cook as its star, and "Double Door," a drama whose story is said to parallel the lives of the Wendell sisters, wealthy hermits of the New York aristocracy.

Lou Holtz, comedian of Broadway musical shows, and Mitzi Mayfair, dancing girl of Ziefeld's last "Follies," will lead the new vaudeville program at the Palace theater beginning tomorrow. The headline attraction at the Chicago theater will be Duke Ellington's orchestra.

Light Blue Crepe

Miss Virginia Ashcraft, daughter of the Junior Edwin M. Ashcrafts of Evanston, made her formal bow to society yesterday. This charming young girl wore a lovely gown of light blue crêpe trimmed in silver bands and made with a short train, long sleeves and deep cowl collar, and carried a bouquet of gardenias and forget-me-nots, when she received the hundreds of guests with her father and mother in the drawing room of their residence on Asbury avenue. Mrs. Ashcraft wore black velvet.

Miss Ashcraft is a Farmington graduate and had as one of her assistants a former roommate at Miss Porter's school, Miss Elisabeth Campbell of Orange, N. J., who is her house guest now. The other young girls who helped pour tea and coffee were Miss Doris Bokum, Miss Barbara Hobart, Miss Barbara Eldridge, Miss Jean O'Brien, Miss Nancy Thomas, Miss Jean Lamson, Miss Betty Alexander, Miss Kean Hughes, Miss Jean Hyman, Miss Harriet Fentress, and Miss Honoré White.

Mutual Faults May Be Source of Family Rows

Complaining Wife Might Examine Own Traits.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She left him two years ago because he was so overbearing. She returned to him fully aware he was overbearing, and now she can't stand it again—only she admits, "The worst of it is, I love him more than any anybody else."

Quitting and running away, and running back again isn't ever going to remedy the situation, especially if you love the man and can't keep away from him.

Why not now use your head and not rely so much on emotion?

All right, the man is overbearing. You have that fact fastened in your mind, so that every little act he performs will be interpreted as overbearing. If he doesn't like your hat, a dress, it's because he's overbearing. Probably things in which you are dead wrong, because he tries to save your making a mistake, will be overbearing to you.

You simply have to change your own point of view before you can hope to get on compatibly.

Even suppose the man IS overbearing! Hasn't every man something you don't like, and every woman too? Hasn't every wife to adjust herself to some trait or idiosyncracy? Every husband also?

It's quite possible, indeed, that the very thing you dislike so in this man's character is part and parcel of your own makeup. Maybe you're the one who is insistent upon having your own way, having your word recognized as the last to be heard on any subject. It so often happens that complainants about a mate's selfishness or opinionatedness, and so on, suffer the identical fault.

Better look yourself over pretty thoroughly, Mrs. X, and see if the incompatibility you two suffer isn't as much your own difficult character as your man's.

If you can convince yourself you're not guilty you must charge yourself with one shortcoming, at least—your inability to laugh off a trouble, to ignore it; to measure the man for his worth, regardless of his one or more peculiarities.

In marriage, as in other vocations, you have to put everything in the hat, good, bad, and indifferent, shuffle it up, and let the blessings determine your philosophy. You won't get perfection, any more than you give it yourself.

DEATH OF THE ACTOR.

Entering the dressing room of Lionel Mantell, lionized matinée idol, Prof. Fordney noticed the cracked mirror of the dressing table directly opposite the door, glanced at the dead body of Gerald Hooper, then became interested in the gun lying on the carpet.

Two burly policemen stood guard at the door that swung to behind Fordney, Inspector Kelley and Dr. Lyman.

While the physician made his examination Kelley questioned Mantell, whom they found nervously pacing the room.

"Serves him right," the actor said. "Why that fool tried to kill me, because I'm starred in this play, is beyond me. I admit he was a better actor, and have frequently told him so, but if the public wants me can I help it?"

"Well, the door was closed and I was sitting in front of the mirror carefully applying make-up called for in the play when suddenly a bullet whizzed past my ear. I jumped up and saw Hooper right behind me. I grappled with him before he fired another shot during which time his automatic fell to the floor. I managed to get it. He rose and hurled that cold cream jar at me (which lay shattered in the corner) so I let him have it. It was his life or mine. There was nothing else to do, was there?"

Fordney who had been quietly listening said, "If your story were true you might have been justified but in all probability it is not!"

KRESEL TRIAL WITNESS TELLS OF BANK LOANS

Evidence Admitted After Long Argument.

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The state called its first witness today at the trial of Isidor J. Kresel on charges of misapplying the funds of the Municipal Safe Deposit company, an affiliate of the defunct Bank of the United States. The trial is before Justice George H. Taylor Jr. in the criminal branch of the Supreme court.

The first witness was Stanley Matus, who was employed as a discount teller for the Bankus corporation, a bank affiliate. Through him Assistant District Attorney James G Wallace, the prosecutor, sought to introduce a long list of loans, totaling $12,000,000, from the bank to three affiliates — Bankus, the Municipal Finance corporation, and the City Financial corporation.

Theodore Kiendl of counsel for the defense objected to the introduction of these loans on the ground that they were created without Kresel's knowledge of his advise as counsel to the bank.

A long argument followed, during which the jury was excluded. Justice Taylor finally decided to admit the loan records as evidence, but in doing so he cautioned the jury to bear in mind that the entries were made by Mr. Matus on information given to him by others, according to his testimony.

WANTS TO JOIN CHAIN GANG AND OFFERS TO PAY WAY TO FLORIDA

Tallahassee, Fla., Sept. 20.—(AP)—William E. Harrington so earnestly desires to join a Florida chain gang he collected $100 to defray the expense of a guard's trip for him. The state isn't sure it wants him.

William, giving his return address as "county jail, Cincinnati," says that eight years ago he escaped from a prison camp.

"Conditions arose causing me to leave, of which I am sorry," he wrote to Nathan Mayo, state prison commissioner, adding, "the last few years have been hard and at present I am in trouble again. I understand road work thoroughly and would rather work in the chain gang than be confined here without work. My object is to get a clean slate."

Prison bureau records show Harrington escaped Sept. 29, 1926, while serving a five year sentence for robbery.

Mayo replied that while "this is a very generous offer, under the circumstances we are inclined to let Ohio keep you and dispose of you as they see fit. When you have finished with them, we may then arrange to bring you back here."

Veteran Pilot, 2 Passengers Die in Alaska Plane Crash

Anchorage, Alaska, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Pilot G. E. [Ed] Young, one of the best known flyers in Alaska, and his two passengers, Eric Nelson and A. D. Roberts, were killed today when their plane crashed in landing at the Livengood airport. Young was divisional engineer of the Pacific Alaska Airways and one of the oldest and most experienced flyers in Alaska. He was about 40 years old and a native of Michigan. He served in the American air force in France. He is survived by his widow.

75,000 CHEER AS 270 G.A.R. PARADE ST. PAUL STREETS

Pension Cuts Attacked by Veterans' Leader.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Veterans of this country's civil war were tired but happy tonight. They had marched again—this time through St. Paul's downtown district.

This was the 67th annual reunion. In 1865 the Grand Army marched by thousands in the streets of Washington. Today some 270 members rod the pavements here before a crowd estimated by Col. F. G. Stutz, 206th infantry, parade marshal, at 75,000.

Cheers and applause warmed their hearts at tunes of civil war times, injected new spryness into weary legs. Disabled comrades rode in automobiles or sat in the grandstand as the parade passed.

G. A. R. Chief with Govenor.

Commander in Chief Russell C. Martin, Los Angeles, other national G. A. R. leaders and Gov. Floyd B. Olson reviewed the parade of the state departments.

Fifes and drums heralded the approach of the civil war musicians. A pet robin perched on the fife of Dr. J. W. Benadom, 91, Monticello, Ia.

Ringing applause greeted 91 year old Col. David Nocton of Minneapolis as he appeared on a white horse.

The Rockford, Ill., fife an drum corps of the Sons of Union Veterans set the pace for Illinois' contingent of thirty, the first state group in line, followed by the Wisconsin veterans. Ohio, New York, and Connecticut veterans marched next. Massachusetts' thirteen men stepped by to the strains of "Marching Through Georgia." Iowa had twenty-six and Minnesota twenty-nine.

Attacks Pension Cuts.

In opening the encampment Commander Martin accused the government of "using every effort to increase prices, but decrease the amount of the pensions with which we buy."

He pleaded for his comrades to "make every effort to have the injustice in the reduction in pensions removed." The economy act cut civil war pensions 10 per cent.

Martin then paid tribute to the 2,633 members of the G. A. R., who died last year. He pointed with pride to the fact the membership, as of Dec. 31, last, still numbered more than 10,000.

The Sons of Union Veterans, affiliated with the G. A. R., adopted a resolution for the national defense act and the building up of the United States navy.

MEXICO TO AID WORKERS IN PLAN OF SOCIAL ACTION

President Acts to Lift Wages; Shuns Inflation.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 20.—(AP)—President Abelardo Rodriguez in a press interview made public today said he believed his project of establishing minimum wages could be carried into effect without resorting to inflationary means and that it would result in tremendous benefits to the working classes.

Discussing the participation of workers in the government of the country, the president said that in his opinion social action should not be linked to political action, "but since under present conditions political action is the way to achieve social action, there is no doubt that workers should take part in the government."

He said that the chief aim of the government in dealing with workers is to wipe out illiteracy, increase salaries, encourage sports, and develop technical knowledge.

Little inroads have been made by communism and fascism in Mexico, he stated.

"I cannot believe that there exists in Mexico the influence of those ideologies," he said, "because the groups of orthodox Marxists are insignificant and the communists' doctorine does not have any echo in our country.

"Our idiosyncrasies and specific regularities of the Mexican revolution have caused us to solve our economic problems in accord with the reality of our situation, following a general policy of socialization, but without adopting exotic schools or systems inadequate to our means."

In regard to the agrarian reform program, the president said, it was being carried out as rapidly as possible, although it was still impossible to predict the exact time when it would be completed.

Asserting that he would retire from politics at the conclusion of his term next year, Rodriguez stated that he "categorically affirmed that the transmission of the presidency would be pacific, within the constitution and through simple democratic processes."

The president reaffirmed his previous statements that relations with the United States are extremely cordial because of the "mutual comprehension of our problems and methods and systems of solving them." He said relations with Central America were similarly friendly and that relations with Europe would be intensified on the basis of "traditional friendship."

Receiver for Ex-Governor McCray's Realty Company

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Warren T. McCray's Orchard Lake Realty company was thrown into receivership today by Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick on petition of creditors. John L. Moorman of Knox, Ind., former member of the state prison board, was appointed received for the concern.

POLICY HOLDERS' PETITION AGAINST DAVIS STRICKEN

A petition for the removal of Abel Davis as receiver of the Illinois Life Insurance company was stricken from the files of the United States District court yesterday on order of Judge James H. Wilkerson. The petition, filed in behalf of policy holders of the company, also sought the abrogation of a contract for re-insurance of the policyholders with the Central Life Assurance company of Iowa. The petitioners asked that the Illinois Life be turned over to the Illinois state insurance department for administration.

It was learned during the hearing that the petition had been filed without the permission of the court.

"You cannot come into this court through the back door," Judge Wilkerson told Attorney A. R. Hulburt, representing the petitioning policy holders. The judge then denied a motion for leave to refile the petition.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 20.—The Yankees beat the Sox, 5 to 3, in the Chicagoans' eastern final here today, but the outcome was hailed by the Comiskey partisans, if there were any such, as a rousing moral victory. All three of the Sox runs were earned whereas a homer by Lazzeri was the only earned run scored by the Yankees, who preserved a mathematical chance to beat out Washington with the triumph.

To further stimulate the snortin' Sox in their recollections of the seaboard finale, there is the fact that they made 12 hits to ten for the former world champions, a most stirring accomplishment in these exciting times. The Sox total included a homer, double, and single by Red Kress and three singles in a row by Jack Minter Hayes.

Errors Are a Factor.

There is no special need to blurr the picture with mention that the Sox made four errors, three of which were vital to Yankee success. The record, however, reveals that this had something to do with the way things turned out.

Faber's pitching in the four innings he stuck around was of shutout caliber, but his fielding left much to be desired. Three runs bloomed from two misplays by the veteran.

Crosetti singled to start the third. MacFayden bunted and Red kicked the ball toward third. After recovering it he tossed it underhand past Kress, enabling Crosetti to reach third and MacFayden first. Byrd fanned and Sewell grounded out to Hayes for what should have been the third out, Crosetti scoring. Combs singled to center, scoring MacFayden. Hayes threw out Gehrig.

Chapman produced another unearned run in the fourth. Ben led off with a single. Lazzeri flied to Stoneham, then Rensa bounced to Kress. When Faber was slow covering first, Rensa was given credit for a single. Red then fumbled the belated throw and got an error when Chapman ran to third. Crosetti flied to Haas, scoring Chapman.

The Yankees' earned run, that homer of Lazzeri's, was knocked off Wyatt with one out in the sixth.

Two Sox Double.

The Sox made a run before the Yanks' third double play overtook them in the seventh. Appling singled to center and was forced by Swanson. Kress doubled, Swanson stopping at third. Hayes then singled to left, Swanson scoring and Kress stopping at third. Berry tapped into a double play.

The Chicagoans added a run after two were out in the eighth on successive doubles by Haas and Dykes. The Yankees scored their fifth run and their fourth unearned counter, on two singles and an error by Swanson in this inning.

Kress knocked a homer with one out in the ninth, Hayes followed with his third successive single, but Berry flied to Byrd and Simmons, batting for Heving, ended the game with a bouncer to Lazzeri.

Sox Rest 2 Days in Cleveland, Then Tackle Indians

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 20.—The White Sox will arrive in Cleveland at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. They will loaf for two days before launching a three game series with the Indians starting Saturday afternoon.

Al Simmons must make an average of a hit a game to bring his season total to 200. He has not made an average of a hit a game in the last six weeks. He promises to reach 200 if he has to get the required five in the last two games of the season against the Browns at Comiskey park on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

MR. TERRY FREES McGRAW SLAVES AND WINS FLAG

Nobody Peeps at Keyholes and Curfew's Never Heard

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 20.—Examining the executive methods by which Will Terry was able to win a pennant with the Giants in the year after John McGraw abandoned the club in eighth place, one begins to suspect that ball players might be people after all.

BILL TERRY.

On the day that Terry took charge of the bewildered and rather surly crowd, whom McGraw had quit abruptly, he announced the immediate suspension of the reform school system of discipline, including the curfew and the rite of counting the chain gang into their cells at night, as well as any lingering survivals of the switchboard, keyhole, and waste basket scheme of espionage which had been practiced by Cozy Dolan, the old porrista, before destiny beckoned him out of baseball.

Sentenced later on to spend some time under glass for selling drams in Chicago, Mr. Dolan, by a sweet prank of justice, had occasion to study the effect on a free and restless spirit of the very practices which, in his term as the house dick of baseball he had deemed good and just for athletes whose worst offense had been to sign up with the New York Giants.

McGraw Likes 'Em Dumb or Dumber.

Mr. McGraw, after long and troublesome experience with some of the most picturesque inebriates of the old days of baseball, had lost some of his old confidence in ball player nature. Following the last escapade of shuffling Phil Douglas, who got soused, fell to brooding over his troubles and wrote a letter to a rival offering to go absent from the Giants when they needed him most, McGraw apparently convinced himself that the best of them were not much better than the worst and would bear watching, too.

He said he was tired of picturesque characters, adding that his hair was much the grayer for the worry such people had given him, and showed a preference for plain, dumb, docile efficiency in his men. It seems to have been a mistake to generalize this way, and it probably would have been better for Mr. McGraw if he had discriminated between one ball player and another.

But then there came the case of the O'Connell boy, a quiet and apparently harmless character who, with Dolan, was made a victim of the celebrated kidding around scandal of 1924. Then Mr. McGraw, for a fact, did have some reason to decide that the only way to keep men good was to make them be good. Not only that, but in the development of his discipline he took to running the details of the ball game from his murky cave and it offended the pride of the players, in whom he simultaneously demanded and rebuked dashing initiative, to be publicly beholden to their boss for instructions in the tiniest details of their work.

Drinks O. K., but Drinkers Have to Play Ball.

On the day that Terry took hold and the Giants won a double header for him in celebration of their emancipation, Will announced that henceforth the players might go to the opera if they wished at night and even tarry for a triple decker ham and swiss on rye with mayonnaise at the corner drug store or speakeasy before going to bed. They had his permission to drink beers, large or small, and even more boisterous waters, the only catch in this new freedom being that if, in consequence of dissipation, they couldn't play ball for him they would be fired.

He put it up to the athletes to keep reasonably fit, adding, however, that he didn't like the odor of a drunkard and wouldn't keep one around. In action on the field he gave the pitchers credit for professional intelligence and invited them to take counsel with the catchers, and with them to take the responsibility for

Camilli Ruled Ineligible by Commissioner.

The battle for the 1933 city championship between the Cubs and Sox will open at Wrigley field on Oct. 4. The dates of the seven game series were selected at a conference in the offices of Commissioner K. M. Landis yesterday, following the acceptance of the Cubs' challenge by the White Sox.

John O. Seys represented the Cubs, who were eliminated from the National league pennant race last Sunday. Vice President Harry Grabiner represented the Sox. Grabiner and Margaret Donohue, secretary of the Cubs, were appointed business representatives by Commissioner Landis.

No Change in Prices.

The second game also will be played at the Cubs' field Oct. 5. The following three games will be played at Comiskey park Oct. 6, 7, and 8, and the sixth and seventh contests, if necessary, will be played at Wrigley field on Oct. 9 and 10.

There will be no change in the prices of seats. The regular season prices of $1.65 for box seats, $1.10 for grandstand seats, and 55 cents for bleachers will prevail. All games will start at 2 o'clock.

The Sox have won 11 of the 17 fall series with the Cubs which started in 1903, when they tied with seven games each. The Sox won last spring's series. It was the first time they met prior to the opening of the regular season.

Camilli Is Ineligible.

Adolph Camilli, heavy hitting first baseman, who recently was obtained by the Cubs, will view the series from the bench. The former Pacific Coast league star is ineligible to compete in the games because of the rule which forbids players to participate in the series who join the club after Aug. 15.

The Cubs will have 23 players and two coaches, Corrigan and Schulte, while the Sox will have 22 players and Coach Austin. The players and coaches eligible for the series follow:

NEW YORK PRO ELEVEN BEATS PITTSBURGH, 23-2

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh pro eleven, making its debut tonight in the National league, lost, 23 to 2, to the New York Giants. A crowd of 15,000 saw the contest.

The Pirates, composed largely of last year's college graduates, held the Giants for three periods, but then Harry Newman, Ken Strong, and Reb Russell got going and ruined things with a 16 point final period. Michigan's former captain, Newman, figured in two of the touchdowns and place kicked a 30 yard field goal.

Strong counted the first Giant touchdown in the second period after intercepting a pass. In the fourth quarter Newman went off tackle to score and a little later passed to Burnett for a 37 yard gain and a touchdown. He failed for the try after goal.

FRENCH-U. S. PRO NET MEET WILL OPEN TOMORROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, Sept. 20.—Drawings were made today for the Franco-American professional tennis series which starts Friday, and marks the professional debut of Henri Cochet, once France's leading Davis cup star. Cochet, who recently entered the professional ranks, will face an old rival, William Tilden, American professional, in one of the singles matches.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BASEBALL MEMORIES.

DEAR WAKE: At Cubs park last Saturday, Old Timers' day, the writer sat with Corky Sullivan, pitcher for the old Nationals at the Polk street grounds, dating back to 1890. Sullivan once struck out 22 batters in a league game. Of course, the pitching distance then was 55 feet, but still it was a great feat.

Then we talked of Hubbell's pitching which reminded me of a Big Ten championship game played at Ann Arbor in 1903. Illinois opposed Michigan, of which I was coach, for the title. Jerry Utley was pitching for us with perfect control of his out curve with a good break on it. Illinois was unable to hit him effectively until their batters began to run up and meet the ball before it broke.

As coach, I noted this and shouted to Utley to drive them back with his fast ball. When he came to the bench we again called his attention to what the Illini were doing. He didn't or couldn't follow the advice of the coaching staff, and Illinois bagged the game and the championship, 9 to 2.

In Saturday's game the Cubs were standing at the back end of the box and behind the plate. Pitcher Hubbell, with his change of pace, seemed to break his curve in front of the plate. Cub batters were reaching for it and popping it up. It looked as if they should have changed their stance, but I suppose it's easy enough to sit back and criticize, especially if you're an old timer. The point is, there are no set rules for pitching or batting, so the batters or pitchers who can change their system for the occasion have the best chance of success.

Other new officers named are Harry J. Landry, Friar Point, Miss., first vice president; John J. Ahern, Minneapolis, second vice president; Victor Manhardt, Milwaukee, third vice president; Mike Ahern, Manhattan, Kas., fourth vice president, and W. Frazier Dunlap, Louisville, Ky., secretary-treasurer.

WALSH SUFFERS APPENDIX ATTACK ON WAY TO MEET

Frank Walsh, Bryn Mawr Country club professional and one of the leading golfers in the Chicago district, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis at the Michael Reese hospital last night. His condition was reported satisfactory by Dr. James Patejdl, who performed the operation.

Walsh suffered an attack en route to the Northwestern station, where he was to board a train for Lincoln, Neb., to compete in the Nebraska open golf tournament which opens tomorrow.

Henry, Former Missouri Coach, Signs with Pros

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Gwynn Henry, head football coach at the University of Missouri for nine years, was signed tonight to coach the Gunners, a St. Louis professional team. He will take charge immediately. Henry has not been coaching for the last two years. Frank Carideo, former Notre Dame quarter back, succeeded him at Missouri.

WILDCATS WILL HAVE SHARPER CLAWS THIS YEAR

But Hanley Does Not Look for Title.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern's Wildcats went back to clawing one another at Dyche stadium yesterday afternoon following a day's rest. From this intersquad scrimmage and the tests against the freshmen, the first of which will be held Saturday afternoon, Coach Dick Hanley expects to find the best eleven players to start against Iowa Sept. 30 at Soldiers' field.

For the first time in several seasons, however, Hanley will have sufficient replacements so that two teams probably can be used in most games. The replacements will be by individuals and not by teams, as has been the custom for years at Notre Dame.

Before we survey Northwestern's chance to regain the Western conference football leadership, which it enjoyed in 1930 and 1931, let's hear Hanley's prediction.

Hanley Is Conservative.

"I do not expect Northwestern to win or tie for the title," Hanley said yesterday. "Of course, we'll try our best, but while our material is better it is too inexperienced to expect it can whip Indiana, Ohio State, Minnesota, Illinois, Notre Dame, and Michigan on consecutive Saturdays. The result of the Notre Dame game will not affect our conference standing, but it comes just before Michigan and gives us a double windup which will require our maximum strength if we are to make a good showing.

"Injuries are a matter of luck. Al Kawal, who should be one of the best guards in the Big Ten, already has dislocated his shoulder. He'll be back probably in two weeks.

"Our team should be faster than a year ago, especially in the line. The boys will play intelligent football. They've shown ability to learn rapidly. Northwestern should make a better showing than in 1932, but I will be agreeably surprised if we win or tie for the title."

Gophers Are Menace.

Northwestern meets all the first division Big Ten teams with the exception of Purdue. Stanford and Notre Dame are nonleague games. From the standpoint of schedule, Purdue undoubtedly has an advantage. Minnesota [defeated last year 7 to 0] probably will be the strongest conference eleven the Boilermakers face. This is not Purdue's fault, however. Michigan, Ohio State, and Northwestern have avoided Purdue in the interests of gate receipts, so they say.

Northwestern figures to beat Iowa and Indiana and thus go to Columbus to play Ohio State on Oct. 28 [the only out of town game on the schedule] at least tied for the title. Ohio will have met Michigan on Oct. 21 and if the Buckeyes win that game they will have better spirit than if the Wolverines have beaten them, as they did last year. If the Wildcats get by Ohio State, it is conceivable that they may continue undefeated to the final contest with Michigan.

Northwestern's first team will be built around two back field veterans, Jake Sullivan and Ollie Olson, and three linemen, Ed Manske, Al Kawal, and Bill Riley. Olson will be most valuable as a kicker, but he has improved as a plunger and is a fair passer.

Reserves Get Chance.

Several men who did not play regularly last year should be included in the list. Harry Leeper, half back; Roy Augustson, quarter back who replaces the ineligible George Potter; Howard Kostbade, Art Jens, and Vincent Thoma, ends; John Huess, tackle; Ed Whalen, guard, and Paul Tangora, ineligible last year, should be included.

The list of sophomore prospects is above average. Chuck Hajek, who has had one year's college experience; Walter Cruice and Ed Maroney, half backs; Hugh Duvall, a hard hitting full back; Joe Chambers, a big tackle who outweights Bill Riley, one time giant of the team; Irwin Kopecky, from Morton High school, Cicero, Ill., who should be the outstanding lineman provided he meets scholastic requirements; Charles Hyink, a center from Milwaukee, and Sam Goldstein, a guard from Marshall High, Chicago, who spent some time at Notre Dame, are outstanding.

This array of players has weight,

LINCOLN FIELDS DAILY DOUBLE IS SEASON RECORD

Housewife Has Only Other Ticket.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Out of a crowd of 5,000 persons who watched the races at Lincoln Fields yesterday, two filed through the gates homeward bound along about dusk in a very happy frame of mind. One was Mrs. Rita M. Tiernan, a housewife from down in Dwight, Ill. The other was Louie Carey, a Negro stable boy from Louisville.

And it wasn't any wonder they were jubilant. They were the only two people in the race track gathering who could pick the successful daily double—American Queen in the second race and Peggy Gal in the third—and as a result each walked out of the track with $2,505.80 in their pockets.

One Ticket to Louisville!

Mrs. Tiernan said she was going back to Dwight to attend to her knitting and her household duties.

Stable Boy Carey said he would catch the first train for Louisville, put in plenty of hams, lard and flour, and dig in for the winter.

"No crap shootin', no sah!" he said. "But I expect to be back exercising hawses 'bout next spring."

Carey exercised four horses during the training hour early yesterday morning at Lincoln Fields. His fee for the work was $3.50. His lunch and other incidentals caused his bank roll to dwindle to $2.25. He spent $2 of it for the winning double ticket. He is 18 years old.

It was the biggest daily double of the Chicago season. American Queen, which won the second race was grouped in the field betting and won in the last strides. Her price in the $2 mutuels was $83.14. Peggy Gal, owned by A. B. Gallaher of Kentucky, beat a cheap band in the third and paid off at $15.64. They were two of the widest open races run this year in Chicago and it wasn't any wonder the daily double paid such an enormous price.

Platers Live Up to Name.

An all claiming race program was offered for the first time during the Lincoln Fields season, and the old platers didn't run to form. They had the expert handicappers ripping their hair out by the roots as one favorite after another went down in defeat during the afternoon.

A pair of 2 year old races were the best events on the program and Jockey Sammy Renick piloted outsiders to victory in them. In the six furlong third race he climbed into the saddle on Peggy Gal and drove her home to a narrow victory over Air Ace, from the French Lick Springs stable.

Juveniles came together again in the 5½ furlongs fifth race and Renick, after coming from far back on In Par, a daughter of Infinite-Paradox, got her up just in time to nip Grey Sash within the shadow of the finish line.

Peggy Gal paid $15.64 in the betting and In Par was at $15.36. It was a nice juicy parlay for followers of Jockey Renick who played his mounts in both races.

What! Only $9.96?

The first near-favorite to win all afternoon was Broomshot, which races for W. F. Axton, the tobacco magnate of Louisville. When he got up to snatch a victory by inches from Sun Teatime he paid $9.96 in the mutuels.

After five straight favorites had been beaten, Jockey D. Broic climbed into the saddle on Gibby's Choice, another well backed horse, in the sixth race. Gibby's Choice seemed to want to run, but Broic handled him weakly, had him in all sorts of trouble most of the way, and wound up by finishing far back.

JOHNSON NAMED ASSISTANT COACH AT LAKE FOREST

Gilbert Johnson, former Northwestern football, basketball, and baseball player and for the last three years coach at the Fairbault, Minn., High school, has been appointed assistant director of athletics at Lake Forest college. He will assist Ralph Jones with the football team and will coach freshman basketball and varsity track.

1933 Football Schedules Are Available Now

A pamphlet containing the football schedules of leading universities and colleges in the United States is on sale at THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, and the Tribune Tower lobby. It also includes the schedules of Chicago's two professional elevens, the Cardinals and Bears, and the league games of Chicago public high schools. The price is five cents at the counter and seven cents by mail.

WHITNEY NAMES TWO HORSES FOR CRETE HANDICAP

Contraband, Habanero to Run Saturday.

C. V. Whitney will try for the Marquette handicap which is to feature the final day of racing at Lincoln Fields Saturday afternoon. Mose Goldblatt, trainer of the western division of the Whitney horses, announced yesterday that Contraband and Habanero likely will carry the popular Eton blue Whitney jacket. They are recent arrivals from the Coney Island track. Trainer Goldblatt, who is among the best of western horsemen, won 19 races with the Whitney horses at Coney Island and was the leading trainer of the meeting.

Essoff, the likely favorite in the Marquette, showed her fitness yesterday morning when she galloped a mile and an eighth in 1:55 2-5, going the first mile well in hand in 1:42.

Three horses which formerly raced for Warren Wright's Calumet stable have arrived at Lincoln Fields in charge of Trainer Buddy Hirsch. They are Warren Jr., Kentucky Helen, and Unkie Tom. They will be seen in action soon.

There was quite a celebration in the clubhouse after Irish Image won the first race at odds of nearly 9 to 1. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Schmidt, the owners of the filly, were entertaining a large party during the afternoon and all of them wagered on the daughter of Pharamond.

It isn't often that Jockey Wayne Wright turns in a bad ride, yet he went sound asleep on Alderman John Coughlin's Very Well in the second race. As a result American Queen came up and nipped Very Well in the last stride amid the groans of the first ward followers of Alderman Coughlin who had bet everything but next week's pay check on Very Well.

Trainers Clyde Van Dusen and Jack Howard, who have been in Kentucky for the last four days looking over the education of the yearlings they have in their care, returned to Lincoln Fields yesterday. Van Dusen trains for Dixiana stable and Howard for C. B. Shafer's Coldstream Stud.

$3,000 FUTURITY PACE CAPTURED BY LOGAN SCOTT

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Allan J. Wilson's Logan Scott today won the $3,000 Kentucky Futurity for 3 year old pacers in straight heats.

Lydia Knight had little difficulty in winning the Reynolds stake, secondary feature of the card, keeping up the winning streak that has attended the W. N. Reynolds horses this season.

The best race of the day was the classified trot won by Volo Dear. The first heat was the closest of the meeting to date, the judges being divided as to the winner, two seeing Volo Dear first. The third heat won by Almanwyn was also close.

Time, :24, :48 3-5, 1:14. Two dollar mutuels paid: Irish Image, $19.54 straight, $9.90 place, $6.22 show; Traplou, $5.08 place, $4.08 show; Bostonian Gal, $6.74 show. Winner trained by E. Fitch. Went to post at 1:45 minutes.

IRISH IMAGE, much the best, bettered his position fast when nearing the stretch and, drawing out into a long lead, won in hand. TRAPLOU, under strong urging throughout, saved ground in stretch and weakened near end

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

BROOMSHOT, well ridden, forced early pace under restraint, responded to light pressure when cut down SUN THORN and, holding on with determination, stayed SUN TEATIME. Latter made up some ground on stretch turn, was inclined to loaf when under punishment approaching the final eighth, but rallied in last sixteenth and was wearing down the winner. SUN THORN had his speed, saved ground after first quarter, and went sound to final sixteenth before faltering badly.

Time, :24, 1:8, :48 3-5, 1:01, 1:08 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Gray Sash, $15.36 straight, $6.40 place, $3.60 show; In Bar, $4.80 place, $3.50 show; Yankee Waters, $3.02 show. Winner trained by C. Dubbins. Went to post at 4:00. At post 8 minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

IN BAR, beginning slowly but never a great distance away from the leaders, improved her position steadily when reaching outside, made up ground, and, getting up in final seventy yards, was unable to draw away. GRAY SASH, probably best suited at the post, where he was almost unmanageable and required to start from the outside, was a strong factor throughout and held on gamely when challenged. YANKEE WATERS was under urging after first quarter and weakened after getting to front in stretch.

SCANDAL SHEET, rated along for three-quarters, responded to mild prestine and, veering sharply when clear and with room to run, had a long stride left. LE MINISTRE slow to get going, closed strong on outside. DON TASKER impeded some after the start, lost ground on stretch turn and faltered slightly in the drive, barely failing to outstay LE MINISTRE

TAMERLANE, much the best and cleverly rated, came away from PEACE LADY when entering the stretch, had to be taken up when a door ran across the track as he entered the final eighth, and pulled away in last sixteenth. PEACE LADY moved up with a rush on far turn and, while no match for winner, held on well. FINNIC, taken back after a half mile and steadied on lower turn, went evenly in the drive.

SENATORS WIN, 13-5; NEED ONE MORE VICTORY

Can Clinch Pennant by Triumph Over Browns.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Behind the steady, five hit pitching of Al Crowder, Washington climbed to within a few decimal points of the American league pennant today by pounding out a 13 to 5 victory over St. Louis.

Tired of the suspense, Washington went out to win today and tucked the game away with a seven run rally in the third off Wells and Stiles, while Crowder put the Browns down in order.

Despite the Yankees third straight victory over the White Sox today Washington can clinch the pennant with a triumph over the Browns tomorrow. A Yankee defeat would bring the same result, but the New Yorkers are not scheduled to play again until Saturday, when they go to Boston to face the Red Sox.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Athletics made it three straight over the Detroit Tigers today in the closing series between the two clubs, Lefty Grove turning in his 23d triumph of the season with a 2 to 1 victory in a pitching duel. Although the A's were outhit, 8 to 5, Grove was effective in the pinches. Carl Fischer was on the mound for the Tigers. Score:

FLETCHNER AND WARREN TIE IN AUTO TRADE GOLF

Tom Warren and H. A. Fletchner tied in the Chicago Automobile Trades association's third golf tournament of the year yesterday at Medinah Country club, each coming home with an 18 hole low gross total of 87. A field of 64 competed.

The stroke for stroke efforts of Warren and Fletchner, however, were not sufficient to win for themselves and their two partners the low net foursome prize. That honor went to C. D. Smith, 96—19—77; Frank Arliskas, 90—8—82; W. D. Kirkpatrick, 97—15—82, and F. W. Grimm, 94—8—86, who had a net aggregate of 327. Warren had an 87—6—81; N. A. Hendrickson, 100—18—82; Fletchner, 87—4—83, and Claude Paxton, 95—11—84, for a 330 total.

North Side Out for No. 2 Sunday in Police Series

The second game in the Chicago police department's championship baseball series will be played at Comiskey Park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The North Side won the opening game, 10 to 8.

Eddie Dennis, the star all around athlete of the department, will pitch for the South Siders. Capt. Patrick Harding plans to send Mike Delaney of the traffic division to pitch for the North division.

There will be a program of special events, including fungo hitting, circling the bases, and throwing the baseball for distance.

The games are being played under the auspices of the Policemen's Benevolent association of Chicago. The entire proceeds will go to the fund for widows and orphans of policemen killed in the line of duty.

MOON MULLINS—A BIG INDUCEMENT

20,000 CHEER AS GIANTS RETURN WITH PENNANT

But nine years have elapsed since the Giants last won a championship. Also, this team had conquered in the face of great odds. It had been conceded only a meager chance at the very outset of the race.

Committee Greets Team.

A reception committee headed by William A. Dalton, president of the New York A. C., and Sheriff Joseph T. Higgins, representing Mayor O'Brien, met the squad. Terry and his players were asked to parade through the station as they alighted from a special train which had brought them from St. Louis.

Terry, the popular Blondie Ryan, Carl Hubbell, Mel Ott and other favorites were swamped by admirers who broke through to slap them on the back. It was with difficulty that the police finally got the players out to the street where they were whisked away in automobiles to their homes.

Among the first to greet Terry was Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants, and the latter's son, Horace.

"You've done a wonderful job, Bill," said Stoneham as he shook hands with his manager, "and if you don't think New York appreciates it, just take a look at the crowd outside that is waiting to lay hands on you."

Formal Fete Today.

The reception was only a prelude to more elaborate welcoming ceremonies which are to be showered upon the Giants tomorrow at 10 o'clock. Terry and his players will gather at the Polo grounds and then leave for the city hall where they will be formally received by Mayor O'Brien. The uniformed baseball teams of the police and fire departments will act as an escort to the National league conquerors.

SCRANTON GETS 87 TO LEAD IN REAL ESTATE GOLF

Cassius Scranton shot 43—44—87 to win first low gross in golf competition. Ken Moore was second with 44—44—88 and V. J. Curto third with 46—44—90.

Net prizes were awarded in all classes. Winners in class A were Al Myrean, 90—14—76; A. B. Hall, 89—9—80, and Arthur Kruggell, 100—15—85.

Mark Levy, a former president of the board, headed class B with 45—45—90. Al Swayne with 91, and Robert C. Graham, 95, won the other gross awards. The net winners were H. L. Hendrickson, 93—21—72; George F. Nixon, 96—24—72, and R. W. Bromberg, 97—25—72.

Paul C. Loeber had 104 for low gross in class C. Other winners from scratch were: H. D. Pettibone, 105, and K. C. Thorne, 105. R. H. Peel with 109—35—74; Harold M. Ross, 109—35—74, and G. P. O'Brien, 118—43—75, captured the net awards.

TIDBALL BEATS VINES IN COAST TENNIS TOURNEY

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The disastrous tennis season for Ellsworth Vines Jr., came to an abrupt end in his home state today when Jack Tidball, national intercollegiate champion, eliminated the former national titleholder in the quarter finals of the Pacific southwest tournament today. The scores were 1-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Vines, who said on his return here from the east that this would be his last tournament of the season, literally threw the match away. He won the first set easily, putting too much power in his volleys for Tidball to handle. In the second set, however, he appeared to lose the accuracy and timing that had caused his opponent trouble and the University of California at Los Angeles star took the set to square matters.

Vines started out in his old time form again to pick up five straight games in the final set, only to lapse into a maze of errors that allowed Tidball to take the next seven games and the match.

Goff of Normal Takes Prep Coaching Position

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—James [Pim] Goff, State Normal athlete, who has decided not to play football this fall, today was appointed assistant football coach at University High school of Normal.

Meet Mr. Jackson, the Giants' Young Man with the Old Legs

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

There's at least one member of the New York Giants who regrets that his team wasn't able to get into a world series about three years earlier. That's Travis Calvin Jackson, not long since the class of major league shortstops. Today Jackson is just an old fellow, baseballicly speaking, trying to get around on what remains of a pair of legs that once helped to hold him up as the leader in his chosen position.

Jackson, with Terry his present manager, completes the surviving members of the world series squad of Giants who lost to the Senators in the fall of 1924. But the Jackson of the present and the Jackson of that day are two different fellows. In fact the difference is so great that the veteran wouldn't even be figured on doing some world series work next month if fate hadn't carried Johnny Vergez to the operating room for the removal of an appendix.

The veteran Jackson, granted that his legs hold him up that long, will be occupying Vergez's place at third base in the big fight. Jackson can play third base because it doesn't call for much moving around so long as the enemy hits straight away. But if the Senators, who are tricky about such things, should happen to shower bunts along the third base line, there is no telling what might happen. If Jackson's legs can't withstand such an attack, Manager Terry will have no choice other than to turn the job over to Charley Dressen, a minor leaguer who was recalled when Vergez was put out for the season.

However, if Jackson can stay in there, he might make a nuisance of himself on attack. In only a couple of his many years with the Giants did he average up with the great hitters, but he was a terror in the pinches. The Senators might figure, after noting in the records that he hit only .074 in the seven game 1924 series, that he's nothing to worry about. But in 1924 Jackson was just a kid breaking in and his weak batting that fall may have been due to stage fright.

He's from Waldo and Ouchita College.

If Jackson should tell you where he was born and where he went to college you'd probably answer "oh, yeah?" Not many people ever heard of Waldo, Ark. That's where the Giant veteran was born. He graduated from a college the name of which you pronounce by sneezing. It's Ouchita Baptist college at Arkadelphia, Ark. It was only a short time after he put away his books that he put on a glove and went to work as an out and out professional ball player. He spent the season of 1921 with the Little Rock, Ark., team and before the 1922 season was over the Giants grabbed him.

After his first couple of full seasons with the Giants, Jackson began to suffer with knee trouble, an ailment caused by an injury during his college days. He never was able to shake it off and it finally carried him out of regular action at the age of 30.

their decisions. If a pitcher and a catcher, working on the hitter, couldn't guess what ought to be thrown at the subject's weakness or the guess went wrong that was just baseball to Mr. Terry.

Mr. McGraw, in his years as the master mind, had been inclined to attend to many of these mental chores and though he had enjoyed many years of success, his team hadn't won a pennant in eight years and was settled in eighth place.

There was a conflict of ambition between Terry and Freddy Lindstrom, his old roommate and friend, who had hoped to be manager himself, but Terry disposed of this trouble by trading Lindstrom away to Pittsburgh this year. He remained a ball player among ball players, but declined the job of chaperon and was just sufficiently an executive to make his own decisions and enforce them. Without luck he would not have been the conspicuous success that he is at this time, but his luck worked and justified him in actions for which otherwise he would now be condemned and possibly fired.

BENSON'S 84 WINS IN LIONS CLUB GOLF MEET

E. C. Benson won low gross yesterday in the bi-monthly golf tournament of the Oak Park Lions club at the Medinah Country club, shooting a 43—41—84. A stroke back of him was Jerry Wood with 42—43—85. Third place went to R. O. Andrews with 47—42—89. Members from Crystal Lake, Woodstock and Des Plaines competed in yesterday's event.

Prep Football Rules Will Be Interpreted at Meeting

Members of the Illinois High School Athletic association from Chicago and nearby cities will be the guests of the Central Officials' association at a football rules interpretation meeting tonight at the Great Northern hotel at 7:30 o'clock. The playing code of the National High School federation will be discussed.

Skaters Meet Tomorrow to Schedule Meets

Theodore A. Gross, president of the Illinois Western Skating association, has called a meeting for members of the board of control tomorrow evening at the Morrison hotel. Plans will be formulated for speed ice skating events, both indoor and outdoor, for the coming season.

Lamont Sizes Up St. Rita Chances, Finds Them Good

Daniel Lamont, back in Chicago after two years as line coach at the University of Washington, is optimistic over the chances of his St. Rita eleven finishing the season near the top of the Chicago Catholic High School league.

A star end for four years at Loyola university, Lamont was appointed assistant football coach at his alma mater immediately after his graduation in 1927. He served as captain of the Loyola eleven in 1926. He succeeded Roger Kiley as head coach in the middle of the 1928 season and later was made athletic director. He resigned Feb. 18, 1930, to accept the position at Washington. He was succeeded by Dr. E. J. Norton, but in 1931 Loyola officials decided to drop football from the sports schedule.

St. Rita meets St. Ignatius Sunday in a pre-season game sponsored by the St. Rita High School Men's club at St. Rita field, 63d street and Claremont avenue. It will meet Mount Carmel, last year's league champion, in its opening league contest at Soldiers' field Oct. 7.

NAVY CAN SEND 185 POUND LINE INTO CONTESTS

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The heaviest football team that Navy can put on the field this year will average 185 pounds on the line and 179 pounds in the back field. Head Coach Edgar E. [Rip] Miller checked over his A squad material today, selecting his heaviest team and his lightest and fastest aggregation.

Miller said he wanted the heavy group for use on special occasions and as a "first quarter team."

Young Is Named Track Captain at Notre Dame

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 20.—Joe Young of Newark, N. J., was elected track captain and Vince Fehlig of St. Louis was named to lead the Notre Dame golf squad today. Young is a two miler. Fehlig has been No. 3 man on the Irish golf squad for the last two years.

Buffalo Evens Series, Beats Rochester, 16-4

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Buffalo hammered three Rochester pitchers for 19 hits and a 16 to 4 triumph tonight and tied the International league playoff finals with two games each.

Sonnenberg Files Suit for Divorce at Reno

WILDCATS WILL HAVE SHARPER CLAWS THIS YEAR

far more than in 1932. As a result the backs will gain more easily on running plays. The team has speed. It appears to be rugged and most important, possessed of splendid spirit.

The chief weakness is lack of an accurate forward passer. It will be no fault of the coaches if the boys fail to block hard and tackle accurately.

A guess of Northwestern's prospects in the conference would be victories over Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, and Illinois with fair chances for victory over Ohio State and Michigan.

MORE PLAYS FOR MAROONS.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy yesterday continued the strenuous but deliberate practice program he has laid out for the 43 University of Chicago football men. The squad gathers daily at 8:30 for a short talk by the coach, runs plays in three teams for two hours, and concludes the morning with calisthenics. The afternoon session consists of more plays, passing and kicking, and finishes with an hour of vigorous attack against blocking and tackling dummies. Any more work, the boys feel, would be outside the spirit of the NRA.

The first public practice will be held Saturday afternoon.

ILLINI TRY THEM ALL.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—A constant shifting of lineups during today's long scrimmage gave Coach Bob Zuppke of the Illinois football team an opportunity to view many more likely candidates who probably will get additional tests in Saturday's game with the freshmen. Zuppke realizes that he has quite a few boys to look at and so hustles them in and out of the battle.

Passing and punting are still an integral part of the daily drill and Jack Beynon, who came to the fore in the Indiana and Ohio State games last season, is the leader in both. Les Lindberg, most prominent sophomore back field candidate, is Beynon's closest rival.

BADGER OFFENSE CLICKS.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Long practice on fundamentals followed by a lengthy scrimmage in which the offensive forces appeared more adept constituted today's work for Wisconsin's football squad. Evening practice was extended, taking the place of two daily sessions prevailing before classes began.

After four days of practice assistant coaches are confident offensive maneuvers of the squad work more smoothly than they did a year ago at this time. James Bingham, half back, was coached extensively in getting accuracy with passes. Marvin Peterson, half back, gained considerable ground through the line.

Kenneth Kundert, half back last year, and Jack Bender, member of the basketball squad, reported for workouts. Coaches set about developing Kundert's ability to punt which was demonstrated to some extent last year.

PURDUE SEEKS DECEPTION.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Purdue took to the air again today as Coach Noble Kizer emphasized the development of a deceptive forward passing attack. Pardonner, Carter, Purvis, and Hecker, the first string backfield, did the passing, with Doxie Moore replacing Hecker at full back for a time. Kizer intimated that for the Big Ten opener with Minnesota he was depending on speed and deception instead of power.

Four Horsemen of 1933 Appear at Notre Dame

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—There may be another four horsemen backfield in the making at Notre Dame. Tony Mazziotti, Andy Pilney, Mike Layden, and Don Elser, sophomore backs, were used as a unit for the first time today with the second team.

The only catch is that he may need Tony Mazziotti, leading sophomore quarter back candidate, with the varsity. In this event Gaul or Fromhart could work into the sophomore group at quarter back and Anderson would still have a group he can count upon for three seasons.

SHIFTS GOPHER BACKS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Coach Bernie Bierman today promised a shakeup of Minnesota back field men in an effort to get more punch into the offense.

Dick Farmer, Stillwater, Minn., will be the first to get a trial at right half back. If he does not come through, George Rennix or Julius Alphone will be used. Bill Proffitt, right half back last year, has been slow in rounding into form because of an injury.

Another change may come in the line, with Lundgren, a guard, shifting over to tackle.

WOLVERINES SHOW POWER.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The players Coach Harry Kipke figures will carry most of the load in Michigan's football campaign this year showed plainly in the first scrimmage of the season today why they have earned their rating. Four touchdowns were rolled up by the varsity team, three of them on running plays and the last on a long pass.

Most of the veterans played as expected with Everhardus and Heston of the regular backs, and Rudness, Renner and Schmidt among the newer men standing out. Standouts in the line, aside from the regulars, were Singer at guard and Wiergiver at tackle.

IOWA END SENT TO BACKFIELD.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—In an attempt to find a replacement for Lawrence Haltom, sophomore quarterback who suffered a broken ankle in yesterday's scrimmage, Coach Ossie Solem moved Robert Rook, end, to the University of Iowa back field today.

X-ray pictures revealed today that a small bone in Haltom's ankle was broken. Dr. A. S. Fourt, medical adviser, said that he would be out of the lineup for at least a month and probably the entire season.

OHIO STRESSES PASSES.

Columbus, O., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Ohio State's football practice today consisted mainly of work on formations stressing forward passing plays. The line underwent two drills in blocking.

Coaches are searching for punters and had the entire team of approximately 50 candidates kicking. Cramer and Johnson loomed as the best punters.

STUDY MIAMI PLAYS.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Two freshmen elevens, using Miami university plays, opposed the Indiana university varsity squad in scrimmage this afternoon in preparation for the opener with Miami here on Sept. 30.

Bob Jones, who played full back last year, led his teammates in a kicking drill, with an average of 45 yards in six punts. Jones has been shifted to the line, but will continue to be the team's chief punter.

CASEY CARDS 114 FOR 27 HOLES IN AUCHTERMUCHTY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The weather man went Caledonian yesterday for the opening of the Auchtermuchty, annual invitation tournament of the Oak Park Country club, as the 116 competitors discovered before the first 27 holes were completed. The winds which flog St. Andrews and Glen Eagles in Scotland are no more Scotch than those which harried the Oak Park course yesterday.

It took an Irishman, however, to solve the fourteen water hazards which traverse the course, and from which the name of the tournament, designating "Winding stream" derives itself. He was Douglas Casey, of the home club, who turned the first 18 holes of the Auchtermuchty in 74, two over par, and then came back with a 40, for a total of 114, far in front of the field. If Casey does likewise today in the concluding 27 holes he should have little difficulty in winning the 54 hole low gross prize in class A, which carries with it the title of Auchtermuchty champion.

The prizes for the Auchtermuchty will not be awarded until the conclusion of today's play. They include low gross for the first 18 holes in classes A, B, and C for each day; first and second low net for the opening 18, and low gross in the three classes for the final nine. For the 54 holes distance, there are low gross honors in the three classes, four low net prizes, and two low net foursome awards.

1,500 Honor Mayor at Olympia Fields.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Seven thousand politicians and business men gathered yesterday at the Olympia Fields Country club to celebrate Mayor Kelly day, social and athletic occasion sponsored by the Lets-Go-Chicago club in honor of the city's chief executive.

Approximately 1,500 played golf. From early morning until twilight they paraded over the fairways of the club's four courses while the less athletically inclined gathered on the verandas and clustered about the refreshment tents, handshaking and praising beer.

Frank Jordan played the best golf of the day, shooting a 69 to take low gross prize on course No. 1. John Wagner was second with 72 and H. F. Rasmussen, 73, was third.

The prizes on course No. 2 went to Dan Simpson, 76; William McDermott, 77, and M. Labart, 79. On course No. 3, Paul Drews won first place with a 70, Tony Scavone, 71, was second and Ben Stevenson, 75, third. Dan Meany shot 71 over course No. 4, Gus Fetz, 72, and J. B. Connell, 73.

In an approaching contest, Capt. William Russell and William Waddell each knocked six balls out of ten into a net from a range of 35 yards.

Flynn Arranges Party.

Arrangements for the festival were made by Michael Flynn, president of the Lets-Go-Chicago club; William McDonnell, general chairman; Joseph Triner, chairman of the entertainment committee; and Lee Sawyer, chairman of the golf committee.

Ten groups of strolling players provided music during the day, and in the evening there was entertainment in the clubhouse. The leading gross scores follow:

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Acute weaknesses developed today in all sections of the listed bond market. United States government bonds were down 4-32 to 18-32 point on the day despite the fact that rallies during the final hour on the stock exchange minimized the earlier heavy losses. The turnover in United States government long term issues was $3,049,000 of the total dealings of $14,604,000 in the listed market.

The market for United States government issues was chiefly engineered by institutions and large corporations, some obviously lightening their portfolios with others, notably savings banks, inclined to buy on the decline.

Setback Is Severe.

The setbacks in bond market generally today were the most severe since the present downward movement started a few days ago.

Domestic corporation bonds were down fractionally to 10 points, with few issues running counter to the general trend. The majority of the issues, however, are still comfortably above the lows for the year to date. Public utility, railroad, and industrial bonds averaged lower in the order named, with many issues legal for investment for savings banks and trust funds in New York state showing losses commensurate with those established by admittedly low grade issues.

Most Foreign Issues Down.

Although a few issues in the foreign group scored small advances, many dropped 1 to 7½ points, with nine issues in the German group touching new lows for the year. German government bonds, however, were up more than a point.

French municipal issues active today climbed to new peaks for 1933, although the French government issues were unchanged to fractionally higher. Argentine government loans were the weakest of the Latin-American group.

Curb bonds closed weak with the losses ranging from fractions to 10 points in the domestic group.

Tide Water Associated Oil.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me information on Tide Water Associated Oil? Sta...pe., addressed envelope is enclosed.—R. A.

Answer: Tide Water Associated Oil company is a holding company whose two main subsidiaries, Associated Oil company and Tide Water Oil company, are engaged in all phases of the petroleum business. Operations of Associated Oil are centered mainly on the Pacific coast, while Tide Water Oil operates mostly in eastern, southwestern and middlewestern territories.

The organization has been active in building up its crude oil reserve. It has acquired extensive holdings in the low cost east Texas fields while disposing of some of its high cost holdings in the Mid-Continent area. Proration measures have prevented the company from taking full advantage of its position as a producer, necessitating the purchase of crude.

Writedown of fixed assets in 1932 substantially cut depreciation and depletion charges. Decline in value of the American dollar in international trade has undoubtedly saved the company from foreign exchange losses and has probably helped the export business. In 1931 loss on foreign exchange was $392,000.

Gross sales in the first half of 1933 totaled $37,253,000, against $44,102,000 in the corresponding 1932 period. Net income in the second quarter of 1933 of 1,413,000 offset the loss in the first quarter and enabled the company to report net income of $174,000, which was one-tenth of preferred dividends, for the first half. Net income in the first half of 1932 was $2,100,000, or 1 cent per common share.

Net income for 1932 was $4,719,000, or 13 cents per common share, against loss of $5,819,000 for 1931. Net in 1930 equaled 76 cents per common share, against $1.73 in 1929.

On June 30, 1933, cash assets of $11,890,000 compared with total current liabilities of $9,302,000. Current assets were $46,923,000.

Deferred purchase money obligations amounted to $4,580,000. There are outstanding 666,524 shares of 6 per cent $100 par preferred and 5,612,240 shares of no par common. The preferred dividend due April 1, 1933, was omitted.

The company has a well established trade name which should assure demand for its products. Substantial profits, however, must await the curbing of overproduction, which would have a salutary effect on prices, running of "bootleg" oil and other destructive marketing practices of the industry.

Both the preferred and the common are speculative at present.

STOCK TRADERS VOTE TO MOVE TO NEW JERSEY

Group Is Named to Select Site.

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—The discussion of plans for a new stock exchange in New Jersey was translated into action today. About three-fourths of the members of the New York Stock exchange have applied for seats on the New Jersey board, and regardless of any late changes in the New York City tax program that started the shift, it appeared certain today that most of the security dealings here would be moved within a few weeks.

In addition the New York curb indicated it would also move to the Jersey shore.

The organization committee, headed by Howard Froelick of De Coppet & Doremus, has arranged to obtain 700 telephone circuits between New York and New Jersey if that site is selected. It has appointed an executive committee to enter into a contract for the location of the exchange and arrange for ticker service, which can be supplied by the Western Union company within two weeks.

Would Use New York System.

In view of this short period for installation of tickers, it is assumed that the quotations from the New Jersey board will be fed into the present quotation system of the New York Stock exchange, which would continue to operate at its present site, although most of the trading in active issues would be conducted on the new exchange.

The exchange committee in charge of locating the new exchange includes Mr. Froelick, Arthur Miles of Moore & Schley, and Morton S. Stern of J. S. Bache & Co.

"The committee has determined to restrict membership in the new exchange to members of the New York Stock exchange," Mr. Froelick explained.

"The committee on organization has extended an invitation to the president, treasurer and governing committee of the New York Stock exchange to become the officers and governing committee of the new exchange."

Whitney Would Join.

Richard Whitney, the president, and Warren B. Nash, the treasurer, are applicants for membership. No partners of J. P. Morgan & Co. or Kuhn, Loeb & Co. were on the initial list of applicants issued today, however.

"Although members will be given the right to appoint a partner or employé to represent them on the new exchange," Mr. Froelick continued, "the governing committee of the new exchange will have power to restrict this representation and to require a fee for the exercise of this privilege. The committee felt that this step was necessary to prevent unfair competition between the different types of firms which are now engaged in business on the New York Stock exchange.

"The governing committee of the New York Stock exchange has been invited to act as the governing committee of the new exchange because it was felt that their experience would be invaluable in the administration of the new exchange and would also insure the maintenance of the same standards of business conduct."

"National" Exchange Dropped.

The momentum of the movement sponsored by the Froelick committee was too much for the National Stock exchange proposed by the partners of J. Robinson-Duff & Co., who have announced the abandonment of their plan and have supported the other movement.

From the fragmentary details of the plans developed so far it appeared today that New York Stock exchange members' offices here would become branch offices of partnerships with headquarters in New Jersey. Out of town business would be delivered to the New Jersey offices and be executed on the New Jersey floor.

The broker's income from this business, therefore, would not be subject to the New York state income tax and the transaction would be free from the state stamp tax and proposed city stamp tax unless the certificates were transferred physically on the corporation's stock books in New York.

It is expected, however, that transfer offices in many issues will be opened in New Jersey.

Cudahy Packing Company to Pay Regular Dividends

Cudahy Packing company directors yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents on the common stock, payable Oct. 16 to stock of record Oct. 5. Regular semi-annual dividends were voted on the preferred stocks.

Steel Output Up; Chicago at 44 Per Cent

Pressure for shipments has effected what the Iron Age calls a "temporary reversal" in the trend of steel production, and the national steel works average has increased to 43 per cent from 41 a week ago.

At Chicago operations have improved to 44 per cent from 41, primarily because of receipts of orders for 24,000 tons of the 31,000 tons of rails recently purchased by the Chesapeake and Ohio, according to the Iron Age.

Although ingot output declined from 34 to 32 per cent at Pittsburgh and from 37 to 35 per cent in eastern Pennsylvania, the valley rate rose from 45 to 48 per cent, and the Buffalo rate from 44 to 47 per cent.

Backlogs Are Reduced.

"Market activity in the last week has been confined mainly to releases of sheets and strip steel on which Sept. 15 has been fixed as the deadline for the acceptance of third quarter specifications," reports the Iron Age. "Otherwise bookings have declined, and producers have been forced to reduce their backlogs."

Declining business volume and rising costs have provoked some disquietude in the iron and steel industry over prices recently filed for the fourth quarter, says the review, which recalls that quotations on plates, shape, and bars for the period have been withdrawn.

Labor costs have been augmented by new increases in wages up to 12½ per cent. The revision, which was put into effect Sept. 15, "is intended to straighten out madadjustments growing out of reductions in working hours." The first advance, 15 per cent flat, was made on July 15.

Fuel Costs Point Upward.

"The industry's fuel costs are likewise headed upward," says the Iron Age. "The final adoption of the coal code will automatically result in higher fuel prices, but the full extent of the increase is uncertain in view of continued labor disturbances in western Pennsylvania."

The journal declares that uncertainties growing out of the code for the steel industry are still perplexing the trade. Dissatisfied with the provision that all rail freight rates be paid on steel, automobile companies are asking for "the establishment of an arbitrary delivered price at Detroit equal to the Pittsburgh base price plus 15 cents, or 20 cents per 100 pounds." Their argument is that there is no justification for depriving them of the economies of water and truck shipments.

Rail Buying Is Light.

No considerable railroad buying has arisen. "The trade is pinning its hopes on the early launching of a government sponsored program under which both rails and rolling stock would be bought on a large scale," says the Iron Age.

Though structural steel lettings are still light, totaling 6,200 tons, again t 8,165 tons a week ago, "government financed construction work is moving more rapidly toward the stage where it will affect iron and steel output."

The navy department has awarded 1,350 tons of plates, of 9,000 tons of plates, shapes, and bars required for ten destroyers.

The Iron Age scrap composite has fallen from $11.42 to $11.17 a ton. Composite prices on finished steel and pig iron are unchanged at 1.979 cents a pound and $16.71 a gross ton.

LOADINGS RISE TO 101,517 CARS ON N. Y. CENTRAL

Car loadings on the New York Central lines last week totaled 101,517, against 90,326 in the preceding week and 89,945 in the comparable period of 1932. The increase over loadings of the preceding week indicated a recovery from the decline in traffic attributable to Labor day.

Car loadings of the Baltimore & Ohio for the week ended Sept. 16 were substantially above the preceding week and the comparable period last year, the system reported yesterday. Loadings for the week totaled 30,641 cars against 27,370 in the Labor day week, and 25,668 in the corresponding period of 1932.

AAA OFFICIALS REJECT PACKER MARKET PLANS

[Copyright: 1933: By the Associated Press.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Officials of the agricultural adjustment administration have decided to reject the proposed marketing agreement submitted by meat packers and are writing a new one which contemplates demanding that accounts and records of packing firms be made accessible to Secretary Wallace.

Members of the administration staff instructed to watch out for the interests of consumers have decided that the proposed agreement provided no assurance of better prices to live stock producers and lacked assurance against higher prices for consumers.

They recommended that the accounts and records of packing firms be made accessible in the interest of both producers and consumers in an effort to determine whether the spread in prices could not be shortened.

Studies Packer History.

Investigators working under the direction of Dr. Fred C. Howe, the consumers' counsel, have made an intensive study of the relations of packers and the government since 1890, including investigations and findings of the federal trade commission. He recommended that no agreement be approved releasing packers from anti-trust laws unless their accounts were opened to official inspection.

In a memorandum drafted by Dr. Howe's assistants and circulated today among administrators, the proposed agreement as submitted by the Institute of American Meat Packers was criticized and described as lacking:

"Specific indication of what the industry wishes to accomplish by a marketing agreement other than allocation of live stock supplies among the various packers."

Want Access to Books.

"Even this is only vaguely formulated," the memorandum added. "Moreover, the proposal does not provide that the secretary may have access to all accounts and records.

"Proper interpretation of the proposed agreement is necessary because of the magnitude and social importance of the meat-packing industry.

"It is also important in view of the history of certain enterprises dominant in the industry for at least a generation. These enterprises, collectively known as 'the big five' or 'the packers,' have acquired a striking reputation for exploiting and abusing the community in their own interest.

"Their notoriously anti-social activities have subjected them to continuous scrutiny, formal investigation, prosecution, or attempted control by the federal government since 1890.

Would Consider Record.

"It would appear most desirable for the public welfare that the marketing agreement now proposed by the meat packing industry be considered in the light of the industry's public record."

The detailed memorandum then discussed past investigations of the industry by the federal trade commission, including that of 1919, and the events which led up to the establishment of the packer consent decree of 1920 under which limitations were placed on the activities of the principal packing firms.

After a summary of litigation involving packing companies and the government, the memorandum said:

"There appears to be sufficient evidence available indicating the probable social implications of an arrangement which would have legal sanction giving the meat packers the power of effecting more or less independent regulation and allocation of supplies.

Mentions Past Conduct.

"Also, the records speak eloquently of the packers' conduct when they were actually required to present information on their business affairs to a government agency. Little imagination is needed to determine the probable nature of the packers' activities in case they are given such great regulatory powers without being obliged to reveal their accounts on demand.

"It would appear particularly important in the face of evidence here cited to examine with care any proposal to allocate live stock supplies among the packers and to insist that the industry's accounts be opened to inspection to proper public agents."

INFLATION! How Fast? How Far?

Top men in government, finance and industry are depending increasingly upon the Harland Allen Economic Letter for the "spotting" and interpretation of significant facts. They do so because of its consistently successful forecasts.

The Letters of August 28 and September 18 summarize inflation prospects under NRA. One dollar will bring you a three weeks' trial subscription, and in addition these two timely issues on inflation. Annual rate $25.

Steel Group Names Tower as Secretary

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 20.—Although a successor to Robert P. Lamont as president of the American Iron and Steel institute was not appointed today at a meeting of the institute's board of directors, Walter Sheldon Tower of the Bethlehem Steel company was elected "executive secretary," and he will organize the institute's staff under the NRA.

WALTER S. TOWER. [Assoc. Press Photo.]

When it was announced by the Institute last week that Mr. Lamont had resigned, the belief existed that he would be succeeded by Charles M. Schwab, who relinquished the post a year ago, to Mr. Lamont. Mr. Tower has been manager of commercial research of the Bethlehem Steel company of which Mr. Schwab is chairman of the board.

Accepts Lamont Resignation.

A formal and brief statement issued by the institute today, however, said the board had accepted Mr. Lamont's resignation, but no successor was appointed. The closed meeting was attended by Donald R. Richberg, general counsel of the NRA, and K. M. Simpson, deputy administrator, Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation and senior member of the institute's board, presided.

Following the meeting in the institute's offices in the Empire State building a spokesman said the board discussed only routine matters in connection with the administration of the recovery code for the iron and steel industry.

It was said that no revisions in the code were made and that no complaints were recorded. The discussions had to do with definitions relating to various phases of the code. It was also said that no reports had yet come to the institute on reemployment in the industry.

Confirmed by Richberg.

These reports of the meeting, emanating from the institute, were confirmed by Mr. Richberg on leaving the building to go to Newark, where he said he would board a plane immediately for Washington.

Mr. Richberg was asked if there had been any discussion of the estimate of steel executives that compliance with the NRA would cost the industry 100 million dollars. He also was asked about reports that the administration was exerting influence to bring a reduction of at least $3 a ton in rail prices. He said neither report had been discussed and he had no comment himself to make on the subject.

WHOLESALE PRICES OF CIGARETS SLATED TO ADVANCE SHORTLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 20.—The long expected price jump in wholesale cigarets will be announced within the next two weeks and will be one of 85 cents a thousand instead of the 50 cents which was planned for Sept. 5, according to information obtained in well informed quarters today.

The announcement of a 50 cent advance, which was scheduled for the day after Labor day, was held up pending a definite and final analysis of what the processing taxes and additional costs of operation under the code would be. The larger advance is understood to have been decided upon last week.

When the 85 cent increase is announced the wholesale price of the four standard brands of cigarets will be, it is understood, $6.35 a thousand although careful analysis of cigaret producing costs are at a loss to discover why the additional 35 cents should be charged.

It is considered probable that one of the big four companies, either American Tobacco, R. J. Reynolds, Liggett & Myers, or P. Lorillard & Co., will make the announcement, with the others meeting the price a few days later.

THREATENS SUIT OVER SALARIES OF PUBLIX HEADS

New York, Sept. 20. — An action against former and present officers of the bankrupt Paramount Publix corporation to recover "excessive salaries" was threatened today by Samuel Zirn, representing a group of creditors at a hearing before Henry K. Davis, federal referee in bankruptcy.

The attorney charged that the salaries paid to Adolph Zukor and Jesse Lasky amounted to "looting of the company's funds and of the stockholders' property." When Mr. Zirn asked the witness, Austin C. Keough, general counsel and a director of the company, if the bonuses and salaries paid did not seem to amount to "looting," the referee sustained objections of opposing counsel.

"Didn't it seem that a moving picture executive getting ten times what the President of the United States was getting amounted to looting the estate?" Mr. Zirn persisted.

Report Paris Exchange Will Bar U. S. Securities

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 20.—American securities will not be permitted entrance to the Paris stock exchange when the new law admitting foreign securities is put into effect, it was reliably reported today. It was understood that the action is being taken on the ground that the American dollar is of such uncertain value at present that it is felt that only confusion would result from the introduction of securities based on the dollar.

Production of Electricity Shows a Gain

The production of electricity in the United States for the week ended Sept. 16 amounted to 1,663,212,000 kilowatt hours, the highest aggregate for any week since December, 1931, according to the Edison Electric institute. The increase over output in the comparable week of 1932 was 12.7 per cent, compared with 11.1 per cent for the preceding week.

In the Chicago district electricity output, amounting to 100,477,000 kilowatt hours, was the largest of any week so far this year, according to the Commonwealth Edison company, and showed an advance of 16.3 per cent over the output in the comparable week of 1932, against 18.3 per cent in the preceding week. Unusually dark weather has contributed to the accumulation of kilowatt hours.

Chicago Comparisons.

Sept. 16	100,477,000	86,415,000	16.3
Sept. 9	95,110,000	80,405,000	18.3
Sept. 2	97,168,000	87,087,000	11.6
Aug. 26	96,330,000	85,023,000	13.3

The gains in output of most of the territorial divisions over output in the like week of last year were greater than the gains shown in the preceding week.

Gain 9.3 Per Cent.

In the Middle Atlantic states the gain was 9.3 per cent, against 7.7 per cent; in the central industrial region, 17.9 against 16.2; in the west central region, 6.9 against 3.7; Rocky mountain area, 27.6 against 26.7, and southern states, 10.7 against 8.4.

On the other hand, in New England the increase was 9.5 per cent against 10.7 in the preceding week, and on the Pacific coast, 1.2 against 2.6.

Report Wieland Elected Illinois Borden President

Directors of the Borden Farm Products Company of Illinois have elected Charles J. Wieland president to succeed Dr. Fred D. Walmsley according to reports in milk circles last night. Mr. Wieland has been president of the Wieland Dairy company, a Borden subsidiary. Dr. Walmsley was reported to have been elected chairman of the board. He is president of the International Association of Milk Dealers, which opens its annual convention here today.

Dollar Dips Further in Erratic Trade

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 20.—The dollar depreciated further today in a foreign exchange market characterized by exceptionally wide fluctuations, judged even by recent erratic standards. Opening weak, the United States unit sank rapidly to a new low, against the gold standard exchanges. In the early afternoon it rallied sharply, but late in the day weakness again set in, carrying the dollar almost back to its lows of the morning.

The pound sterling advanced to $4.85½ early in the day, the highest price reached on the current movement and only 1 cent below its parity. The franc reached 6.15 cents, a new high, the guilder 63.30 cents, also a new high, and the price of gold fixed by the treasury was marked up to $32.28 an ounce, a gain of 64 cents over Tuesday's quotation and the highest price yet set.

Sterling Forced Down.

With the franc at its high for the day the dollar had an indicated gold value of 63.71 cents, a new low since the suspension of the gold standard here.

The recovery in the dollar forced sterling down to $4.78, the franc to 6.01½ cents and the guilder to 62.25 cents. At this point the dollar showed an indicated gold value, in terms of the franc of 65.13 cents. In the closing recession of the dollar part of the gains against sterling were retained, leaving that exchange at $4.79½, down ¾ cent on the day, but the gold standard exchanges all rose above their final prices of the previous day.

Franc Closes Higher.

Francs closed at 6.06½ cents, up 1 point, guilders at 2.50 cents, up 10 points, Swiss francs at 30.05 cents, up 5 points and Belgas at 21.60 cents, up 3 points. The Canadian dollar was firm most of the day, rising at one time to 98 15-16 cents, but it closed with a net loss of 1-16 cent at 98⅛ cents.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced the export of 6,607 fine ounces of gold recovered from natural deposits, an amount equal at today's treasury price for gold to $536,073.96. This is the second shipment of newly mined gold to be made since the treasury's practice of accepting such gold on consignment for sale in the world market was started.

TRUSTEES UNIT ASKS OPINION ON REORGANIZATION

Receivers for the Trustees System Discount company yesterday asked Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson for instruction as to whether to go along with the contemplated reorganization by the parent company. Trustees System Service corporation, once a $35,000,000 organization.

Learning that Referee Garfield Charles is to rule whether the parent company and some of the subsidiaries are to continue in equity receivership or be adjudicated bankrupt, Judge Wilkerson continued the hearing until Oct. 6.

Issue of 7 Per Cent Soviet Russian Bonds Offered

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 20.—The Soviet American Securities corporation is offering to the American public 7 per cent gold bonds of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. The feature of the bonds is that both principal and interest payments are based on a fixed quantity of gold. Interest is paid quarterly in American currency at the prevailing rate of exchange.

A reactionary tendency developed in silver futures in New York yesterday. The close was 45 to 70 points lower with sales of 10,550,000 ounces. Closing prices: September, 40.50 cents; December, 40.80 cents; March, 41.40 to 41.45 cents; May, 42.10 cents; July, 42.60 cents.

FEDERAL BONDS HIT BY SPECTER OF INFLATION

Crisis in Experiment Believed Near.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

A slump in the market for United States government bonds, combined with the dollar's decline to a new low of 64.58 cents, and a further rise in the price of gold to $32.28, yesterday convinced the financial community that the nation has come to the crossroads in its "controlled" inflation experiment.

The market for government bonds is an accurate index of the credit of the federal government. After observing the action of that market yesterday, government bond experts freely expressed the opinion that only immediate stabilization or an official announcement that the United States will avoid further inflation could prevent demoralization of the market for "governments."

Reserve Has Bolstered Prices.

For months the federal reserve banks have helped sustain quotations on government bonds above par, but the consensus yesterday was that not even the purchase of hundreds of millions of dollars of bonds by the reserve banks could keep prices up if the administration fails to announce that the clamor from the cotton states and silver states for further inflation will be resisted.

The nation is in the position of a man who has had three drinks and who is trying to make up his mind whether to go home or to start on the fourth drink and make a night of it.

Want Halt in Inflation.

If assurance is not immediately given in Washington that inflation will go no further, say the experts, the market for government bonds will cease to exist and if that occurs the government will be able to sell no more bonds, either to refund maturing issues or to pay for the billions pledged for public works and credit expansion through the RFC. That would leave the printing of greenbacks as the only alternative. Bonds could be sold to the federal reserve banks in exchange for "asset" money, but that is merely a disguised form of greenbackism.

Thus, a vicious circle would be begun. The resort to printing press money to finance a government that could not market its bonds would, in turn, further demoralize the market for such bonds, say the financial men.

Bond Situation Weak.

The decline in government bond prices yesterday was not severe, but it was the second day of weakness. Trading was light and the market was exceedingly thin. Traders said that substantial offerings would have forced a steeper drop.

The treasury 3¼s, due in 1941, which were recently marketed, closed just above par at $100 26-32, compared with $101 4-32 on Tuesday and $101 11-32 on Monday. The treasury 3⅛s, due 1946-'49, dropped below par and closed at $99 24-32, compared with $100 1-32 on Tuesday and $100 7-32 on Monday. Liberty 3½s, due 1932-'47, closed at $102 8-32, compared with $102 18-32 on Tuesday.

Hear Resistance Reports.

Hopes were raised in the financial district by the news from Washington that the sound money faction of the President's advisers were urging him to resist demands for further inflation.

It was pointed out that inflation of the "controlled" variety has already been accomplished and that further inflation would result in the nation's departure into the great unknown of printing press money.

When the inflation program was launched its sponsors loudly announced their distaste for "uncontrolled" inflation and stoutly asserted

GRAINS CLOSE LOWER DUE TO BEARISH NEWS

Inflation Situation Is a Market Factor.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A reported coolness on the part of President Roosevelt to immediate inflation despite the demands for immediate action on the part of a number of southern political leaders had a chilling effect on bullish sentiment in the grain and cotton trade yesterday. A break of around 40 points in the latter before the grain markets opened more than offset a higher level for sterling and relative strength in the Liverpool wheat market.

Many operators, both eastern and western, who were good buyers of wheat Tuesday went out of their lines early yesterday, and at the lowest time wheat showed a drop of 2½ cents from the close of the previous day, with May dropping to 99¾ cents. On the break the public came in as a good buyer and with some reinstating of old lines there was a strong rally.

Not Up to Tuesday Level.

At no time, however, were prices as high as the close on Tuesday with the finish well toward the bottom at net losses of 1⅞ to 1⅞ cents. December was 95⅜ to 95⅞ cents and May $1.00 to $1.00⅛ at the last.

Other grains fluctuated erratically and in the main followed wheat. Corn was 1⅜ to 1¼ cent lower for the day with oats ¼ to ⅜ cent lower; rye, 1 to 2 cents lower and barley off 2¼ cents on the active futures. December corn closed at 54⅜ to 54½ cents; December oats, 41¾ to 41⅞ cents; December rye, 75½ cents and December barley, 59 cents.

While a majority of grain traders are looking toward inflation as the factor to determine the trend of the markets, there are a number of close observers who are inclined to regard this as largely a subsidiary influence, and feel that in the end the supply and demand situation will assert itself, especially in coarse grains.

Statistical Situation Changes.

The rapid change which is taking place in the world's statistical position of wheat is coming in for more attention. Advices yesterday from abroad indicated that both France and Germany had withdrawn as exporters, with France expecting to consume its surplus of around 50,000,000 bushels by increased use of wheat for live stock feeding and by reducing the amount of flour mills must produce from a bushel of grain. Both countries have now embarked on a program of reducing the acreage for the 1934 crop.

More favorable weather for thrashing increased pressure on the Winnipeg wheat market with the close 1⅛ cents lower. Liverpool closed 1⅞ to 1¾ cents higher, strength in sterling being a factor.

The continued buying and selling operations by traders, while creating erratic fluctuations in wheat, are regarded as keeping the market in a healthy technical condition, and prevent a seriously overbought situation from developing. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's address during the morning before the National Grain and Feed Dealers' association was variously construed.

Consider Wallace's Statements.

His statement that inflation would not cure economic ills was taken as bearish by some operators, while his belief that higher prices might be witnessed within several months or a few weeks, if plans mature properly was regarded as bullish.

According to the gossip which prevailed yesterday, the AAA has heretofore ignored the prospect that its slaughtering of around 6,000,000 pigs and 1,000,000 brood sows would curtail the consumption of corn.

L. W. Miner Named Chief Appraiser of First-Trust

At a meeting of the board of directors of the First-Trust Joint Stock Land bank Lester W. Miner was appointed chief appraiser. Mr. Miner will also have charge of real estate sales for Illinois and Iowa. Mr. Miner reports, as an indication of trend in the farm land market, that inquiries and volume of acreage sales in August exceeded those of any previous month in the bank's history.

COTTON DROPS

A surprise was handed cotton traders at the start, with a good advance in sterling exchange. Liverpool, however, was weaker; contrary to expectations, selling pressure of liberal proportions exceeded the absorbing ability of buyers, and prices broke nearly $2 a bale early in the day. Final trading was at around the lowest figures of the day to a shade above, recording net losses of 41 to 53 points in other Chicago and 39 to 47 points in other markets.

INFLATION TALK IS BEWILDERING IN STOCK TRADE

Liquidation Results and Prices Decline.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 20.—[Special.]—Contrary developments in the day's round of news bearing on the all important question of inflation added to the speculative fraternity's bewilderment and made for a further unsettlement of stock price movements today.

Secretary Wallace's speech before the Grain Dealers' association in Chicago branding inflation as a mistaken policy; President Roosevelt's decision to receive a southern delegation in Washington to urge inflation; the statement of Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma that the President is gradually bringing about inflation of the currency, although not judging conditions auspicious for a formal announcement of the fact, and the continued decline of the dollar left most traders wondering what it was all about.

Prices Move Lower.

In the dilemma the popular inclination was to liquidate. While the list made some effort at recovery about the middle of the afternoon, closing prices in most cases were not far from the lows of the day. The losses ranged from 1 to 4 points among the more active trading favorites.

Railroad shares bore the brunt of the selling with the utilities a close second. Farm stocks dipped with wheat. Gold shares met a blast of profit taking, but one or two rose to new high levels and the group made a fairly creditable showing, all things considered.

Homestake, the leader of the group, after dipping to 349 rebounded to close at 358, off 2 points on the day. At the height of its popularity yesterday this blue ribbon favorite of the list was selling at a new all time high of 369.

Other Metals Decline.

Other metal shares did not fare so well as the gold issues. Some of the copper descriptions in particular were hard hit. Cerro de Pasco sold off more than 4 points while United States Smelting tumbled 8¾. Federal Mining and Smelting, which went from a low of 15 to a high of 103 when the going was good a few weeks back, gave up 11 points of its recent gains.

Liquors and their hangers-on were lower on the usual repeal victory profit taking sales. National Distillers, Crown Cork and Seal, American Commercial Alcohol, United States Industrial Alcohol, and others were down 3 to 4 points or more.

Selling went on in the carrier department most of the day. New York Central, Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson, Norfolk and Western, Louisville and Nashville and Atchison were the chief sufferers, the losses among them ranging as high as 6 points.

Preferred Issues Break.

Preferred stocks were again sharply lower. Those of Standard Gas, Cuban American Sugar, Buyers, Pere Marquette, Ward, Western Maryland, and Bangor and Aroostook stood out.

The continued weakness in utilities here again focused Wall street's attention sharply upon that group. In various quarters it was unequivocally stated that most of the current selling in this section of the market had been outright liquidation and not for short account. The present dislike for utilities appears not to be confined to this country. In some houses where a good business is done for interests abroad it is pointed out that not a little of the selling of these shares had come from discouraged British and continental holders.

Pacific Gas and Electric Cuts Its Dividend Rate

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 20.—(AP)—California's largest power company, the Pacific Gas and Electric company, today reduced the dividend on its common stock, maintained for 10 years. The company's directors made no statement in cutting the quarterly payment to 37½ cents from 50 cents.

New Film Will Picture Board of Trade Scenes

George Atkinson to Head Merchandise Mart Section

The appointment of George B. Atkinson as manager of the furniture division of the Merchandise mart was announced yesterday by T. J. Reed, general manager of the mart.

PAUL HOFFMAN TELLS PROGRESS OF STUDEBAKER

Reports Sharp Increase in Cash Position.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 20.—Before a group of 500 local civic and business leaders, Paul G. Hoffman, co-receiver and sales executive, today reported the progress made by the Studebaker corporation since it went into a friendly receivership on March 18

The meeting, sponsored by the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, and Exchange clubs, heard a bright forecast for the future of the company as well as a tale of success in overcoming financial difficulties in the last six months.

"When the company went into receivership," said Mr. Hoffman, "it had a bare $700,000 in cash. Today it has more than $3,000,000 in cash and another $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 in other current assets.

Net Operating Profit.

"Its current liabilities, excluding claims against the receivership, do not exceed $2,000,000 for the second quarter of this year. There was a net operating profit of $187,500 before provision for depreciation on plant and property, but after absorption of $445,000 tooling expense. These figures are exclusive of operating results of White and Pierce-Arrow for the period in question.

"Under the receivership manufacturing overhead and selling and administrative expenses have been reduced to a basis of $8,000,000 annually as compared with $16,000,000 for the year 1932. This represents a reduction of 50 per cent, or $160 per car, on the basis of a production of 50,000 cars per annum.

"New Deal Is On."

"Studebaker's new deal is on," said Mr. Hoffman in closing.

"With our new products, our new exploitation and sales campaign, we feel that success cannot fail to reward us."

At the speakers' table with Mr. Hoffman were the other co-receivers, Harold S. Vance and A. G. Bean.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Cotton goods sold in fair sized lots in the gray and finished markets today. Rayon producers are steadily announcing sold up conditions for November. Silk cutters are short of wanted merchandise, due to strikes in finishing plants. Burlaps hold steady. Business is coming forward steadily on spring men's wear lines.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Raw sugar was steadier today and spot prices advanced 2 points to the basis of 3.62c, following confirmation of business yesterday at 3.60c. Despite reports of more serious political developments in Cuba, refiners continued to show but little interest. The sales reported included 15,000 bags of damaged Cuban for October shipment and 27,000 bags of Philippines for October-November shipment concluded late yesterday at 3.60c and 5,000 bags of Cuban for prompt shipment today at 3.63c. Trade in futures was small. Final prices were 4 points lower for the spot month and 1 point not lower on all other deliveries. Sales, 14,350 tons. Prices follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
September.	1.52	1.52	1.52	1.52	1.56
December.	1.58	1.60	1.58	1.58	1.59
January	1.60	1.60	1.59	1.59	1.60
March	1.66	1.67	1.65	1.65	1.66
May	1.72	1.72	1.69	1.69	1.70
July	1.77	1.77	1.75	1.75	1.76

Refined was steady with a continued good withdrawal demand reported and some new business going to refiners. Prices were listed at 4.70c for fine granulated by refiners, with second hands firmer at 4.65@4.67½c.

Be a Leading Beautician

Marinello Beauticians have always shown the way. They have many imitators—but there is nothing that takes the place of a Marinello certificate. It unquestionably establishes its holder's leadership and authority.

Armed with a Marinello certificate you can depend upon being placed in the best positions. It gives you preference because of Marinello reputation for graduating the best operators in the profession.

HOW MUCH MONEY FOR A GOOD USED CAR?

Believe us when we tell you it requires a whole lot less money to buy an automobile—provided you make your purchase from the BRIDE. BAKER SALES CO. Inspect our cars and check our prices—for convincing proof. Five days' driving trial with each sale.

'32 ROCKNE 75 SEDAN. De luxe model with wire wheels, sidemounts, etc. This car really looks and runs as though it were never driven a mile. Has automatic starting, advanced free wheeling. Every detail is 100 per cent. Only.....$445

'30 PACKARD 8 SEDAN. A de luxe model with wire wheels, side mounts, etc. It was chauffeur driven and thoroughly quiet and treated with 100% care. Has but 36,000 genuine miles. Not a mar on it. Upholstery is luxurious, and the motor is really A1. For quick sale....$585

'30 BUICK COUPE. It was in the garage most of the time as it was owned in conjunction with two expensive cars. The stylish glistening like new dollar and the perfect is immaculate, and has a sweet running motor. A super bargain at.....$345

'29 NASH ADV. 8 SEDAN. If you want a car with nice, attractive appearance and real smooth, quiet performance—this car will more than please you. It is very economical to run, and the price will please the bargain seekers $145

'31 STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Commander 8 that was owned by an official of this company, who gave it the most scrupulous care. We can certainly recommend this car. You will never find a better buy for satisfaction today. Has free wheeling and a wealth of extras. Special $485

'29 HUDSON SEDAN. Here is a car that looks and runs better than many autos priced at $400. The finish is bright and shiny and the upholstery appears unsoiled. Has a sweet running motor. Only.....$145

'30 PEERLESS VICTORIA. A 4 seater that never left the Chicago boulevards. The finish, upholstery, tires, and motor are A1, and there are many nice extras. Don't miss it at only.....$195

'31 GRAHAM SEDAN. Actually driven very little. Now every detail of the interior and exterior appears like new. And the motor is among the most exacting automotive. Special today $595

'32 STUDEBAKER CONVERTIBLE SEDAN. President 8, finished a beautiful desert sand. It's de luxe throughout, with chromium wheels, sidemounts, salon horns, trunk, dome light, etc. Has all the latest features, including Automatic Drive, Synchro-matic starting, safety glass throughout, etc. Here is a truly gorgeous car that was driven just enough to be properly broken in. Offered at only a fraction of its original cost. New.....$1,083
